TRAPPED VIET CONG MAJOR CUTS OUT OWN TONGUE IN HOTEL

A VIET CONG MAJOR cut out his tongue with a pocket knife and bled to death Wednesday when police trapped him and two other Communist guerrillas in a hotel in Da Nang, police officials disclosed in Saigon. The two men with him were arrested and quizzed about Viet Cong activity and plans. Communist documents captured earlier in all four regions of South Vietnam contained orders for a major offense by Tet, the three-day lunar new year holiday beginning Feb. 17. In the Saigon area 40,000 Communist troops have massed within striking distance of the capital, but a top U.S. military commander said the Communists most likely will strike outlying areas.

U.S. ACCEPTS FRENCH PROPOSALS FOR BIG-FOUR TALKS

A FRENCH PROPOSAL for Big Four talks on peace in the Middle East was accepted Wednesday by the United States, thus reviving hopes that diplomats could avert another major war in the region. Jordanian and Israeli troops exchanged machine gun fire for an hour near Lake Tiberias, a Jordanian spokesman said. There were no casualties, but later on Wednesday an Israeli soldier was wounded by an Arab sniper across the Suez Canal near Port Tewfik, an Israeli spokesman said.

GENERAL STRIKE IN ITALY HALTS SHIPPING AND INDUSTRY

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION was halted, more than 200 ships were idled in port, and seven airliners were grounded Wednesday by Italy's second general strike in three months. The nation was left without newspapers, movies or plays. But millions of workers in shops, banks and other businesses ignored the strike call by the nation's three big unions which called the one-day strike to press demands for higher pensions although the government already had met most of their demands. Thousands of workers and students marched through streets to support the strike. There were no incidents.

CZECH LEADER SAYS REGIME SURMOUNTED 'MOST SERIOUS CRISIS'

SPEAKING at a conference of party and government leaders in Prague, Alexander Dubcek, first secretary of the Communist party, said Wednesday his reformist regime has surmounted its "most serious crisis" since the Russians invaded Czechoslovakia last August. As Dubcek spoke, his new foreign minister, Jan Marko, arrived in Moscow for his first official visit with Soviet leaders. The trip was the latest in a series of bilateral attempts to repair diplomatic bridges.

CASTRO MAY BE WILLING TO DISCOURAGE HIJACKING OF AIRLINERS

A STATE DEPARTMENT official said Wednesday that Fidel Castro does nothing to lure hijacked airliners to Cuba and may even be willing to help discourage the practice. Frank E. Loy, deputy assistant secretary of state, told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that the State Department had made specific proposals to Castro for dealing with the problem. He gave no details. Loy said, however, that if the hijackings to Cuba continue at the current rate, nine airliners so far this year, "the Cuban government may adopt measures of its own." Again, he declined to give specifics.

NIXON ASKS SENATE RATIFY NUCLEAR NONPROLIFERATION TREATY

THE SENATE was asked by President Nixon Wednesday to ratify the treaty with the Soviet Union to halt the spread of nuclear weapons in the interest of "negotiation rather than confrontation." Leaders of both parties in the Senate predicted that Nixon's word in the special message was all that was needed to free the treaty for approval. Nixon said that his request "in no sense alters my condemnation" of the invasion of Czechoslovakia by Soviet troops. "Rather," he said, "I believe that ratification of this treaty would advance this administration's policy of negotiation rather than confrontation with the USSR."

COURT TOLD SCUTTLING USS PUEBLO WOULD HAVE TAKEN TOO LONG

IT WOULD have taken a long period of time to scuttle the USS Pueblo after it was brought under attack by the North Koreans, an engineering officer of the ship said Wednesday at a five-admiral court of inquiry in Coronado, Calif. Chief Warrant Officer Gene H. Lacey said he agreed with Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher's decision not to attempt to sink the ship in only 180 feet of water. Lacey said an attempted scuttling would have entailed flooding both engine rooms with subsequent loss of power including radio communication with U.S. naval headquarters in Japan. Lacey said he was in the pilot house with Bucher when the Communists opened fire on Jan. 23, 1968.

SENATORS AND HOUSE MEMBERS TO GET 41% PAY INCREASE

LAST DITCH efforts by House opponents of the proposed $42,500 yearly Congressional salary collapsed on two fronts Wednesday, the last day left to block the semi-automatic increases. The Senate refused to block the increase on Tuesday. Wednesday's defeat for the pay raise opponents was in the House Rules Committee, which refused by a 12 to 3 vote to send to the floor their resolution blocking the increase. The House may today, but the anti-increase forces have no visible lever left to use in their campaign to stop the pay hike.

TWO-INCH LAYER OF CRUDE OIL GUMS CALIFORNIA BEACHES

THE WHITE SANDS of Santa Barbara, Calif., resort beaches were gummed by a two-inch thick layer of crude oil Wednesday, turning them into a mass of black goo and posing the threat of fire in the harbor. The oil was part of a massive slick that has spread across 800 square miles of the Pacific off Southern California. It stained the hulls of 750 boats anchored in the harbor and owners were warned to stay away.

SUPREME COURT OVERTURNS CONVICTIONS OF 2 REVERE LIFERS

THE CONVICTIONS of two Revere teen-agers serving life sentences at Walpole State Prison for the 1967 murder of Boston television producer Jack Landau were overturned Wednesday by the Massachusetts Supreme Court. The court ruled the youths' constitutional right of counsel was violated. The court said statements made by Michael E. Riley and Eugene J. McKenney, both 18, while in police custody should not have been admitted in evidence. Although the court ruled the youths knowingly signed waivers of counsel before making statements to police, they had a right to change their minds.

JUDGE ISSUES ORDER CLEARING WAY TO READMIT NEGRO STUDENTS

A TEMPORARY restraining order was issued Wednesday by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity against the Boston School Committee and a junior high school principal, clearing the way for readmittance of four Negro girls suspended Jan. 23. School Committee officials said the girls—Lois Owens, 12, Kathy Smith, 14, Wanda Person, 13, and Myra Gurshard, 13—were dismissed from school for disciplinary reasons. They planned to return to school today. They filed suit Tuesday.

"Taxpayers Revolt" Springs Up In City

The "taxpayers revolt" spread into Newton this week as more and more concerned citizens signed petitions calling on the Legislature to halt the spiraling costs of State government from their constituents.

A Newtonian man is heading the local drive which was begun by a Hudson housewife, Mrs. David Boldt, shortly after Gov. Francis W. Sargent announced the Commonwealth needs to raise $143 million, mainly through additional taxation.

Paul H. Steinberg, of 83 Brookside ave., Newtonville, a salesman in the electronic industry, is spearheading the effort in Newton.

Stenberg said that in just a matter of a week at least 35 petitions are circulating through the city with most of the response, so far, coming from lower and middle economic class neighborhoods. These are the "mass-in-the-middle" people who are expected to be hardest hit by any tax increases.

The petitions carry a simple message. They state: "We, the people of Massachusetts, are opposed to raising taxes. The answer to the state's fiscal problem is more economy and less waste."

Stenberg said that not only are residents urged to sign petitions, but they are also encouraged to write or otherwise contact their elected representatives and let them know their feelings on the important matter.

It was pointed out that written or spoken contact with the utility companies is a vital needed service.

Pointing out the favored position the utility companies enjoy in this Commonwealth, Representative Shea urged the Joint Committee on Governmental Regulations to report favorably House Bill No. 2478 which is designed to protect the consumer against abuse by utility companies.

Rep. Shea is on record as opposing the system which permits utility companies arbitrarily to fix the amounts of advance deposits which are required as a condition to receive vitally needed services.

Pointing out the favored position the utility companies enjoy in this Commonwealth, Representative Shea urged the Joint Committee on Governmental Regulations to report favorably House Bill No. 2478 which is designed to protect the consumer against abuse by utility companies.

Where the requirement is allowed, the bill fixes the amounts of advance deposits at a fair and uniform rate; and also increases the interest which must be paid by the utility companies to the consumers for their advance deposits from the present 4 per cent to the more equitable rate of 6 per cent per year.

Israeli Games

Irving Olin, of Newton, adjunct associate professor of physical education and assistant director of physical education and athletics at Brandeis University, has been named to three posts in the administration of the United States team for the 1969 Maccabiah Games in Israel.

The United States Committee, Sports of Israel, Inc., which oversees the American participation in the annual games, has appointed Mr. Olin to its Board of Directors.

He is the treasurer of the West Newton Savings Bank and succeeds Kevin F. Hughes of the Hughes Associates.

Mr. Lurvey is a native of Medford and a graduate of both Bentley School of Accounting and Finance and the Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University.

Prior to becoming treasurer of the bank, he served as its assistant treasurer from 1949 to 1954 and prior to that had been a bank examiner for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He is a veteran of service in the U.S. Navy from 1943-1946.

He has served as treasurer, second and first vice president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and as chairman of its Membership Committee.

$3,291 Covers 'Til April

Vote Salary For Leash Law Force

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night approved an appropriation of $3,291.08 to cover the salaries for the first three months of the year of one patrolman and one clerk-typist to implement the new Dog Leash Law.

The appropriation was made for the period from Jan. 1 to March 31, Finance Committee Chairman Winslow C. Auryansen explained, because on April 1 the 1969 budget becomes effective and will include money to pay the salaries for the balance of the year.

Dangel said that the extra personnel which will allow more control of animal problems now will lessen the impact of the full leash law when it becomes effective.

The board also approved a $300 appropriation to purchase 30.5 acres of land for conservation and recreation purposes between MDC land along the Charles River and the so-called Sylvanica land in Newton Highlands.

The option to purchase this land at the $300 price was part of the agreement between the city and the developers when approval was granted for permission to construct an industrial park in the area.

Discuss New Program Here

Police Chief William F. Quinn and Judge Julian L. Yesley, of the Newton District Court, commission members, discuss new police-community relations program now being developed here.

Stress Community

Police Relations

A course in Police-Community Relations, with a focus on Youth and the Police, is being developed by the Newton Community Relations Commission and the Newton Police Department as part of a continuing education program for the entire force.

Chief William F. Quinn, a member of the Advisory Board, has arranged for a four-hour allocation of In-service Training time.

The Newton Department of Community Relations as part of its educational program prior to the time it was made compulsory by the Massachusetts Municipal Training Council.

Commission members, Rt. Rev. John M. Quirk, William Jones, Dr. Allan B. Sostek, and Judge Julian L. Yesley, Chairman of Community Relations Advisory Board, have been named to three posts in the administration of the United States team for the 1969 Maccabiah Games in Israel.

He has also been chosen chairman of the New England Committee, Sports for Israel, and named to the committee to select a U.S. basketball squad for the 1969 competition.

The outcome of the battle over it may well depend on how far Sargent goes in his efforts to persuade members of the House and Senate to support the measure.

It probably will be more of a blow to the city and town officials — the Mayors, city managers and selectmen — than to Sargent himself if his tax plan is scuttled and sent down the legislative drain.

Sargent wants to present the image of a strong Governor who can meet and overcome problems and who can get bills through a Democratic-controlled Legislature.

Mayors Have Muscle To Help Rescue Sargent's Tax Bill

Present indications on Beacon Hill are that Governor Sargent will have a difficult time achieving the passage of his tax program.

The lines have not yet been drawn in the tax fight, and a large number of Representatives and Senators are still on the fence and have not yet committed themselves on Sargent's tax plan.

But it is clear that there is strong and widespread opposition to Sargent's tax bill.

The outcome of the battle over it may well depend on how far Sargent goes in his efforts to persuade members of the House and Senate to support the measure.

Aldermen In Opposition To Land Taking

A resolution opposing a bill before the state legislature which would transfer land on the Hammond Pond Parkway in Newton from the MDC to the trustees of the Massachusetts State Colleges was unanimously passed by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. The resolution stated that "the city of Newton is desirous of maintaining open spaces within its borders as evidenced by its recent acquisition of several tracts of private property in the vicinity for park and park land purposes."

Charles A. Platt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton M. Platt of 5 Byfield Rd., Waban, has named to the fall term's Dean's list for academic excellence at Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Ill.

Living Room Dialogues On Handicapped Children

The Newton Chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities has scheduled several "Living-room Dialogues" this month in an effort to create greater understanding of the academic and behavioral problems of perceptually handicapped children.

The first in the series was held Tuesday night (Feb. 4) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Winn at 1408 Commonwealth Ave., West Newton. The guest for the evening was Dean Roberts of the Carroll School, one of the first private schools in Massachusetts designed to meet the specified needs of these handicapped youngsters.

Attendance at these meetings will be by invitation only. Anyone interested in receiving an invitation is urged to contact the hostesses.

The Newtonville salesmen said interested citizens of Newton can contact him at his home, telephone 969-6578, to obtain petitions.

He said that all petitions will be turned over to Mrs. Boldt and she will "hand carry" them to the State House at a time that will insure full press and television coverage.

Consumer

In order to prevent further denial of services with consequent deprivation and hardships suffered by the consumers, the bill requires that the consumer be given prior notice and the right to a prior hearing and a possible appeal, before the services of a public utility may be terminated.

As sanctions against any public utility that fails to comply with the provisions of the bill, the public utility is made liable in tort for actual and punitive damages to any aggrieved consumer, and additionally, subject to a fine of $1,000.

Local Reps. Vote To Hold Marina Probe

Marina Probe

Newton legislators voted this week for an order blocking an appropriation of $178,000 in state funds to build a sewer conduit at Tenean Beach in Dorchester.

The use of the funds to aid in paving the way for eventual construction of a marina has been the subject of much controversy on Beacon Hill.

Four times the House refused to consider the order, but, surprisingly, this week it whistled through the house on a 218-0 vote.

Approval came after House Speaker David M. Bartley supported the motion. If the Senate approves, a public hearing will be held and the action will go back to the Legislature.

Hospital Has Automatic Drug Dispensing System

An automated drug dispensing system has arrived at Norwood Hospital. Located on West I, the Drug Station was obtained to assist the Night Nursing Supervisors in the dispensing of drugs while eliminating much of the paperwork that has been required in the past.

The Station consists of a drug cabinet, in which packaged drugs are stored; a locator compartment, containing a listing of all the drugs and the identification plates for these drugs; a refrigeration unit, where certain medications may be kept; and a storage area for bulk items. The Night Nursing Supervisors will have complete control over the operation of the Drug Station.

An important feature of the new Drug Station is that it ensures that when a medication is dispensed, a complete record of the dispensation remains in the charge recorder section of the Station (this record consisting of the type of medication dispensed, the name of the dispenser, and the name of the patient). Three identification plates are necessary to record this information and to dispense the medication.

Once the medication is dispensed, all pertinent information concerning the dispensation is immediately Journalist Seaman Robert B. Panella, USN, departed from Pearl Harbor aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk for its fourth consecutive combat tour off the coast of Vietnam.

The carrier, second in history to be awarded the Presidential Unit Citation for action there, has set numerous records for the Vietnam conflict. The Kitty Hawk has launched air strikes against North Vietnam's striking power plants, rail yards and transportation and communication lines prior to the bombing halt. The carrier based jets helped break the siege of Marine-held Khe Sanh by battering enemy positions surrounding the Allied stronghold.

"WE'VE GIVEN THEM EVERYTHING . . . HAVEN'T WE?"

The best schooling, good clothes, a comfortable home . . . all these are important.

But don't they need answers to the big questions — such as Who is God? What is God? Where is God? What does He have to do with me?

Your children's sense of security and lasting happiness may well depend on being given good and useful answers to these important questions.

In the Christian Science Sunday School, children learn to know God, to feel a closeness to Him, and to turn to Him for the spiritual resources they need to strengthen and enrich their lives.

Isn't something you would like to give your children? Why not bring them next Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m.?

The Aid for Cancer Research organization, a group of 29 Greater Boston women, of which Mrs. Mortimer Goldman, 43 Oldfield Rd., Newton Centre, is president, has donated to Tufts University School of Dental Medicine an apparatus for anatomists to prepare tissue sections so thin they are invisible to the naked eye. These tissue sections, when chemically treated and microscope reveal the cell's features.

Comdr. Bouchard To "Retread" Meeting in N.Y.

State Commander John E. Bouchard, 235 Tremont St., Newton, attended the mid-year Advisory Board Meeting recently to set up plans for the National Convention of "Retreads, Inc." to be held in Portland, Ore. next October. He was accompanied by Dr. Carl F. Maraldi.

Bouchard is a member of this Honorary Veterans Group, consisting of Veterans who have served in both WW I and WW II. He is on the TIME and PLACE COMMITTEE and has recommended that the 1970 Convention be held in New England area. Thus far, bids have been received from Portsmouth, N.H. and Newport, R.I. as possible sites to hold the Annual Convention and Reunion. No decision has been made since other areas are expected to be heard from.

Following the meeting, National Commander King and the National Officers, attended the 143d Old Guard Anniversary Ball, honoring Rear Admiral Andrew McBurney Jackson Jr. U.S.N. who is Naval representative and Vice Chairman of U.S. Delegation to United Nations Military Staff Committee and Commander of Eastern Sea Frontier.

The "Old Guard Ball of the City of New York", was held at the Hotel Commodore and was attended by 1500 military men from all groups of the Historic Military Commanders from throughout the United States.

Other New England Groups that were well represented were the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Mass. (1638); The 1st Light Infantry Regiment (1818); The Lexington Minutemen (1775); Lawrence Light Guard (1855) and Fusiliers Veterans Corps (1785). In all, there were over 70 Centennial Legion of Historic Military Commanders represented.

The "Retreads" were invited to occupy a reserved box in the name of Col. Oliver J. Troster, their national coordinator and who is also a Wall Street Broker.

Anita Chiriboga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Squarebriggs of Wayland, a 1965 graduate of Newton South High School, has been awarded three honors grades for the Fall term of 1968 at Lake Forest College, Ill. A sociology major, she has been treasurer of the school's Tutorial Project and the On-Campus Cultural Committee and has been named to the Dean's list several times.

MBTA Deficit Jumps Taxes 25 More Cents

The Newton tax rate will jump 25 cents because of the record high $29.2 million Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority's deficit.

Homeowners in this community were paying an 85 cent assessment. But, under the new deficit, this figure becomes $1.10.

The total Newton assessment will be $367,359.

The MBTA's General Manager, Leo J. Cusick, said the top reason for the jump in the deficit is the assumption of two private carriers last March.

The MBTA at that time took over the Middlesex and Boston bus line — which runs through Newton — and the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway system.

The MBTA's deficit is shared by the 79 communities in its district and is based upon the number of passengers who board MBTA vehicles in those cities and towns.

Boston has the highest assessment — $16.7 million — which represents a whopping increase of $10.66 on their tax rate.

The new deficit figure does not reflect the December fare increases, according to Cusick. He said that the fare hikes should gross about $1 million per year in new revenue, which will help lower the deficits of next year and future years.

Headstart Youth Group at Museum

The Headstart children from Newton spent Friday morning at the Museum of Science in Boston.

Although the weather was cloudy and quite damp, everyone's spirits were just the opposite. This was really a wonderful place to spend a rainy morning.

The children were accompanied by their teachers, classroom volunteers, and several mothers; and no one got lost (for very long anyway)! This was the first trip of the year and was really a very successful one. Similar trips are planned throughout the semester and our roving reporter will keep everyone informed of their outcome.

Nationwide Survey Starts On TV Receivers

Dedham residents are being asked about the television sets in their households as part of the nationwide survey according to Director James W. Turbitt of the Census Regional Office in Boston.

The questions are aimed at determining the proportion of households in the U.S. with television sets, the proportion with color sets, and the proportion with sets which can receive UHF. Answers to these questions help government and business in decisions affecting the establishment of new broadcasting facilities.

The survey is taken annually. Last year's figures showed that approximately 94 per cent of the house holds in the United States had at least one television set. Approximately 19 percent of the households had a color set and 42 percent were equipped for UHF reception.

The TV question supplement the Bureau's regular monthly employment survey which provides data to the U.S. Department of Labor for updating national employment figures.

The identity of households in the survey is confidential, and the information obtained will be used for statistical purposes only.

More Action Needed

In an editorial published in these newspapers in December, 1967, we warned of the dire consequences if the Medicaid program were to be allowed to continue without revision. We warned of the tax burden the program would impose on the citizens of the Commonwealth.

We said, "The same thing will happen in 1969 and 1970 unless something is done now to halt the upward spiral of welfare costs — costs that will continue to climb if Medicaid is allowed to be operated without checks."

Medicaid costs for the fiscal year ending June 30 are expected to be $284 million, and $406 million has been budgeted for next year. Gov. Francis W. Sargent has blamed the "runaway" Medicaid program as primarily responsible for the major new taxes he proposed two weeks ago.

The first concrete step to do something about Medicaid was taken last week by Gov. Sargent. Until he took action, nothing was done by the Legislature or the Executive to effectively halt the insidious spiral of Medicaid costs.

Sargent's action was to tighten eligibility requirements for Medicaid. The move will affect an estimated 40,000 families and persons over 65 who are not on welfare.

Commendable as his action is — it is not enough.

The only sure way to cut back Medicaid costs drastically, and perhaps, keep the Commonwealth from bankruptcy, is to eliminate from the program all persons not on welfare. This should be done at once and absolutely.

In addition, the standards established for entry into the program should be revised drastically. After this has been done, open the program again to those persons not on welfare rolls who feel they are entitled to the benefits of Medicaid.

But let all applicants be thoroughly checked to be sure they meet the new, revised criteria for inclusion.

The Legislature, many of whose members favored Medicaid two years ago without understanding fully its enormous potential for fiscal chaos, should move to assure the "runaway" program is brought under control before voting any new taxes.

Boy Scout Week, 1969

The coming week, Feb. 7 to 13, has been proclaimed Boy Scout Week, marking the 59th anniversary in America of this fine organization.

In commemorating Boy Scout Week, it is pertinent to point out that 328 members of the 90th Congress were either Scouts or Scout leaders; 29 state governors have had Scouting experience and 36 of the 47 living astronauts were Scouts.

Perhaps if Scouting had reached more boys and influenced them more deeply in the past half century, great segments of our youth would not be in turmoil today, even though more than four million boys are in the Scouting program.

To stimulate interest in the Scouting movement, the Boy Scouts of America have launched an eight year, long-range plan called "Boyscout '76." The aim of the plan is to broaden the membership base of the Scouts by making known through community leaders, the youth of the nation and local organizations, the availability of the Scout program to all who can accept its commitment of service to God, country and other people.

The Boy Scouts of America are a lot more than just a worthy endeavor among other worthy endeavors. This fine organization is a fountainhead of character and good citizenship and should be so saluted on every appropriate occasion.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Urge Support

Editor of the Graphic:
I wish to call your attention to Senate Bill 261, which is up for a hearing in the State House. This bill will amend a gross injustice that has been done to our adopted children due to an archaic law in Massachusetts dating back to 1876.

This law was passed, ruling that in a will, trust or other bequest, by a grandparent, cousin, aunt or uncle, where the word "child, grandchild, issue, heir, etc." was used, an adopted child would not be excluded. He could not inherit unless specifically mentioned by name or as being adopted.

This old statute is pure prejudice. It should be removed. In 1958, this law was amended but was amended only from 1958. It was not made retroactive.

Many grandparents who read this made wills long before 1958 and may be completely unaware that their adopted grandchildren were not included.

Let us help make our

Editor,
The Graphic:
(Open letter to the Newton School Committee)

Last year as Lunch Program protagonists and antagonists took up arms, I stood in the arena uncertain whom I should support. I have lived in Newton for 32 years and am a product of Newton schools from kindergarten through high school. I have two girls now in the 1st and 3rd grades and a little boy who will enter kindergarten in the Fall.

After considering the issues involved carefully, I determined a 3-day compulsory in-school lunch adopted children "first class" citizens by urging our Senators and Representatives to pass Senate Bill 261.

This bill will not affect old wills, trusts, etc., already paid to heirs in the same category as adopted children.

Yours truly,

Political Highlights -

However, the tax problem he has proposed has been the target for some sharp criticism, and it will not be all political plusses for him if his bill is enacted into law.

Rejection of his tax plan would cut down further the amount of money available in the local aid fund for distribution to the cities and towns.

It would boost even higher the city and town tax rates which, almost without exception, will rise substantially this year.

Basically, the issue involved in Sargent's tax fight will be whether more weight should be placed on the state income tax or if the real estate tax should be allowed to soar sky-high.

Sargent obviously feels that in recommending a big hike in the state income tax he is placing the added tax burden upon those best able to assume it.

In a large measure he is right although that will not arouse any shouts of enthusiasm from those forced to dig down into their pockets to pay a steadily climbing state income tax.

Not only is Sargent recommending a heavier state income tax, but he also is proposing that the remaining deduction allowed for federal income taxes be eliminated.

That will have the effect of levying the state income tax upon some people who do not now pay it and of increasing the weight of the tax on those who are presently paying it.

A great many Massachusetts wage-earners will be paying a tax on a tax if the Sargent plan is enacted into law. They don't view this prospect with any great enthusiasm. And they have conveyed their sentiment to their State Senators and Representatives.

On the other hand, skyrocketing tax rates in the cities and towns can have disastrous effects in several directions.

It is not just a case of higher real estate tax bills for the owners of residential and commercial properties.

The landlords charge the tax rate increase back upon their tenants, and not infrequently some of them raise their rents a little more than the increase in their own tax bills would justify.

This is one of the reasons there has been talk of possible rent controls in some cities. And, of course, many families in the low-income bracket, who are least able to share in the tax burden, are hit by the rent hikes.

Excessively high real estate tax bills also will place Massachusetts industries at a disadvantage when they are competing with plants in other sections of the country where tax rates are lower.

This will be a more important consideration in the future when the war in Vietnam is ended, and we return to a peacetime economy.

Sargent in his initial weeks as Governor has displayed both courage and competence in his proposals for meeting the financial problems he inherited.

Top legislative chieftains are expected to back Sargent's recommendations.

Sargent's problem, however, may be that he will have the support of the chiefs, but not enough Indians.

Many of the rank and file legislators are shying away from the idea of voting any new taxes.

That would be a noble attitude if they controlled spending accordingly.

The persons who probably have the political muscle to rescue Sargent's tax plan if they make an all-out fight are the city and town officials.

They desperately need the revenue Sargent's tax bill would mean for their communities.

They can influence legislators Sargent can't reach. If they don't like Sargent's tax scheme, they can submit one of their own.

Newcomer Speaks

Editor of the Graphic:
My wife and I moved to Newton two years ago. In large measure our choice was due to the reputation of the school system. Although our children will not enter the Ward 8 meeting last week, we feel we have an important stake in the system. We would like to have a voice in that system as it grows, expands and faces the fiscal and program of some 20 to 30 minutes would answer the needs of all children and dissenting parents. I was disappointed in your plan, but I entered the program enthusiastically supporting your decision, convinced that your research has unearthed points I had failed to see. Unfortunately, I was wrong.

I cannot understand how the NCE would be a valuable addition to the community. We left the meeting with an even stronger feeling that the NCE is a definite necessity if sober and rational discussion are to have a dominant place in the Newton school system.

Most remarkable was the fact that the emergence of the NCE seemed to threaten a substantial and vocal group who, individually or through other groups, feel they are already making themselves heard and who are afraid that another, large-based group will subvert their influence.

We went to the meeting feeling that the NCE would be a valuable addition to the community. We left the meeting with an even stronger feeling that the NCE is a definite necessity if sober and rational discussion are to have a dominant place in the Newton school system.

Our only concern is that those who are founding the NCE will defer too much in the variety of opinion within the community in their efforts to provide an outlet for various opinions and a broad base.

For 40 years all Newton children came home for lunch. Why was it impossible for all Newton children to try an in-school lunch program for one year?

We feel that the NCE can be most helpful in the community if it forms a nucleus for those who share a common overall view, for those who support the general trends in Newton education in the past, for those who support a responsible degree of innovation in educational methods, for those who support new facilities and improvements when their costs are reasonable and their value shown.

The quiet rational voice is often hard to hear. We feel that the Newton Citizens for Education will strengthen that voice. We urge others to attend their ward meetings and join.

We urge the founders of the NCE to provide the kind of strong direction and leadership that will turn the NCE from a good idea into a positive force in the community.

I am anxious to help in any study which would implement an effective, efficient, carefully coordinated 3-day 20 minute in-school lunch program.

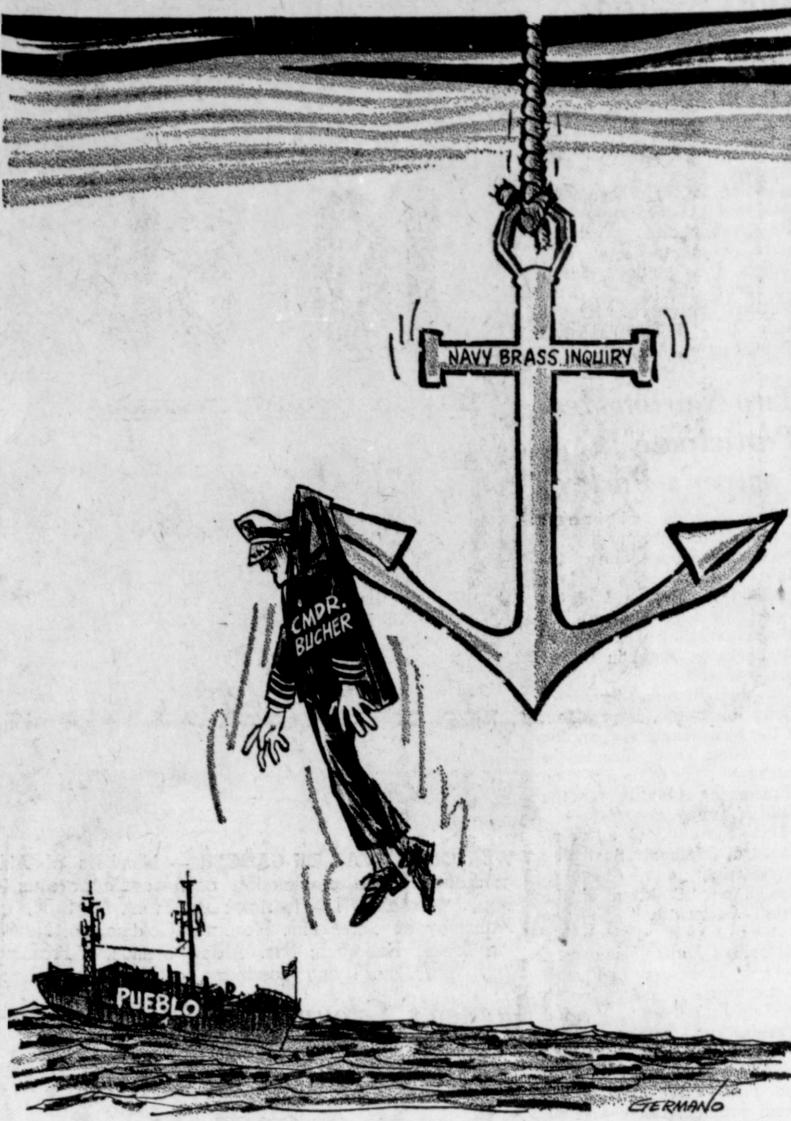

Sincerely,

Allen J. Winters

Somebody Guilty of Blunder
In Ordering Pueblo To Sea

On the basis of all the evidence this writer has read, Commander Lloyd Bucher, commanding officer of the ill-fated Pueblo, should be given a medal for bringing back his men, one of them dead, from the North Korean prison where they spent almost a year.

But serious consideration should be given to court-martialing whichever members of the navy's bumbling brass were responsible for sending the spy ship into dangerous waters as ill-equipped and vulnerable as it was.

Commander Bucher apparently was a brave man who did his best to carry out the orders given him and then, when captured by the North Koreans, did what he felt he had to do to protect the lives of his men.

From where we sit the big blunder committed by Bucher was not in giving up his ship but rather in taking it to sea in the first place.

It is absolutely incredible that the officials in the bureau of naval operations, or wherever the responsible navy officers are located, would send a ship to sea on a dangerous mission in the condition of the Pueblo.

Talk about us being embarrassed by a fourth-rate military power, the Pueblo boat should be in better condition than the Pueblo was.

Here's a spy ship that apparently didn't have speed enough to outrun a ferry boat.

According to the testimony, the Pueblo was so top-heavy Bucher was afraid it might tip over.

Bucher felt he could not depend completely on its steering equipment.

We'd be apprehensive about riding across the harbor to East Boston on such a boat.

Its defense in this day and age of sophisticated equipment consisted of two machine guns which would have been inadequate in the Civil War.

When this rickety, ramshackle ship ran into trouble with the North Koreans, we couldn't send anything to its assistance, not a fighting ship, not a bombing plane.

The SOS pleas for air support went out from the Pueblo to South Korea and Japan.

Even the appearance of a U.S. bomber probably would have sent the North Korean gunboats scrambling for port.

But we didn't have a bombing plane available to help the Pueblo. The few in South Korea were armed with nuclear bombs, and there wasn't time to change to conventional bombs.

We're really in great shape in that part of the world — almost as good as when the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor.

Bucher had not even been given the proper means of destroying the secret equipment on the Pueblo. He had to use sledge hammers and fire axes.

So Bucher was subjected to a cruel and grueling questioning at a naval inquiry to ascertain if he violated navy regulations in giving up the ship while he still had power to resist.

Things went from ridiculous to preposterous midway through the inquiry when he was warned that anything he said would be used against him.

A politician would surmise that Bucher was approaching the point where the newspapers might demand that some high navy poo-bah be headed out of the service as incompetent.

If so, Bucher didn't understand, and he kept talking. Now the people are entitled to know who did commit the big goof. Who sent the Pueblo on its perilous mission in such a condition its crew members were unable to defend themselves and had to pay the price of a year's imprisonment?

This is so absurd it would be funny if it were not tragic.

But in his present self-stated attempt to unite tax revolt groups into a single movement, he is projecting himself as an agent for irresponsibility.

GOP Names
Rep. Mann To
Adv. Council

The appointment of Rep. Theodore D. Mann of Newton to a top legislative leadership post has been announced by Rep. Sidney Q. Curtiss, Republican Floor Leader in the Massachusetts House. Rep. Mann will serve as a member of the Republican House Advisory Council.

"The Advisory Council will meet bi-weekly, or as events dictate, to study and recommend party legislative policy," Rep. Curtiss explained.

"The help, advice, and counsel of Ted Mann at advisory meetings will be valued and appreciated. His broad experience in local and state government equips him well for this assignment.

"He has served his home city of Newton for three terms as Alderman and one term as Alderman-at-Large.

"At the state level, he has served on the Attorney General's Consumer Advisory Council and as a member of the Board of Elevator Regulations," Rep. Curtiss said.

"In the Legislature, he is an experienced member of the committee on Insurance."

5 Newtonites To Harvard Med. School Positions

Five Newton area residents are among 35 appointees by the Harvard Medical School as Research Fellows, Associates, Teaching Fellows, Instructors or Lecturers at the Harvard Medical School and its affiliated teaching hospitals.

Those appointed Research and Teaching Fellows are post-doctoral fellows coming from all over the world to carry on their education and training in special areas of medicine and medical sciences. Research associates are graduate students in the laboratories of the School and its affiliated hospitals.

Dr. Bela F. Nagy of 589 California St., Newtonville, was appointed Research Associate in Neuropathology. He received the Ph.D. degree from Brandeis University in 1964. He is associated with the Retina Foundation of Boston.

Dr. Suri L. Nielsen of 65A Blake St., Newtonville, has been appointed Research Fellow in Neuropathology. He received the M.D. degree from the University of California at San Francisco in 1961. He is associated with the Mass. General Hospital.

Appointed an Instructor in Anaesthesia is Dr. Israel Gross of 256 Lake Ave., Newton Highlands. A citizen of South Africa, he received the M.B., B.Ch. degree from Witwatersrand University in 1961. Dr. Gross is associated with Beth Israel Hospital.

Newton Highlands resident Bernard S. Bloom of 3 Glenmore Terrace, is appointed a Research Associate in Preventive Medicine. A graduate with a B.A. degree from Northeastern University in 1961, Mr. Bloom is associated with the Department of Preventive Medicine, Harvard Medical School.

Dr. Harris S. Yett, appointed a Teaching Fellow in Orthopedic Surgery, lives at 26 Morton St., Newton. Mr. Yett, associated with the Massachusetts General Hospital, received the M.D. degree from Tufts University School of Medicine in 1964.

PTA Fathers' Breakfast At Meadowbrook

Stanley Berkowitz, president of the Meadowbrook Junior High School, P.T.A., announces that the P.T.A. will again sponsor a series of morning meetings for Fathers' of students of the school.

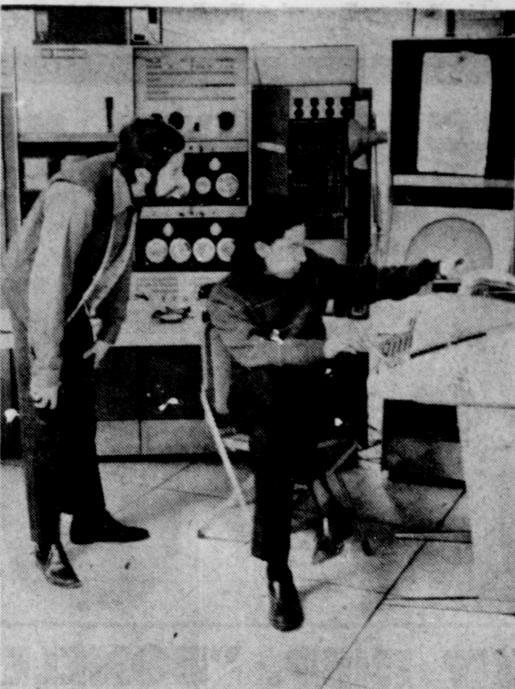

The convenient time schedule has been most successful in previous year for interested fathers to attend and participate in school programs.

The first "Fathers' Breakfast" for this year's series will be held on Tuesday, February 11, at the Meadowbrook Junior High School dining room, 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. Doughnuts and coffee will be served.

The guest speaker will be, William D. Geer, principal of Newton South High School, whose topic will be, "Education at Newton South High School".

Dr. Margaret Addis, chairman, Guidance Department, Newton South High, and Vincent Siluzio, chairman, Science Department, Newton South High, will also participate in the program. A question and answer period will follow the speaker's address.

Mark Warshaw, vice-president of the P.T.A., serves as program chairman, and Robert Weiser of the Meadowbrook staff is co-ordinator of the meeting.

"FOURTH STREAM" MEMBERS—Jeffry Furst of Newton (left) and Jay Jaroslav work with a digital equipment PDP-10 computer at M.I.T. to improve their avant garde jazz sound which has put their combo into the 20-best category with Down Beat Magazine. The group is effecting a blending of tradition with modern technology to evolve a new sound... a kind of music for the restless young generation of today.

Newton Boy Is Pianist For "The Fourth Stream"

Jeffrey Furst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Furst of 69 Mandalay Rd., Newton Centre, is the pianist for one of the leading musical groups in this area involved in the "new music" movement. "The Fourth Stream" is a group of local composer-performers who are fusing the elements of avant-garde classical music with the free improvisational language of a new jazz.

Furst, born an orphan in the Kenmore Cinema in mid-Newton, attended Newton February. Future engagements for the group include an appearance on Windsor Mt. School in Lenox and will receive the bachelor of music degree from the Boston Conservatory of Music in May of this year. He has been named among the top 30 piano players in the United States by Down Beat magazine and the group's first recording "White Field" was voted one of the 20 best jazz recordings of the year 1968 by Down Beat International reader's poll.

The "Fourth Stream" is now experimenting with computers as a creative tool in their composing. One of the group, Jay Jaroslav, a double bassist, has had computer training which he uses as a control element to keep the media consistent and nonrepetitive. The composers break their music into components and the computer puts the components back together into instructions for the musicians to work with.

Also members of the group are Bob Fritz, clarinet, with a B.M. and M.M. degrees from the Boston Conservatory, who is host of the "Fritz on Jazz" program on W.T.B.X. Peter Donald, drummer, has studied at Berklee and with a number of professional musicians.

The group was heard this week at the Jazz Workshop and will be giving a concert at the priest hood in the Congregation of the Stigmatine Fathers, studies philosophy and theology in Rome and was ordained in

Spring Classes Open This Week At Community Center

The welcome mat was out for all Newton residents at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry Street, West Newton, when the spring series of classes began on February 3.

Mrs. Murray Janower, Director of Art, announces that a highly qualified staff of professional artists and teachers will again lead the various groups in the program. Use of creative powers, with emotional and intellectual involvement in projects employing a great variety of media, is the aim of these classes.

For children, there are classes for all ages from the pre-schooler to the junior high school students called Personal Discovery in Art. "The artist as creator" is the role that each member of the class will assume in relating art to his own involvement in the world.

Problems designed to prod the imagination of elementary school children has included, in the past, designing playgrounds for live animals out of junk materials, building imaginary vehicles from wood scraps, fingerpainting to jazz, making puppets and presenting a spontaneous puppet show. Emphasis is always on the process, the experience of being involved with ideas and perception, rather than on the finished product.

The classes will meet for thirteen weeks. Mrs. Maida Abram will teach a class for Kindergarten children for one hour sessions beginning at 9:30, 10:30 and 2:00 each Monday. She will teach a class of first, second and third graders from 3:15-4:30.

Paper Sculpture Displays February Library Feature

A profusion of paper projects, the artistry of paper manipulator Jim Bottomley of Auburndale (via California and Europe), is on display during February at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Jim, a former West-Coast ad-man, with his wife Patricia and three youngsters, Tom (14), Stephen (12) and Lisa (5), has recently settled in Newton after two years of peripatetic paper sculpting in Europe. Among Jim's prize paper products are lotus meditation spheres, 12-sided paper figures with peek-through circles in each side.

The spheres, which come in myriad sizes are hanging in giant form in the Library's new Young Adults browsing section. Smaller samples of spheres in selected shapes are in the glass display cases along with a jewel box and jewelry, a model of an old English fishing village, masks, masks and masks, miniature carriage, and a paper "painting." And all these objects are made of paper.

Jim's philosophy is that nearly everyone has access to scrap paper, whether it's paper from the fish market (good for making masks) or newspaper (forsculpting).

In his classes at Project, Inc. (Cambridge) and at the Newton Community Centers (West Newton) he inspires creativity in his Experiments

Stop Reading The Way They Did 100 Years Ago

100 years ago, people read the way you're reading right now. Word by word. About 300 or so words a minute.

And 100 years ago, that kind of reading didn't cause any problems. You could keep up with what was happening pretty well.

But today, our knowledge is exploding so fast that people who want to keep ahead are actually falling behind. There's simply too much to read. Too much homework. Too many books. Too many reports and memos.

What's the solution? Learn to read faster and better. You can do it, too. So for over 300,000 other people have done it. People with different jobs, different educations. Students, business, housewives.

These people have all taken a course developed by Evelyn Wood, a prominent educator. And all of them have at least

South Cagers End Month With Dismal Record

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

The Newton South cagers were bombed by Brookline, 65-33, and topped, 65-52, by Arlington High, last week, to finish out the month of January with a nine game losing streak.

The last Lion victory came off an abbreviated on December 30 over fourth quarter Newton South Arlington, and since that time challenge to carry off a 65-52 victory.

South hit its low point of the season against Brookline as the visitors rolled up a 16-2 first quarter score and a 37-9 halftime lead. Brookline captured its fourth straight decision.

The victors had four double figure scorers. Dave Crump (14) Mike Polakoff (13) John McNeil (12) and Craig Shore (10) paced the attack. 12 strong finish after their fast different Newton South start. Captain Cliff Greene has been doing some practicing and could be back this week. Greene has sat out all nine of the losses and his last 43-21 intermission lead and punch has been keenly felt.

SKIING — Prof. and Mrs. Harold Mahon, with Marlene Mahon, 6, of 147 Freeman st., Auburndale, are shown recently enjoying the skiing at Mt. Sunapee, Newbury, N.H. He is a professor at the University of Massachusetts, Boston.

South Hockey Team Falls To 5th Place

Brian Hurley's hat trick and a assist powered Lynnfield to a 6-2 triumph over the Newton South pocksters, last week.

Hurley tallied two of his goals in Lynnfield's four-goal second period as South's 1-0 lead disappeared.

Mark Phillips scored his first goal of the year for South with assists going to Fred and Carl Johnasson. Tom Rezzuto notched the other Lion

2 Newtonites Are Professors At Harvard U.

Two Newton area Associate Professors at Harvard University have been elected to the status of professor to be effective July 1.

Frederick H. Abernathy, Ph.D., of Auburndale, Gordon McKay Professor of Mechanical Engineering and Robert James Keily, Ph.D., Professor of English, resident of Newton Centre, are among the best known in the field.

The students selected will work directly under members of the dental school faculty," explains Dr. Giddon, who is Professor and Chairman of the dental school's Department of Social Dentistry.

He emphasized that high school juniors and seniors who apply need not have a special interest in dentistry, but that they must be boys and girls who are "genuinely and keenly interested" in scientific research. Upon successful completion of the eight-week course, the student will receive a Junior Dental Scientist Award Certificate from the American Dental Association.

Application forms may be obtained either from high school counselors or directly from Dr. Giddon at Tufts University School of Dental Medicine, 136 Harrison Ave., Boston, Mass. 02111. Deadline for applications is May 1. Counselors will receive the applications within the next month.

Shea and Fishman Oppose Reappointment of Papalia

Newton Representatives H. James Shea Jr. and Irving Fishman are among the 22 Democratic legislators who have asked Governor Sargent not to re-appoint Roy C. Papalia to another term as commissioner to the Department of Public Utilities and to replace him with a "consumer-oriented commissioner."

They urged the Governor in a letter to the governor's office to invite suggestions and leadership with reference to Massachusetts problems regarding the high cost of electricity and the high incidence of power loss."

In a letter to the governor, the legislators called the decision on the Papalia reappointment the "first real opportunity to exert leadership with reference to Massachusetts problems regarding the high cost of electricity and the high incidence of power loss."

With all due respect to Commissioner Papalia as an individual, the Department of

Madrid Art Treasures In Danger From Car Exhausts

By BARRY JAMES

MADRID UPI — There are residents of this Spanish capital who remember when one of its boasts was its pure mountain air.

But no more. Like cities everywhere, Madrid suffers from smog. So bad that nowadays it sometimes hides even the mountains themselves.

According to its own public health experts, Madrid is one of the smoggiest cities in Europe, beating even Paris as an "atmosphere dust" count. This refers to the amount of soot and grime that can be filtered from the air, and Paris long has been considered one of the world's most dangerous cities in this respect.

If Madrilenes are choking already, the crunch is just starting. December and January usually are the worst months for pollution as thousands of apartment house furnaces add their contribution to the atmospheric filth.

Of these two months a year ago a recent government report said measurements taken on some sooty days in Madrid showed pollution at a level above which, in the opinion of experts, changes in mortality statistics may be expected."

May Cause Death

In simpler words, the air in Madrid on such days may hasten the deaths of those suffering from heart and respiratory conditions.

The problem is not confined to the capital. Industrial Catalonia has its smog headaches as do the mining and manufacturing centers of the Northwest.

At Eriando, a factory town near Bilbao, 2,000 persons recently marched on the town hall yelling, "We want clean air." They were promised a "study" would be made.

In Madrid, the thick haze that hangs permanently above the city is the result of too rapid expansion. In a decade, Madrid has doubled in population to three million and, in a little more than that period, automobile ownership has soared fivefold to 700,000 vehicles.

Narrow streets and frequent bottlenecks contribute to intolerable levels of traffic fumes. One of the worst spots in Madrid is just outside the Pardo Art Museum, and the exhaust fumes are attacking

H. L. Adler To Harvard Seminar

Herbert L. Adler, executive vice president of the Randall Faichner Corp., Avon, and resident at 128 Prospect St., West Newton, recently attended a 3-day "live-in" seminar on the campus of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

The seminar consisted of classes, study and discussion of a total of 12 cases in labor, marketing, finance and management and was designed for the small business executive. It was sponsored by the Smaller Business Association of New England, Inc.

Mr. Adler was one of 115 executives from 11 states who attended SBANE's unique educational program.

Return After Portugal Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Graham of 17 Glazier road, Newton Centre, returned recently from a 15-day vacation trip to Portugal. The couple flew via Iberian Air Lines and visited Lisbon and the resort area of Alvor.

The Grahams are members of Club Internationale which arranges vacation trips and plans social events for its members between travel times.

Two Newton Men Named Judicial Group Officers

The Massachusetts Judicial Conference has appointed a 25-man committee, including two Newton law experts, to revise the antiquated rules of practice for Massachusetts' cumbersome court procedures.

Judge Cornelius J. Moynihan of 239 Cypress St., will serve as committee head and Attorney John M. Mullen of 169 Elliot St. is the committee's secretary.

Taking as its model the highly-regarded Rules of Civil Procedure used in the federal courts, the Committee will examine existing Massachusetts court practice from top to bottom.

A committee of the Boston Bar Association performed valuable spade work for the Advisory Committee by reviewing existing statutes and suggesting changes necessary to adapt the federal rules to Massachusetts use.

Aiming at a January 1, 1970 completion target, the Advisory Committee plans to furnish the judicial conference with a full revised set of rules adapted for the needs of a modern judicial system. The Committee will not propose any changes in the courts themselves, however.

Country Players' Latest Stage Offering Is A Hit

Buoyed by the enthusiastic response of capacity audiences attending opening performances of their original old-fashioned villain-drama, the Country Players of Newton moved into the second of their three weekend run of "The Dastard," Friday and Saturday, February 7 and 8, at Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldridge St., Newton, at 8:30 p.m.

Presented in cabaret style, "The Dastard" will also have performances on Feb. 14 and 15, as well as a children's performance on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 9, at 2:00 p.m. Featured in the Players' mid-winter stage production are Mary Jane Gilbert, George Rosen and Tom Paine.

Complete with song and dance routines interspersed between scenes, the comic spoof is directed by Joel Dorfman of Chestnut Hill and produced by Mrs. Dona Thorman of Newton Centre. Set design is by Mrs. Susan Zeeman, music by Joe Singer and book by Jim Costigan.

A newcomer with the Players, Mary Jane Gilbert is a graduate of Bennington College, where she received her BA in Theatre, and is currently doing graduate work in theatre at Boston University. With the Cape Playhouse, Dennis, Mass., she appeared as Shirley Terrabossi in "Jenny Kissed Me," and "Heaven Can Wait," and worked opposite celebrities Lee Remick and Rudy Vallee. With the Peterborough Players, N.H., she played the daughter's role in "The Fumed Oak" in "An Afternoon With Noel Coward" and in "West Coast Musical." She also played with the Village Light Theatre, N.Y.C.

Another first year member of the Players is George Rosen, who received his training as an electrical engineer at MIT. With the MIT Community Players he appeared as Kit Carson in "Time of Your Life," the Innkeeper in "Rhinoceros," Dempho in "The Merchant" and Van Putzebom in "Keep an Eye on Amalie."

Thomas Paine has essayed the roles of Fred Narricott in "Ten Little Indians" and Inspector Barnes in "Bells Are Ringing" for the Players.

As a student at Leland Powers School, he performed in many radio, TV and theatre productions, most notable being his role as sheriff in "The Rainmaker" and in Shakespeare's "As You Like It," and in the original radio production of "The Man Who Stole Christmas."

Seats are unreserved and tickets may be purchased at the door. For further information, phone 969-9737.

Thwarts Thieves

NEW YORK — A group of business men who had suffered loss or theft of their credit cards organized a credit card registry service called Hotline. Members, who can enroll for $5 a year, list their cards on a form. If the cards are lost or stolen, the member simple dials area code 212 and the letters HOT LINE. The service takes over with computerized notification of all companies involved.

And for the forgetful who can't remember the name Hot Line, the number is 468-4563.

Broadway

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Lamp at Midnight" never made it big financially for playwright Barrie Stavis, but the important thing is that, after some 20 years, it is still an asset not to be scorned.

This worthy drama about the 17th century scientist, Galileo, whose revolutionary concept of the universe brought upon him the wrath of the Inquisition of the Roman Catholic Church, has acquired a new lease on life under the direction of no less a stage giant than Sir Tyrone Guthrie.

A company headed by Morris Carnovsky, long one of this country's finest character stars, has been put together by the noted Irish director for a lengthy tour that may bring "Lamp at Midnight" to the Broadway theater next season for the first time.

The tour is of the type that is of growing importance to actors and the stage — one that concentrates on performances on the "college circuit" instead of merely playing the now restricted road-show route of key cities.

Producers Robert T. Gaus and Richard A. Kenerson are behind "Lamp" on a tour that is scheduled for 50 performance dates coast-to-coast, a majority of them on various college campuses. The theme of the play is considered to be especially pertinent in this era of youthful skepticism about "the establishment" and admiration for those who dare to advocate new ideas.

At first glance, it seems unusual that the prestigious Guthrie should be associated with such a venture, but there really is little mystery about it.

First, Guthrie has a long history of doing the unexpected. He even helps run a jam-jelly-condiment enterprise in his native Ireland.

Secondly, Guthrie seems to be an admirer of Barrie Stavis' work. He wrote the introduction to the published text of "Lamp at Midnight."

"Lamp at Midnight" first was presented in an off-Broadway production in December, 1947, by a repertory group long extinct. Its critical reception was good.

Oddly enough, in that same month there was a New York premiere by ANTA's long-gone Experimental Theater of Bertolt Brecht's "Galileo," covering the same ground as Stavis' play. The late Charles Laughton not only starred in the Brecht, but he also prepared the English text from the German original, and it was this text that was used last season when the Repertory Theater of Lincoln Center revived "Galileo."

"Lamp at Midnight" hasn't made a splash during recent years, but neither has it exactly withered on the vine. It has been one of those "standards" that can help keep a playwright solvent over an extended period through productions by college and community theaters at home and by occasional commercial productions in foreign countries.

Incidentally, the now-famous Peter O'Toole starred in the English presentation 12 years ago.

So, while a Broadway smash hit is preferable, don't always sneer at the plays that don't make it that way. Who knows? — Guthrie's "Lamp at Midnight" still might hit the local commercial jackpot next season.

Cautious Middle-Class French Still Hoard Gold

PARIS (UPI) — Men dig and die for gold, work and scrimp and save for it, kill and rob for it. Nations base their monetary policies on it, and have fought wars over it.

And Frenchmen stuff their mattresses with it.

About the only form in which Americans see gold, unless they get into Fort Knox, is in jewelry. U.S. law prevents American citizens from buying, selling or trading the metal.

But no such law exists in most European countries, and particularly not in France. To the Frenchman, especially the middle-class shop owner, the metal is a protection against the future.

Currencies can fluctuate, they can be devalued — but the price of gold usually remains stable, or goes up.

And there still is a firm belief in France that sooner or later the United States is going to have to lift its price of $35 an ounce on gold and when it does all those gold coins in the mattresses, and under the floorboards, or in safe deposit boxes are going to be worth a lot more than was paid for them.

For the real speculator in gold, the one kilogram 2.2 pound ingot is the normal currency. But an ingot sells for about $1,500 so that puts it beyond the general hoarder, who, it is estimated, holds more gold in France than even the French government.

The Frenchman-in-the-street, if he wants a bit of gold, generally buys a coin — a French napoleon or an English sovereign. They sell from about $12 to $13 apiece.

If you're an American in France, though, forget it. The U.S. embassy in Paris put a quick end to that idea.

It's illegal for U.S. citizens to buy pure gold under any circumstances.

What happens if an American is caught buying gold in France? Does American law extend overseas?

It's going to be a good senator. When you're 100 there's no place to go but up.

Gravel is second in seniority to Alaska's Sen. Stevens because Stevens was appointed to the seat by the late Sen. E. L. Bartlett.

It was a decade ago when Gravel, now 38, rode a horse up the steps. At that time he was trying to arouse public support for the national junior chamber of commerce tax reform program.

He traveled the length and the breadth of the country, mostly by station wagon, but when he could get a horse he would exercise his dubious equestrian skills to attract attention.

Education Bills To Be Discussed At PTA Meeting

Legislative bills about education in Massachusetts will be the main item at the PTA Council meeting tonight (Feb. 6) at the Franklin School. Joshua Guberman and Bernard Kaplan will discuss in detail each of the bills submitted to the new General Court which have to do with education.

Dr. Gilbert Friedell, chairman of the PTA Council School Building Committee, will report on the PTA Council Spring Conference.

Refreshments will be served at 7:45, and the meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. All members of all PTA Council Committees are invited to attend. The Franklin School is at 125 Derby street, West Newton.

Colleges Shun 'Coddling Role'

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill. (UPI) — When Johnny goes off to college, he's not going to a home away from home, says Ralph G. Hough, director of admissions at Shimer College.

Both parents and students must recognize that he must experience a new independence of thought and action quite different from that at home. Because most colleges tend rates from prescription tablets and capsules dispensed by Madigan General Hospital and McChord Air Force Base pharmacies — through use of prescription medicines."

The report from Madigan General suggested that if the vials were adopted for widespread use, there would be a significant reduction of accidental poisonings in the United States due to prescription capsules and tablets.

Along that line, the containers have been made a standard item in all U. S. Army, Air Force and Marine installations. And bills to make use of safe containers mandatory have been introduced in Congress.

Next question: how do you childproof a container when a child develops enough strength to make the tricky top of the medicine container open?

By the time the child is that strong and that smart, you hope he obeys the command to keep hands off such stuff.

to consider their students as adults rather than juveniles, a student shouldn't expect a hovering security in intellectual or social problems, he said.

"While colleges and universities provide extensive counseling and advisory facilities, it is up to the student to make use of them."

"Most colleges refuse to play the role of parent and if, any, schools will spend much time running after a student who seems to need advice," he added.

Some students experience more than a cultural shock when beginning their first year on campus because they expect an extension of their high school experience and home life, Hough said.

However, a student's parents and home life should not be left completely out of the picture, Hough said. He offers these tips to parents with children at college for the first time:

"Be prepared for what you may seem like a major change in your child's mode of dress, thinking and actions. Besides conforming to certain campus fads, this is his way of finding himself."

Keep in contact with your college student and expect to write more letters than you receive. But don't allow him to sever all family connections.

"Don't attempt to solve all his problems. Many will have to be worked out by him. Ask him how he intends to solve them. Often talking about a problem will provide a solution."

"Pamper him with understanding, not unsolicited advice or money for repeated trips home."

"If there is a problem that seems to be burdensome, encourage him to see his counselor, his instructor or his clergyman."

"Don't force him to worry about you by repeatedly expressing your worries about him."

"Treat him as the young adult he is, but don't expect him to be instantly matured after a short time at college."

"He still needs praise and comfort, even if he doesn't ask for it."

Funeral Rites For Former Bay State Official

A Solemn Requiem Mass was sung yesterday at Our Lady Help of Christians Church for Patrick J. Moynihan, 78, of 20 Dexter Road, Newtonville, former Massachusetts Commissioner for Administration and Finance. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham. The Mass was sung by Bishop Jeremiah Minihan of St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury.

Mr. Moynihan died Saturday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Nursing Home in West Roxbury. Born in Killarney, Ireland, in 1891, Mr. Moynihan came to the United States when he was 21-years-old. He lived in Roslindale for 25 years before moving to Newtonville in 1945. He became a U.S. citizen in 1919. He became a certified public accountant in 1920 and was active in the Boston and the state political scene since 1937 when he was appointed executive director of the Boston Welfare Department. He was appointed Commissioner of Administration and Finance in 1938, a post in which he served until 1941. He was also appointed Chief Director of Bank Examinations for the state in 1955. He served until 1962.

A graduate of De La Salle College in Waterford, Ireland, he also graduated the Pace Institute of Accountancy in 1924. He was an accounting professor at Boston College and at Merrimack College, North Andover, between 1948 and 1955.

Mr. Moynihan was State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus and was a member of St. Brendan's Society in Boston, the Winthrop Lodge of Elks, and the Certified Public Accountants' Association. He was also a past president of the Central Council of Irish Clubs.

Husband of the late Ellen T. (O'Donovan) Moynihan, he is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Eileen Clafin of Newtonville; two brothers, Cornelius of Somerville and Philip of England; four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Mabel Thomas

The Rev. Ross Cannon, pastor of the Second Church of Newton, officiated at funeral services Monday at the Cate Funeral Home in West Newton for Mrs. Mabel (Jody) Thomas, 84, who died last Friday.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Wife of the late Percy F. Thomas, she was a resident of Newton 70 years and had lived at 253 Washington st. She was born in Bridgetown, Nova Scotia.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Sadie Jenkins of West Newton, Mrs. Barbara Harlott of North Attleboro, and Phyllis Harlott of Hingham; three sons, George of West Newton, Harold of Natick and Richard of Waltham; 17 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Clothes Care Hints From Hat To Shoes

By WALTER LOGAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — If you want to make your shoe shine last longer smear a little damp soap on the shoes first. If they are black shoes and scuffed you can touch them up with India ink. If you can't get polish into the space between the sole and uppers use a cotton tipped swab.

If they've got tar stains on them take them off with lighter fluid. If they've got rubber soles use soapsuds and a little ammonia on the soles. If you put the polish on shoes the night before it will make them last longer. If the soles squeak, rub them with neatsfoot or linseed oil.

If they're wet, dry them slowly on shoe trees. If you don't have any shoe trees stuff them with paper. If you don't wipe off the mud first it will ruin the finish.

If you get the shoe polish on your hands you can loosen it up with baby oil before washing it off. If you get the dirt under your fingernails you can loosen it by brushing the nails with dry baking soda on a wet brush. If you have any shoe polish left over you can put it on your shoe laces and they will stay tied better.

If you're going on a trip and taking your shoes with you, you can stuff them with socks and have more room in your bag. If you're leaving some behind sprinkle moth crystals inside and it will freshen them.

If you don't close your packed bag on the night before a trip the clothes won't wrinkle so much. If you're taking a hairbrush and are afraid it will get crushed wrap it up inside a rolled shirt cardboard. But if you are packing shirts take out the cardboard first. If your washcloth is wet, wrap it in aluminum foil. If you roll your pants up lengthwise starting with the waist they aren't supposed to wrinkle.

If your handkerchiefs get soiled on the trip you can wash them out and dry them flat on a mirror. If you're washing out wool socks leave a little soap-suds in the final rinse and they'll be softer. If you're unpacking suits give them a vigorous shake and they'll freshen faster.

If you hang up your umbrella in the inside arm of your coat you'll stand a smaller chance of losing it. If you do lose it and get wet, dry your shoes slowly... If your pants are wet from the knee down give them a "finger press" by flattening them between your fingers. If they always look unpressed they will remove the ring. If you might be homespun and your shirt stained with a grass stain local tailor will sew silk patches inside the knees.

Wet Hat — If your hat gets wet shake off the water, do not rub; turn up the brim and push out dent, pull out inside leather band and stand hat on it until it dries naturally.

If you get pencil marks around the pocket of a shirt erase them before washing or they'll be hard to get out. If you get ball point pen spots on a shirt rub the area with a damp brush. If you have only scorched the shirt you can moisten it with water and holding it under a sun lamp.

If you get wine spots on your shirt rub the area with a cut lemon before having it washed. If you slop whisky on your shirt, slop on some soda and soda and a cleaner shirt. It works the same if you prefer plain water and whiskey.

While at Newton High, Diane received honorable mention at several Science Fairs.

She was also on the Junior and Senior Honor Rolls, was a member of the French Honor Society and a finalist in the American Field Service Exchange Student program.

At the University of Pennsylvania, the Newton girl has been an honor student.

She is also a member of a Student Housing Committee, a Dormitory Parliament representative, a 1968 Sophomore Parent weekend speaker, and a member of the girls' swimming team.

Marco A. Blumenthal, Diane's brother, is also at Pennsylvania, a member of the Class of 1971.

The Newton girl is one of fifteen students at the University to receive a Thouron Scholarship. The awards cover tuition fees, living and travel expenses.

City To Mark Weekend As Assist To Biafran Needy

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas has signed a proclamation dedicating the weekend of February 15-16 of Brotherhood Week as Biafra Relief Weekend.

The purpose of the proclamation is to make the weekend "a time of prayer and public appeal by the churches, temples and individuals and a time for an open collection for the starving people of Biafra."

Witnessing the signing were members of the Interfaith Effort to Save the Victims of the Nigerian-Biafran Conflict.

Mrs. Dexter Segall, Mrs. Lorne MacHattie, Mrs. Fernand Boudreau, and Wigmore A. Person.

Standing: A. Lincoln Heck, George Bresnahan, Dr. Peter Tegtmeyer, Dr. George Caruso, John T. Underhill, Robert Segal, Atty. Peter F. Harrington, Bertram Martinson and Frederick Andelman.

The committee represents 12 churches and synagogues in the Newton area. The Interfaith group, chaired by Dr. Stuart Martin, professor of philosophy at Boston College, is trying to mobilize efforts throughout Newton and surrounding communities in order to raise funds for Biafran relief.

"While fund-raising for famine victims will be a part of the interfaith endeavor," said Martin, "the primary task will be to try to increase drastically the peaceful humanitarian relief efforts by the American government to a level sufficient to bring the almost unbelievable

Five Persons Flee Fire At Chestnut Hill

Five persons, including two young children, were driven out Tuesday when a $20,000 fire swept the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Mank, at 12 Chestnut Hill ter., near Boston College.

Mank discovered the blaze at 3:12 a.m. He roused his wife, Barbara, and their children, a three-year-old daughter and a year-old son, and a Regis College student who lives with the family.

Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. said the blaze started in the cellar of undetermined origin. It spread into the kitchen and through the first and second floors.

Name Newton Men To Court Probe Comm.

Two Newton men have been named to a 25 man advisory committee which will examine Bay State court procedures in order to recommend changes.

Some practices in Massachusetts courts have remained unchanged for almost 300 years.

Heading the committee is Judge Cornelius J. Moynihan of 239 Cypress St., Newton Centre. His group includes judges, professors and leading attorneys from across the state.

Atty. John M. Mullin of 169 Elliot St., Newton Upper Falls, is also a member of the committee.

The committee was named by the Massachusetts Judicial Conference. A target date of Jan. 1, 1970, has been set for completion of the study.

Hillel Kieval and Fred Kaye Are Honored At Jewish War Veteran's Breakfast

Two Newton youths were selected to represent their schools at the 15th Annual "Classmates Today-Neighbors Tomorrow" Brotherhood Breakfast by the Department of Massachusetts, Jewish War Veterans of the United States, that was held at the George Sherman Student Union, Boston University last Sunday (Feb. 2).

Hillel Kieval, son of Rabbi and Mrs. Philip Kieval of 1766 Washington st., Newton, a student at Newton High School and Fred Kaye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Kaye of 83 Bound Brook rd., Newton, a student at Newton South High, were among the students from over 90 high schools in the state honored at the Breakfast program.

Chosen for their demonstration of the spirit of Goodwill and Understanding, for Good Citizenship at school and in the community and for the exemplification of Brotherhood in their everyday activities, they were selected by their student councils to represent the entire school's idea of Brotherhood.

Hillel Kieval is a member of the editorial board of his school's publication "Newtonite." He is on the gymnastics team at Newton High; also serves as 1st Vice President of the New England Region of United Synagogue Youth and attends the college department of Hebrew Teacher's College in Brookline in after-school hours.

Fred Kaye is a member of the indoor and outdoor track teams and the cross-country team at Newton South. A member of the German Club, he was vice president last year. He was instrumental in organizing a tutoring program for disadvantaged children of the City of Boston and was a volunteer on a Kibbutz (collective farm) in Israel during the summer of '68, one of the youngest volunteers chose for this duty.

TV Channel 7 newscaster Dave Rodman was a Toastmaster, and Boston University President Arland F. Christ-Janer was the Guest Speaker.

"Classmates Today-Neighbors Tomorrow" is a human relations project of the Department of Massachusetts Jewish War Veterans, the local J.W.V. Posts, and the Northeast Region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. It is a brotherhood program for high school students as part of their own educational program.

Physics Prof On Sabbatical

Paul J. Boyland, of 142 Pine Grove ave., Newton, associate professor of physics of Framingham State College, has been granted a second semester sabbatical leave to undertake a program of special study and research.

Under terms of the sabbatical, he will continue graduate study at Boston University in the field of science education with special emphasis on federally-funded projects in the furtherance of science education.

Mr. Boyland has been a member of the Framingham faculty since 1963.

GOP Red Carpet Ready For Sen. Brooke Here

Newton is literally rolling out the red carpet in preparing its welcome for Senator Edward W. Brooke at its Tenth Annual Lincoln Day Dinner, Thursday evening, February 20. The Senator will address the dinner and will be its honored guest as more than seven hundred fellow residents attend the event.

The facilities of the Sidney H. Hill Country Club will be used to their full capacity in an effort to seat all who have subscribed to date, according to Edward C. Uehlein, general chairman.

Priority, he noted, is being given to those who have subscriptions have already been received by Norman Buchbinder, ticket chairman of the committee.

Rep. Theodore D. Mann, guest chairman, today listed the head table guests.

They are: State Committeewoman Mrs. Robert Amesbury, Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who will be giving greetings from the City; State Committeewoman Mrs. William L. Bruce, Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, president, Newton Women's Republican Club, Rep. Sidney C. Curtiss, House Republican Floor Leader; Hon. Leslie B. Cutler; Hon. Donald Dwight, commissioner, Administration and Finance; Rev. William E. Foley, Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler, State Committeeman James Henderson, Republican National Committeewoman Mrs. Henry Dunster Howe, Hon. Cleo Jailliet, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation.

Also, Rev. J. Seay Joyce, William A. Lincoln, chairman, and Newton Republican City Mrs. David S. Bard.

New Patrons added to the list this week, according to Mrs. Edward E. Becher, patrons chairman, include the Brookline Town Committee which has subscribed for several tables, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund F. Finnerty, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Giles. These additions assure the highest attendance figure on record for the ten years of Annual Lincoln Day Dinners in Newton.

The event is sponsored by the Newton Republican Club, Newton Republican City Committee, Newton Young Republicans, Italian-American Republican Club of Newton, and the Newton Women's Republican Club.

7 Newton Ministers Will Change Pulpits On Sunday

"The Emerging Church" Church, Newtonville, will preach at the Newton Highlands Church, and the Rev. Dr. Ross Cannon, minister of the Second Church will preach at Eliot Church in Newton Corner.

According to plans established by the ministers, the following exchange will take place: The Rev. Newell Curtis, minister of First Church, Newton Centre, will preach at the Auburndale Congregational Church; the Rev. Eugene Meyer, minister of Auburndale, will preach at Central Church, Newtonville; the Rev. Paul Pitman, minister in Newton Highlands, will preach at the Union Church of Waban; the Rev. Demonstrate Voting Equipment — Shown at Newton demonstration of new electronic vote-counting equipment this week are, left to right, H. Scott Winn, Cubic Corp. representative; Charles J. Doherty of Newton election commission; Alan W. Licari, executive secretary, election commission, Newton; and Arthur E. Collins, Sharon town clerk, where equipment was used last November.

City Officials View New Electronic Vote Machine

Mayor Monte G. Basbas and members of the Board of Aldermen and Election Commission witnessed the operation of a new electronic vote tallying system, Votronics, at City Hall on Monday night.

H. Scott Winn, representative of Cubic Corporation, who produces the Cubic Votronics Vote Counter would be for equipment only. He said, other voting equipment being considered by the city would cost that much more than Cubic's.

Other dollar savings connected with the use of the Cubic Votronics Vote Counter would be realized in the reduction of election workers, Winn said.

Winn told the Aldermen his company would conduct two trial elections in the city for $15,000.

The first would be in October and the other in November. After the second election, Winn explained, the city would have the option of accepting or rejecting the equipment.

He said, his company recommended that the city purchase 10 machines. These units, he added, would give Newton a complete election capability for the next 20 years.

Winn explained to the Aldermen, the $100,000 cost saving would be for equipment only. He said, other voting equipment being considered by the city would cost that much more than Cubic's.

Unlike other systems, it has never had a failure or serious programming error in any election. One of its most desirable features is that it retains the paper ballot which is felt to be the most personal of all voting methods, Mr. Winn said.

As part of the demonstration, a straw poll was taken among 22 of the Aldermen and election officials and the results tallied on the machine.

The poll showed that 14 were for and 8 were against the direct election of the President of the United States by popular vote.

The group was asked if they would like to see the voting machine demonstrated. They included: Speed of count, accuracy, reliability, no change to present voting procedures, retention of the paper ballot, and the fact that Votronics machines are compatible with data processing equipment though not computer dependent.

The Cubic Votronics machine counts the traditional paper ballots by an electronic scanning device.

The Votronics system, as described in the local demonstrations, has proven to be fast and reliable in every election since its introduction and four against.

In answer to a third question they indicated "yes" for a national presidential primary. The vote was 17 for and four against.

The Men's Club of The Union Church in Waban will sponsor a communion breakfast on Sunday, February 9th at 7:30 a.m. at the church.

Men and their teenage sons from the Newton Highlands Congregational Church will share in this event.

The Rev. Paul G. Pitman, pastor of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, and the Rev. Boyd Johnson, Jr., pastor of The Union Church, will conduct the service. The guest speaker will be the Rev. David S. DeRogatis, field director in Christian Education for the Synod of New England.</p

U.S. TROOPS ORDERED TO STAY OFF STREETS OF SAIGON

IN SAIGON, U.S. commanders fearful of Viet Cong terrorism as the hours ticked off toward Tet, warned American forces Thursday to stay off the streets. Road blocks in and around the city were tightened and leaves for all South Vietnamese troops were canceled. Meanwhile, the pace of the war quickened with a Viet Cong cease-fire for the lunar new year only two days away. Tet begins on Monday. Waves of U.S. Air Force B-52 Stratofortresses dropped more than 700 tons of bombs on jungle corridors around Saigon in a 24-hour period ending early Thursday.

LODGE WARNS CONG NOT TO EXPECT U.S. TO ABANDON SAIGON

PEACE CONFERENCE negotiators met in Paris on Thursday for their fourth session, but nothing was accomplished as the impasse continued over subject matter to be discussed first on the agenda. Lodge warned Hanoi and the Viet Cong not to expect the United States to abandon the Saigon government. Referring to a Communist call for the overthrow of the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu, Lodge said: "You cannot expect to achieve in these negotiations what you have failed to achieve in South Vietnam."

EGYPT ANNOUNCES STEPS TOWARD OPENING UP SUEZ CANAL

STEPS toward opening up the Suez Canal, a perennial flashpoint between Jews and Arabs in the Middle East, were announced Thursday by the Egyptian government. United Nations truce teams told of shooting incidents across the waterway and described the situation as "serious."

SOVIET ENVOY CONFERS WITH SEC. ROGERS FOR ONE HOUR

SOVIET AMBASSADOR Anatoly F. Dobrynin conferred for one hour Thursday with Secretary of State William P. Rogers on "a variety of subjects." It was the first high level contact in Washington between the Russian and the Nixon administration. Dobrynin said after the meeting that it was essentially a courtesy call, but he added that he and the secretary of state touched on virtually all matters of interest to the two countries. He said they agreed to meet again to go more deeply into some of the major issues.

NIKON PROMISES MORE AID TO FIGHT CRIME IN WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT NIXON on Thursday promised greater federal assistance to make the crime-ridden District of Columbia a "model city for America and the world." At the same time, he urged stronger local governments as essential in solving the crisis of the cities. Nixon said the federal government would do everything possible and appropriate money to help the cities cope with their great problems. He added: "The federal government could do everything, and unless we have strong local government and unless we have strong home rule, unless we have the support of the people of the cities, it will be nothing in terms of progress."

BUCHER RECALLED TO TESTIFY OVER DESTRUCTION OF PAPERS

LLOYD M. BUCHER, skipper of the USS Pueblo, was recalled to the witness stand Thursday at a naval court of inquiry in Coronado, Calif., as controversy grew over destruction of the ship's intelligence apparatus and documents. His recall as a witness was prompted by conflicting testimony about what happened in the intelligence unit quarters during seizure of the ship by North Korea.

DOCTORS CLOSE TO A CURE FOR CANCER, LAWMAKERS TOLD

LAWMAKERS were told Thursday by the head of the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Austin, Texas, that doctors are "close to a cure for cancer—as close as they were to the development of atomic energy in 1939. Dr. R. Lee Clark, president of the University of Texas Cancer Research Hospital in Houston, told the Senate Finance Committee, "We're curing something over 40 per cent of our patients now—they're living longer." He added: "We're coming into the basic knowledge that will allow us to cure the problem. We've done just about what they had done in 1939 with atomic energy."

GUARDSMEN USE TEAR GAS, BAYONETS TO SCATTER STUDENTS

TEAR GAS grenades and fixed bayonets were used Thursday by National guardsmen to scatter crowds of student strikers seeking to carry on their disruption of the University of Wisconsin. On another campus, Negro students seized the main floor of the Duke University administration building and threatened to use kerosene in setting the school's records afire if their demands were not met or if police were sent in.

PROSECUTOR OUTLINES CASE AGAINST SIRHAN B. SIRHAN

ON THE DAY that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was slain, Sirhan B. Sirhan said his gun was "to be used for hunting—it would kill a dog," the state said Thursday at Sirhan's murder trial in Los Angeles. The opening statement for the prosecution was made by Deputy Dist. Atty. David Fitts. He outlined to the jury the case the people intend to present against the 24-year-old Arab immigrant. Sirhan smiled at times and whispered to his attorneys. A short time earlier, Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker refused a defense motion for a mistrial based on the argument that the jury of eight men and four women had been exposed to prejudicial news stories.

22,000 LONGSHOREMEN VOTE TODAY ON CONTRACT TO END STRIKE

VOTING WAS BEGUN TODAY by 22,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association on a contract agreement that could end the 55-day pier strike in the port of New York and begin the unloading of more than 200 immobilized ships. An end to the strike in New York would not mean that the strike would be over in other East and Gulf Coast ports. Settlements still depend on local issues still under negotiation from Portland, Maine, to Galveston, Texas.

400 BOSTON UNIVERSITY COEDS FLEE DORMITORY FIRE

ABOUT 400 Boston University coeds fled Thursday when fire broke out in Shelton Hall, a dormitory on Bay State Road. The blaze was confined to a small basement room and there were no injuries.

SEN. DONAHUE WARNS AGAINST BEING LUDED BY ABM DELAY

MASSACHUSETTS residents were warned Thursday by a Senate Press Maurice A. Donahue against being lulled by a federal order calling for a temporary halt to construction of antiballistic missile (ABM) sites. He said the order announced by Defense Sec. Melvin R. Laird should not cause the "opponents of ABM to drop their guard." Laird's suspension of the Sentinel system forced a temporary halt to construction of the ABM sites in the Lynnfield-Andover-North Reading areas where the missiles were to have been installed at Camp Curtis Guild.

This Was The Week That Was

Newton Will Long Remember Old Man Winter's First Kayo Punch

Newton and its citizens were struggling back to normalcy today after the weekend storm which hit the city a paralyzing blow on Sunday and Monday.

This has been a week many residents of Newton will remember for a long time to come.

Between 600 and 800 families in the Newtons were without electrical power for periods ranging from three hours to three days.

Thousands of others were virtually marooned by the storm, unable to leave their homes for 24 hours or longer after the storm because their streets were impassable.

All schools in Newton were closed on Monday and Tuesday, and elementary schools were closed on Wednesday and Thursday as well. Ironically, pupils will enjoy their winter vacation starting Friday.

At least one death resulted from the storm. Stephen Bishop, 65, of 80 Pine Ridge Rd., Waban, collapsed and died from over-exertion after shoveling snow.

Mr. Bishop, who had been shoveling snow, went into his Waban home about 5:20 Sunday afternoon. He collapsed, was rushed to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital but was dead on arrival there.

No rubbish collections were made on Monday and Tuesday. The collections scheduled for those two days will not be made until next Tuesday and Wednesday (Feb. 18 and 19) since next Monday is a holiday.

Garbage will not be picked up unless householders remove the snow from containers and clear a path to them.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas announced yesterday that he will recommend the purchase of six big, heavy sanding machines and two heavy-duty pieces of snow-fighting equipment to strengthen and increase the fleet of equipment the city can press into service in future storms.

An estimated 200 families in various parts of Newton were still without power on Wednesday afternoon, three days after the failures began.

Families in those homes huddled in overcoats, warmed themselves in front of fireplaces or beside gas ranges, pressed candles and flashlights into use and were unable to pass the time by either reading or looking at television as gale winds pounded the snow against their windows during the long night on Sunday, when it was impossible for them to leave their homes.

Some moved into the comfort of motels as soon as it was possible to do so. Others remained in their homes, hoping and expecting the lights would go on momentarily.

Emergency crews from New Jersey, Connecticut and Cape Cod were brought into Newton by the Edison Company. They worked around the clock trying to

New Temple To Be Built By Mid-1970

Groundbreaking for Temple Beth Avodah's new synagogue has tentatively scheduled for this summer and work should be complete by the time the High Holy Days of 1970 arrive.

More than 150 congregants of Temple Beth Avodah were told this recently at the annual kickoff of the Temple's Building Fund Campaign.

The building, which will be constructed at the Temple's 12.5-acre wooded site in South Newton, is designed by Samuel Glaser Associates.

Plans currently call for two-stage construction. Stage One includes the Sanctuary, social hall, kitchen, entrance foyer, storage facilities, mechanical room, road preparation, parking and landscaping.

The Sanctuary is to be hexagonal with the Torah reading table in the center. Thus, the 240 permanent seats surround the Torah service.

Newton Major Air Hero In Viet Fighting

U.S. Air Force Maj. Kenneth F. Somers of Auburndale has been awarded the Silver Star and seven Air Medals for his heroism while flying a T-28 fighter on Nov. 11, 1967.

He attacked enemy lines of communication despite heavy antiaircraft and ground weapons fire.

With complete disregard for his own safety, he made repeated low altitude, low airspeed passes into the focal point of the ground fire, causing significant damage to enemy vehicles.

Major Somers received the Air Medals for outstanding airmanship during important and successful missions flown under hazardous conditions.

He is currently serving as a flight commander at Elgin AFB, Fla.

For the third year in a row, a "Doctor's Donor Day" was held at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Wednesday and before the day was out, the people who know of its vital need had added 150 to 175 pints of blood to existing stocks.

The doctors and their wives were joined by personnel of the 260-bed teaching hospital an affiliate of Tufts yesterday he felt Newton had done a good job by comparison with neighboring cities and towns.

Basbas and Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt estimated that the snow plowing and removal necessitated by the severe storm cost the city in the vicinity of $200,000.

It will cost residents of the city substantially more for damaged automobiles, broken tree limbs, crushed bushes and shrubbery, lost wages and, in many instances, the money paid to have driveways and sidewalks shoveled.

Pratt observed that the city simply does not have sufficient heavy equipment to cope with a storm of this magnitude and severity. He said that some light trucks used for plowing got stuck and added to the general mess at the height of the storm.

Young Skiers "Think Snow" As Storm Bogs 'Em

Forty members of the Newton High School Ski Club and their teacher were forced to spend Sunday night at the Concord Armory as they were marooned in Concord while on their way back from a weekend trip to Mt. Snow, Vt.

They left Mt. Snow by bus late Sunday afternoon and arrived in Concord about 1 a.m. Monday. However, the driver could not get onto route 128 from route 2. He went back to the Concord Police Station where arrangements were made to let the students stay overnight at the armory.

The youngsters had to eat since lunch on Sunday. Obliging Concord police woke up the owner of a pizza establishment, persuaded him to get up, dress and cook pizzas at 3 o'clock Monday morning.

They got back to Newton at 2:30 Monday afternoon, but some of them were unable to reach their homes and spent Monday night with friends.

No School Today For Elementary Grades In Newton

No

classes will be held today (Friday) for children in the elementary grades of Newton schools.

That means the youngsters will enjoy two consecutive weeks of vacation from school. They were out of school all this week, and next week will be their mid-winter vacation.

They will return to school on Monday, Feb. 24.

Progress in battling the storm was slow on both Sunday and Monday.

Gale force winds caused heavy drifts and blew snow back onto plowed streets on Sunday and Sunday night.

Many secondary streets were still virtually impassable on Tuesday or had only one lane open to travel.

Passengers were taken from stalled automobiles on route 128 by police and transported to City Hall where cots were set up by the Red Cross.

About 30 persons were taken from MBTA cars at Riverside station when the blizzard was at its worst.

Automobiles were abandoned on streets in all parts of the city on Sunday as drivers found it impossible either to force or coax their vehicles through the heavily drifted snow. Some of these later were towed away by police.

Basbas said the Legion wants only part of the field, which would satisfactorily leave "a good percentage" for housing. He added, however, that even though he may favor sale of the land, the Recreation Commission must rely on it first.

Without its approval the city can do nothing with it.
"Victory Field has been a bone of contention between the commission and me for years," the Mayor said.
"They won't release the land."

He said the use of the land by the Legion would fulfill the requirements of the commission in that the post is "a community activity."

Approval of the sale would have to be made by the Board of Aldermen. Basbas then signs or vetoes such proposals.

The need for blood remains acute. The much-publicized shortage during the Christmas and New Year holidays has yet to be overcome," said Wolfson, Red Cross blood chairman in Newton.

"We appreciate the doctors and hospital staff pitching in to give blood. They know how badly it is needed. Through their donations, they help dramatize the need for continued donations, throughout the community."

"But perhaps they can install stronger wires," declared Basbas who pointed out that a serious safety factor is involved and that something must be done about it.

The Mayor also suggested that possibly a supporting wire could be used with the electrical and phone wires.

A Rebirth Is Needed

A recent news report said "the growth of shoplifting has become a national scandal. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the National Retail Merchants Association believe shoplifting increased by about 93 per cent through 1966 and still is sky-rocketing."

The facts and the figures in the news report have both a moral and a practical side. On the moral side, they lead to the conclusion that we are becoming a nation of thieves. On the practical side, the soaring incidence of pilferage and shoplifting increases the cost of doing business, which must be passed on ultimately to consumers.

The spread of shoplifting is a sad commentary on our intelligence. Retail stores, like other businesses, must make a profit to live. The luxuries and necessities that are put at our fingertips by the nation's retailers did not descend from heaven.

They were put there by hard work, good management and the investment of savings in small stores and large, from the local general merchandising outlet to the chain organizations that have become known to every household and represent mass distribution at its best.

The kind of mass thievery we call shoplifting will not only drive up prices, but will lead to controls and surveillance distasteful to both honest consumers and merchants. More stringent laws are being written. Stores are employing more detectives and more sophisticated electronic and mechanical detecting devices to protect the goods on their shelves.

The cure for shoplifting, however, as with most of our current ills, lies with a rebirth of individual responsibility and a respect for the rights and property of others.

Grassroots Opinion

As a service to our readers, we present a series of mini-editorials, facts and opinion from various newspapers and magazines:

Columbia, Tenn., Herald: "If talk is cheap, they haven't heard about it in Washington. From Jan. 15 through July 31 of the last session of Congress, a total of 25,098 pages of proceedings and 'extensions of remarks' were printed in the Congressional Record. At $113 a page, this monument to political bafflebag cost the taxpayers about $2.84 million. A lot of it was devoted to speeches lamenting excessive government spending."

Granite Falls, Minn., Tribune: "Demonstrations for this or that cause are becoming a way of life on the campuses of our colleges and our young people are being taught a new premise, 'If you don't get what you want, raise hell and trample on the rights and property of others until you do.'"

Boothbay Harbor, Me., Register: "We Americans can best celebrate our inherited abundance, and remember our own beginning, by giving others the simple help they need to get started toward a better life."

Arizona Farm Bureau Federation publication: "There are over 200 million Americans in this country, and they are not all bad — as some would make you think. Over 68 million are gainfully employed. There are over 180 million who are not communists. More than 40 million couples will remain married and more than 178 million will not die of cancer. Over 50 million auto drivers will still be alive at the end of this year, and over two million homes are being built to house two million happy newlyweds. So . . . cheer up . . . your chances of reaching the age of 85 are excellent."

Somerset, Pa., American: "When we reach the point where we realize that we must balance the budget, and live within our income, we will halt a growing federal debt, cut taxes, and cut out waste and inefficiency in government. Only when this happens, can the threat of continued inflation ease. The question is: When, if ever, will we do this?"

Cambridge, Md., News: "This nation has been 'marr'd' to the kind of liberalism that has brought forth the welfare state philosophy, intentional deficit spending, and has brought us to the brink of socialism . . . the people have learned . . . that liberalism breeds the permissive society which would, unchecked, destroy our system of government."

Laguna Beach, Calif., News-Post: "Most of the highest paid jobs in the world are held by people living in the United States. We take far better care of our old people, sick people, poor people and orphans than almost any other nation . . . We have free education through high school and often through college, free elections, unlimited opportunity. What's wrong with this? Who are the people who scorn it and want to change it — and to what?"

Fremont, Ind., Republican: "We little fellows have discovered that the big fellows can lose money for us faster than we can lose it for ourselves."

Norwalk, Ct., Hour: "The automobile, while the family's great advantage in a fast moving world, still is a powerful instrument of death and destruction, statistics tell us. Consideration for the other driver can help."

Editor of The Graphic:

Newton's officials and the men and women of the various departments who worked around the clock coping with the massive job of cleaning our streets deserve our special commendation.

Few really understand the magnitude and frustrations of the job. But anyone who has had to travel in other areas appreciates the fact that our people merit a "well done" for their efforts.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Against Program

Editor of The Graphic:

Regarding the school lunch program in Newton's elementary schools, may I express my feelings

Why sacrifice education for a mandatory school lunch program? Should we put money into a lunch program when we do not have enough teachers? If the lunch program becomes mandatory, the city will have to pay for it. This means less money for teachers and equipment for our schools.

Most homes in Newton are within easy walking distance of an elementary school. One of the reasons I live where I do is because it is close enough for my children to come home for lunch.

Most working adults do not eat lunch where they work as it gives them a break to "get away from it all," at noon-time. Now we're asking our children to sit in the same room they've been in all morning, without proper facilities, and eat their cold sandwiches, then continue work after a short (maybe a 15-minute) break right through — until 2 p.m. — five days a week.

The school lunch program is all right for working mothers and also anyone else who might want to have their children stay, but, why should the city (and indirectly, all of us) pay for their babysitters — and why should we who do not want it be forced to have our children participate?

I've lived in Newton all my life and really appreciated coming home for lunch. One can eat in a quiet, relaxed atmosphere and return to school refreshed. I am sure there is a difference in how the children who stay at school and the children who come home start off the afternoon.

Tuesday and Thursday afternoons off are wonderful for the children. (Maybe some parents would send sleeping bags to school and let their children spend the night, if they could.)

These afternoons also give the teachers time for meetings and extra help for those needing it. The children have these afternoons free for music lessons, dancing lessons, etc., or for just being out playing in the fresh air.

If they are obliged to stay until 2 p.m., that does not leave much time for these things, plus the fact that it gets dark so early in winter that there would not be much

Single Session

Editor of The Graphic:

I would like to share my opinions on the importance of a uniform school week for the city of Newton.

How convenient it would be if our extra-curricular activities could be maneuvered within a 5-day span (Monday through Friday) instead of a crammed schedule of free time on Tuesday and Thursday.

This year has been much less pressured (yet not ideal) because of the earlier hours on Monday, Wednesday and Friday; but the thought of a return to the antiquated schedule of school hours makes me shudder.

An emphasis on outstanding achievements has increased the desire for lessons in music, skating, after school sports, arts and crafts, and hobby clubs as well as the standard routine of weekday religious classes and medical appointments. We also want our children to have time with their friends, spend time in the library, and have a few minutes of "their own." Let us give them this time EVERY DAY. Let us analyse THEIR schedule each day of the week. Let us see an end to the children who arrive home from school at 4:00 p.m. (already dark at one point during the year).

Let's look at the new Weston elementary schools that were built with no cafeterias, yet their successful cold bag lunch program is enjoyed by the community. In this Commonwealth, 98 percent of the communities have a lunch program.

My family enjoys living in Weston. We are comfortable in our surroundings. We enjoy being close to the city — yet being in accord with a country atmosphere. We don't usually argue with "company policy," but we feel very strongly about a single school session. We think our children need it. We know they want it.

Sandra S. Podolsky (Mrs. David) 14 Greenwood Street Newton Centre

No Further Delay

Editor of The Graphic:

The Working Mothers Committee, who are members of the United Parents for Single Session, feel at this time that a statement must be made by them in connection with the present Newton elementary school lunch program; which was voted by the school committee in May, 1968.

The Working Mothers of Newton do not and never did want a lunch program without a change in the present school hours. The present lunch program has not helped our situation, because of the very short hours still remaining on Tuesday and Thursday; many of the working mothers are still unable to work on Tuesday and Thursday because they cannot possibly be home before two o'clock, and will not leave their children to come home to an empty house even for one half hour.

First and foremost the Working Mother's children are left by themselves on Tuesday and Thursday, while their classmates go home to eat their lunches, which psychologically is very unhealthy for these children because it makes them feel different.

The sixty year old Newton elementary school hours must change and be updated to the present way of life. If we can have innovation of studies, we certainly should be able to have a modern time schedule in our school program to meet the needs of all people living in a modern society.

Whether they be working mothers, mothers who have gone back to school, mothers who wish to give of their time to charitable institutions, or mothers who just wish to have the time for themselves. We have elected School Committee Members to represent us, and certainly hope that they will do this, the School Committee Members, our representatives, must lead the way in establishing good relations between the parents, teachers, principals, and school administrators.

Therefore we urge the Newton School Committee to institute a five day uniform elementary school lunch program — 8:30 to 2:00 p.m. without any further delay!

Jeanette Brick West Newton, Mass. 60 Russell Road West Newton, Mass.

NC Garden Club
To Hear Joseph
Hudak Tuesday

The Newton Centre Garden Club will meet next Tuesday (Feb. 18) at the Newton Centre Woman's Club with Joseph George Hudak, well-known landscape architect, as the guest speaker.

Mr. Hudak, a graduate of Penn State University and member of the American Society of Landscape Architects, is past president of the Boston Society of Landscape Architects. Currently he is lecturer at the Graduate School of Design, Harvard University and for the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts.

Mr. Hudak will discuss "plain dirt gardening" from the time the plant material or seeds are put into the ground until they reach maturity.

The meeting will begin with a coffee hour at 9:30 a.m. and a business meeting at 10 to be conducted by the president Esther Winslow of Newton Centre. Hostesses for the day are Mrs. Henry T. Dunker and Mrs. Gardiner T. Smith both of Waban. Pourers are Mrs. Guy M. Munroe of Needham and Mrs. Harold E. Tingley of Newton Centre.

PTA Council On Feb. 27

PTA Council President Herbert Regal requests that PTA Presidents of all Newton Schools come to an open hearing to be held at the Davis School on Thursday (Feb. 27) to present their views on the lunch program. He suggests that each President make every effort to observe the lunch program in action at his school and to come prepared with questions representative of their schools. This open meeting is the result of the unanimous vote of the Council at their last meeting to give groups an opportunity to present their views on the controversial school lunch program.

Miss Mary Nethercole, present for and questioning, Principal, welcomed the Dr. Friedell added that one goal of the Conference is to get concerned citizens to participate in the development of long-range plans.

Herbert Regal President, introduced Dr. Gilbert Friedell, Chairman of the Building Committee, who announced plans for the Spring Conference to be held on April 17, with Mrs. Mary Eliza McDaniel as chairman. The theme will be the problems of building schools in Newton, "Building Schools - Why, Where, When and How?" Topics for discussion will include the building status in Newton, the relevance of the physical building to the educational process, and the building needs and accomplishments in Newton as compared to other communities. Experts will be

Bay Path Council Scout Activities Past and Planned

The Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council of Newton Upper Falls reports on the activities, past and planned, of the girl scout troops in the area.

A party for Junior Scouts in honor of Juliette Low's birthday was held recently at the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre. Every troop brought their own refreshments. With the Halloween collection, candy was bought and donated to the Children's Hospital in Boston.

A Christmas-Chanukah party for Junior and Cadette troops of the Bay Path Centre Neighborhood was held in mid-December. Christmas Carols were sung and the Christmas and Chanukah stories were told, and Chanukah candles were lighted. There was square dancing, paper bag skits, a grab bag, and refreshments.

Toward the Challenge of Dependability award, Troop 842 plans to entertain the retired people at the Parker House for their 5th anniversary. The Newton Wellesley Barber Shop quartet will help with the entertainment.

Also planned is a trip to New York in April. All money for this trip will be earned by the girls themselves through the cookie drive and babysitting funds.

Girl Scout Troop 696 held a lunch meeting the day before Thanksgiving at which nut cups were made and three turkeys were stuffed for the ladies at Stone Institute. The troop brought the gifts to the Institute Dining room and wished everyone a Happy Thanksgiving.

Troop 696 includes Karen Edelston, Karen Noymer, Jayne Sherman, Cheryl Kates, Elizabeth McDonough, Cheryl LeBlanc, Sandy Fay, Harriet Warshauer, Leeann Cohen, Cindy Mervis and Karen Anderson. The leader is Mrs. Lester Warshauer.

Members of Troop 563 recently earned the Toyman Badge. Everyone in the troop contributed their talents to this Project and the toys were

By MEL STERN

Today we live with our treasures instead of storing them away in drawers as our ancestors did. Even a modest collection can individualize a room, enhance the furnishings, spark a conversation. But you must remember to group small items so each piece heightens interest in the others. You also need a good eye for composition. Make sure whatever you're grouping, whether it's a group of china plates, sea-shells mounted on a mat, or even a coin collection, that the grouping is balanced proportionately especially if it's over a chest or commode. A collection of any kind can give a lift to a room.

Give a lift to your rooms with furniture and accessories from FERNANDES' FINE FURNITURE, 306 Harvard Street, Brookline, 566-8635. Everything for your home furnishing and decorating is here. Daily 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

HELPFUL HINT: A pair of mitts made out of old Turkish towels can speed the job of cleaning Venetian blinds.

Family Art Workshops To Begin Mar. 1

Two Saturday Art Workshops for mothers, dads and kids of all ages have been organized by the Newton Community Service Centers Inc. under the direction of Mrs. Murray Janover, Art Director. The Workshop will meet on Saturdays beginning March 1.

Beginning March 1 for four two hour Sat. sessions from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon is the BUILD IT WITH PAPER workshop, taught by paper sculptor, Jim Bottomley. All participants will have creative fun with paper, paste and cardboard, as this world famous sculptor demonstrates the techniques and tricks that convert ordinary household scrap papers into exciting projects.

The program will be tailored to the student's interest and could cover such things as 1/2 scale racing cars, and big models of World War I aircraft and ships, to other subjects like jewelry and wall-hangings, dollhouses and furniture.

If you've been looking for an inexpensive way to design and build sturdy and beautiful things, register now to join the group on Saturday, March 1.

If you want to find out how satisfying a family art project can be, take advantage of our second offering also. PRINT AND WEAVE A FAMILY PORTRAIT will be taught under the guidance of Eleanor Rubin an experienced artist and teacher. Mothers, fathers and kids can work individually or as a unit, planning a composite family portrait or wall hanging for the home with a variety of printmaking and simple off-the-loom techniques.

Members will bring or buy their own supplies or share in the cost of them. Instructor will inform class members by mail, once they are registered.

This workshop is from 2 to 4 p.m. beginning March 1.

If you wish information on any of the above please call the NEWTON COMMUNITY SERVICE CENTERS, 969-5906 or 969-5907 for information.

Hey — How About Those Streets?

MANILA (UPI) — Manila has decided to force a private firm to give back two city streets that "disappeared" 10 years ago. The streets, now being leased by a stevedoring firm, were turned over to a government agency in 1958 after an official survey of a lot owned by the agency. The stevedoring firm fenced them off and turned them into a base yard.

Head Restraints To Help Do Away With "Whiplash"

They certainly are comfortable looking, those extra padded supports rising above the front seat in most 1969 automobiles. But why the added head cushions in the new cars?

According to the American Automobile Association, "head restraints" are required by a new federal safety regulation. Beginning Jan. 1 this year, all new cars made or sold in the U.S. were required to be equipped with head rests for the driver and front seat passengers.

The head restraints will reduce the number of serious "whiplash" neck injuries — which result from some four million rear-end collisions occurring in the U.S. each year.

Injuries result when the auto passenger's head is snapped sharply backward from the force of a rear-end crash. The new restraints provide sufficient strength, height and energy absorption, under the federal standard, to minimize violent backward movement of the head.

In the past whiplash accounted for a high percentage of neck injuries and chronic disabilities reported in this country, according to AAA. Also, insurance settlements have averaged considerably higher for this type of injury than for others.

Some of the new cars have adjustable head restraints. In those cases, AAA recommends that the restraint be set no lower than the top of the passenger's ears, to take full advantage of the protective devices.

Road Grime Harms Cars And Poses Safety Hazard

The American Automobile Association today warned that snow and ice, which attack metal motor vehicles, can attack metal motor vehicles that grime and dirt finishes and chrome.

from wet highways and melting snow can be harmful to your car as frequently as visibility to a dangerous degree, and road grime greatly reduces the effectiveness of your directional lights and your headlights at night.

"Don't wait for April showers to wash off these chemicals, which attack snow and ice, which attack metal motor vehicles that grime and dirt finishes and chrome.

"But you can solve both problems by washing your car frequently," advises James W. Vasbinder, Emergency Road Service Manager for AAA's Massachusetts Division.

The winter calcium and sodium chlorides are being used extensively on Massachusetts highways to spray the melt snow and ice. These car ahead and also coats your headlights and directional lights. "Not only is this stuff harmful to the chrome and finish but it is a definite safety hazard."

"Windshield washers are valuable at times like these," Vasbinder said. "Make sure they will work when you need them by putting antifreeze in the washer bottle."

A dirty, film-covered windshield can reduce your visibility to a dangerous degree, and road grime greatly reduces the effectiveness of your directional lights and your headlights at night.

Good Idea To Keep Window Open Slightly

Carbon monoxide is odorless, but whenever you smell exhaust fumes you can assume carbon monoxide is present. It is poisonous and sometimes deadly when confined in places like the family car. Make sure your exhaust system is in good condition. This is especially important in winter when driving with windows closed. In any case, it's a good idea to open your windows slightly when driving in winter.

Have You Ever Been "Velocitized"?

Freeway drivers run the risk of becoming "velocitized" after many miles of high-speed driving and temporarily lose their ability to judge car speeds, the Massachusetts Division of the American Automobile Association warned today.

You become velocitized when you slow down after driving at expressway speeds of 60 to 70 mph. You feel as if you're creeping along. Slower speed seems much slower than it actually is.

To avoid becoming velocitized, AAA recommends that you stop for gas or a cup of coffee promptly after leaving a freeway or before entering small towns. After such a stop, you will tend to drive at normal speeds and thus avoid the possibility of a speeding ticket.

Dave Dinger In New Building

In September 1966 the Ford Motor Co., embarking on its Policy of "Better Ideas" awarded a dealer franchise in Braintree to Dave Dinger, at that time, a prominent sales executive at another Boston Dealership.

Since then, Dave Dinger Ford has erected an ultra modern 1/2 million dollar Ford show place just off the S.E. Expressway near the South Shore Plaza Junction of Routes 128 and 37 at 75 Granite St. The company took possession of this massive facility in November and is now running at full sales and service capacity.

The youthful but experienced Mr. Dinger advances no special theories for his unprecedented growth. "Perhaps our trades are a little better, our desire to please more sincere, or heaven forbid, we are giving away our cars too cheap," says Dave.

JACK LANE, owner of Jack Lane Lincoln Mercury Inc., 1180 Washington St. West Newton is now holding his first open house in Newton, in observance of Washington's Birthday. Mr. Lane opened his Lincoln-Mercury agency the first week of November 1968, and has made his automobile agency one of the first stops for any car buyer, both new and used. Jack Lane's service department is well equipped to service all makes of cars. Along with the complete line of Lincoln-Mercury cars, the fabulous Mark III is on display.

Pretend Other Drivers Aren't Bright As You

BOSTON — It might be smart to pretend other motorists aren't as bright as yourself, the Automobile Legal Association (ALA) said today.

"This could be particularly true during peak traffic periods when the chances of fatal mistakes are increased," Philip C. Wallwork, ALA safety director, pointed out.

"Minute-to-minute driving decisions must be made from your point of view," Wallwork said. "Expect the other driver to make mistakes. If and when he does, you'll be ready."

The ALA official also offered several other safety tips for motorists:

— Make sure your car is in safe condition.

— Use your seat belts.

— Don't try to drive too far at one stretch.

Pan Am Boosts Schedule

NEW YORK (UPI) — The largest fall-winter flight schedule in its history has been announced by Pan American World Airways. Most of the schedule goes into effect Oct. 27.

Pan Am will operate 258 weekly flights across the Atlantic during the peak 1968-69 season, compared with 248 last year, and 96 trans-Pacific flights against 72 in the 1967-68 season. There will be 682 weekly flights between the mainland and the Caribbean, compared with 530 last year.

ALA Warns Motorists About Wet Brakes

BOSTON — Motorists who drive through water-flooded streets should beware of losing braking power, the Automobile Legal Association warned today.

"Test your brakes immediately after driving through puddles," Philip C. Wallbank, ALA safety director, urged. "If the brakes do not respond to pressure after wetting, press down lightly on the brake pedal and drive slowly about 30 seconds."

"The friction caused will dry out the brake linings very quickly," Wallwork said.

Former Teacher Campaigns For TV Clean-Up

By DEREK N. ABRAMS

LONDON UPI — Mary Whitehouse says she wants television in Britain to "build character instead of destroying it."

As a result she has been called a crank, a Puritan and a busybody. She has had to get police protection and she gets threatening phone calls.

For the past six years this grey-haired, bespectacled woman has waged war on "filth" on television as co-founder of the National Viewers' and Listeners' Association. She claims the association represents 100,000 people.

Although she was viewed as a crank by many when she announced her organization, her views are now at least considered, if not acted upon, by the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) and the Independent Television Authority (ITA).

FORMER TEACHER

Mrs. Whitehouse was a senior teacher at a high school when the idea of a "clean up television" campaign first struck her. She was discussing moral welfare with a group of boys and girls and the subject was a television program on religion called "Meeting Point."

"I hadn't seen the program myself," Mrs. Whitehouse recalled. "But it was apparently about pre-marital sex."

One of the girls then made a remark which indicated the discussion of pre-marital sex on the program had changed her attitude.

"And I thought," Mrs. Whitehead said, "this isn't one girl that's been affected. It's a whole generation."

That was in 1963. She spoke of one episode of a con-

TAKES SEX FOR GRANTED

"That's the sort of thing we're campaigning against. Not only was it shown to be clever and funny to lie to your parents, but pre-marital sex was taken for granted by the young people."

"Promiscuity, infidelity and drinking are presented as normal and inevitable," Mrs. Whitehouse said.

She neither drinks nor smokes herself.

Mrs. Whitehouse has been married for 27 years. Her husband, Ernest, a coppersmith in a family business, supports her campaign wholeheartedly.

When her own children were at school, television was banned from the house for three years.

Now a set stands in one corner of the room. On top is a high plant.

"It hides the screen when there is something on we don't want to see," Mrs. Whitehouse said.

More Than 200 Runners Sign Up For Big Holiday Marathon Here

Entries to date indicate that since the first winter running event took place in 1967, and the race has become, for long distance champion runners an unofficial prelude to the BAA Patriot's Day Marathon.

The race will cover 20 miles, beginning at the mark used by the BAA Marathon in Hopkinton Center, going along the BAA route for 17½ miles.

Then, at the usual turning point of the BAA course from Rt. 16, onto Rt. 30, the course for the Silver Lake Marathon continues across Commonwealth Avenue and along Rt. 16 to the finish at 444 Water Street, Newton, in front of Silver Lake Dodge.

Last year's race was won by John J. Kelley who set a Wamptman of Roslindale, Lake Dodge, Newton.

Ashland Snaps Lion Groaners' Winning Streak

Ashland High avenged its 1967 loss to the Newton South wrestlers, which ended their 21-match unbeaten streak, with a 29-23 decision, last week.

South started slowly and ended slower, picking up the bulk of its points in the middle-weight classes.

Sophomore Steve Etkin scored the Lion's only pin in the 133 pound class. Co-Captain Neil Applebaum (110) Mark Buchine (120) John McCarthy (127) Paul Eisenberg (138) Fred Virgilio (145) and Ted Todis (160) scored the remainder of Newton's points on decisions.

Co-Captain Frank Vespa, undefeated in nine matches, was pinned by New England 180-pound runner-up Arion Manesco, for his first loss.

Newton South is 8-2 on the season, with one dual match before the sectional and state meets.

South Icemen Beat Weston; Regain Third

Lou Wolfson and Jimmy O'Connor each tallied two goals and an assist for their 9th and 10th points of the season, respectively, to push the Newton South Hockey Team back into third place in the Dual County League. The score was 4-1.

The Lion victory came over Weston High and raised their record to 5-5-1.

Wolfson and O'Connor each scored unassisted goals in the first period to hand South a 2-0 lead at the first intermission.

Wolfson shooed up the whole arena at the start of the second period by blasting home his second goal at the 24-second third period was scoreless.

Newton "Y" Class D Swim Team Defeats Cambridge

The Newton YMCA Boys' place in the 80 yard freestyle relay were Doug Jasset, Howard and under) defeated the Cambridge YMCA Swim Team at Cambridge last Saturday 47-26.

The victory gave Newton its second consecutive Class D victory, and for the first time in three years a winning record. Newton's season record is now four wins against three losses.

Pacing Class D was Jon Wish, first place in both the 20 yard freestyle and 20 yard butterfly; Danny Braverman, second place in the 80 yard individual medley; Warren Cole, first place in diving competition; Doug Jasset, third place in the 100 yard freestyle; Mark Jackson, first place in the 100 yard freestyle; John Lory, second place in the 20 yard backstroke; Ed Smith, first in the 20 yard backstroke, and third in the 20 yard breaststroke.

Winning the 80 yard medley relay were John Lory, Ed Smith, Jon Wish, and Mark Jackson. Swimming to a first mark on a centering pass from O'Connor.

Only 18 seconds later, at 42 seconds, Wolfson reciprocated the favor and O'Connor put the puck by the Weston netminder.

Wolfson scored its only goal later in the period and the second goal at the 24-second third period was scoreless.

NEWTON HIGH GRAD IN BOSTON STATE CAGE — Kevin McLatchey, 5-10, 155 pound junior goaltender from Newton, will be in the lineup when the Boston State sextet takes on Providence at the Four Seasons in Walpole Saturday night.

Local Players In ECAC Ice Action For Boston State

Newton, Canton and Dedham will be represented on the ice, and Needham off the ice, when the Boston State College hockey team plays at Four Seasons Arena in Walpole Saturday, Feb. 15 and Tuesday, Feb. 25.

Defenseman Dick Kelley, winger Marty Clapton and goalie Kevin McLatchey — all of Newton — wing Dick Leahy of Canton, and wing Joe Mazzaferrro of Dedham will be skating for the Warrior squad against E.C.A.C. Division I Providence and Division II power A.I.C., while coach Eddie Barry of Needham will be directing operations from the bench.

Kelley, son of Boston College coach "Snooks" Kelley and holder of the Boston State season scoring record for a defender of 27 points set last year as a sophomore, will be starting at right defense. Clapton, former outstanding forward at Newton High School, is a veteran wing who has three goals and three assists for six points this season.

McLatchey, also a former Newton High School (Class of '64) standout, has been playing behind second-year defenseman Bill Berglund of Everett, but was sensational in Boston's 5-2 loss to University of Vermont Feb. 1 when Berglund was ill.

In five and two thirds games this season, Kevin has given up 17 goals for a 3.85 average. He lives at 30 Rowe street, Newton.

Leahy, only Boston State player to make the E.C.A.C.

all-East team this season, is currently the second-leading scorer on the squad. Dick has 12 goals and 18 assists for 30 points in 17 games. Mazzaferrro,

high scorer with 13 goals and four assists for 17 points in 16 games.

Barry, a former Boston

Bruins and three-sport great which could also be of interest.

South Cagers Tie Record For Consecutive Losses

By LEW FREEDMAN

a 30-25 halftime lead. Weymouth exploded in the second half to win away as six-foot-five Carl Reavey poured in 28 points. Levine was the Lions' only double figure scorer with 13 points.

Newton South journeyed to Cambridge and were belted from beginning to end as Steve Frenchette (23) and Warren Collins (21) were deadly. Emmons Levine tossed in 22 points for the Lions to tie the high game mark for this season recorded by Stu Silverman who tallied 12 points in this encounter.

South still has a tough schedule on its hands with league powers Brockton and Waltham still to come, in addition to Watertown, Boston Latin, and Cambridge Latin.

Captain Cliff Greene is expected to play this week after sitting out the last 10½ games.

Line Drawings On Display At Library

An intriguing group of line drawings will be on display at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre St., through Feb. 27.

The selected showing of Ann Barns' work depicts faces in a crowd, drawings of people on the subway, in stores, on the street, or just waiting.

Miss Barns, who lives in Belmont, studied at the Art Students' League and the National Academy of Fine Arts in New York.

She says she is particularly interested in line drawing because it is a direct method. She says she is able "to capture a feeling spontaneously" in her drawings.

Day Care Center Is Considered

The Newton Day Care Center Study Committee met Tuesday morning, February 11th 10:00 a.m. at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge Street in Newton.

According to Anthony J. Bibbo, Executive Director of the Newton Community Service Centers, this is a voluntary group of professionals and lay persons from the community interested in establishing a Day Care Center Program in Newton. All meetings are open and individuals who wish to participate are encouraged to attend the meetings.

The meeting, convened by Dr. Jerry Wacks from the Newton Mental Health Center, dealt with the survey findings of the committee relative to need.

For additional information on the Newton Day Care Center Committee contact Miss Edith A. Babkey at 968-5907.

Take Breaks For Safety, ALA Urges

BOSTON — Take the labor out of driving by taking frequent breaks, the Automobile Legal Association today urged motorists.

"Frequent breaks, perhaps a 10-minute rest stop every hour, would help keep drivers fresher and more alert," Gerard J. Gagnon, ALA's assistant safety director, said.

"Such stops will not only make the trip safer for the driver and his passengers but also more pleasurable," Gagnon said.

"Of course," he added, "we realize a man who is taking a long trip with his wife and children may find this suggestion unnecessary because he has to stop far more frequently than once an hour."

Safety Advice Doesn't Change

BOSTON — Automobiles have come a long way, but safety advice hasn't changed too much, says the Automobile Legal Association. As an example, the ALA cites an article which appeared in its official magazine, The Automobilist, back in July, 1922.

The article, "Some Don'ts For Drivers," advised motorists:

"Don't forget that an automobile has no eyes or brains. You must furnish them. Furnish good ones.

"Don't drive fast around corners in sand or mud, or when it is slippery.

"Don't be a road hog; give the car you meet more than half the road.

"Don't touch alcoholic liquors when driving or about to do so.

"Don't take chances. Remember that broken legs and arms are not easily mended, and friends killed through your ignorance or carelessness can never be resurrected.

"Don't drive with poor brakes or steering apparatus out of order."

Singers Sought As Members For Kodaly Chorus

Petr Erdei, outstanding 1968 graduate of the Franz Liszt Academy in Budapest, Hungary, is this year's guest conductor for the Adult Kodaly Chorus at the Dana School of Music, in Wellesley.

The Chorus, which is presently accepting new members, performs madrigals, classical and modern works by Kodaly, Bartok and others. It meets every Monday night from 8:00 to 9:30 p.m., at 103 Grove Street in Wellesley in the Music Building.

Mr. Erdei, who is already known in Budapest for his excellence in choral conducting, is placing the emphasis on teaching and training even previously untrained voices. Before the Chorus meets, from 7:30 to 8:00, he has been giving instruction in the Kodaly Method of music education to all Chorus members who are interested.

This method, which has within the last 18 years become the national method of music education in the Hungarian School System, is responsible for the massive number of musically literate Hungarian adults.

Interest in the Kodaly Method is growing in this country, as more and more music educators become aware of its ability to teach music reading even to the very young.

In addition to conducting the Adult Chorus, Mr. Erdei also leads a Children's Chorus on Saturday mornings from 10 to 11 a.m. and is a member of the staff of the Dana School of Music. Both choruses performed at the Dana School Christmas Concert and are now preparing for a concert to be held in the spring.

Residents of Wellesley, Newton and surrounding communities who have an interest in choral music, or who just like to sing, are invited to come to Wellesley to take advantage of this rare opportunity to sing good music and study under an excellent conductor.

For further information, call the Dana School of Music

RECENT HEAVY SNOWFALL turned Bussey Brook section of Arnold Arboretum into a winter wonderland as wet snow clung to shrubbery and tree branches in picture-book fashion.

Time and Storms Take Toll On Old Arnold Arboretum

By DR. GORDON P. DEWOLF, JR.

Those of us who only know the Arnold Arboretum as it exists today find it difficult to picture the Arboretum that existed in the past. It is true that the general plan has not changed, but storms, fire, old age and disease have taken their toll.

Hurricanes have played disease as assisting old age, covered with primeval forest, their part. On Sept. 21, 1938 between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. about 1,490 trees in the Arboretum were either uprooted or so severely damaged that they had to be removed.

Damage was particularly heavy in the conifer collection in the vicinity of Bussey Brook and Hemlock Hill, and in the Poplar collection on the southeast slope of Peter's Hill.

Again, a further 300 trees were lost to hurricane "Carol" on Aug. 31, 1954. Some of the gaps left by the fallen trees have provided welcome vistas - but others, as at the base of Hemlock Hill, still present a ravished appearance.

Disease plays a part in the changes of appearance. For example: beginning about 1900 Professor Sargent started a collection of native American Hawthorns. At one time this collection had some 500 named kinds of Hawthorns. This collection was planted on the northeast slope of Peter's Hill. By 1945 the trees had passed their prime; and were badly infected with Fireblight, Juniper Rust and Hawthorn Blight. Since Hawthorns are not one of the most ornamental groups of woody plants it was decided to reduce the collection to about 100 varieties of distinct ornamental merit.

As a result, the slopes of Peter's Hill were cleared. Since 1945 part of the area has been kept open. The lower slopes, however, have been planted to various woody members of the Rose family - the Mountain Ashes, some flowering Cherries and an extension of Crab-apple collection.

Fire is an ever-present danger in the Arboretum. In the past running ground fires have destroyed many valuable trees - particularly in the collection of dwarf conifers. As best we can, we attempt to reduce the fire danger by cutting the grass and using fire retardant mulches where possible. However, our precautions are not completely successful, and every year numerous fires cause greater or lesser damage. We must continually plead for caution with pipes, cigars and cigarettes.

Old age is a factor for change. Trees mature and die at differing ages. Some, such as Oriental cherries mature at an early age. There was once an extensive collection of cherries by the Forest Hills Gate. The trees are not much more than 50 years old, and most are already gone. Here remains to be seen. This is the "Berrying Ground" on the southwest slope of Peter's Hill. The Second Parish in Roxbury, to which this is a monument, was established in 1712 with a minister and a congregation of eighteen souls.

COMMENDED — Mayor Monte G. Basbas commends James P. Frazier, a city employee, for his life-saving efforts in a recent Newton fire. Frazier twice entered burning Fisher's Garage on California street, and rescued Robert and Eric LaMarche, ages 6 and 3 respectively, and in so doing suffered severe injuries. He is a Public Works Dept. employee and lives with his family on California street.

A church was erected on property provided by the grandson of the original Joseph Weld, and the cemetery, which still exists, was adjacent to the church. The locality, now Walter Street, at that time was known as Cookson's Corner, on the upper road to Dedham.

In 1769 a "Third Parish" was established in Roxbury, with its church in what is now Monument Square, Jamaica Plain. This is now where the First Church of Jamaica Plain stands. The settlement around Cookson's Corner appears not to have grown as thrifly as one might have hoped, and the new "Third Parish" received some of the members of the "Second Parish". In 1773 those who were left in the "Second Parish" voted to pull down their Meeting House, and re-erect it near where it now stands on Centre Street as the First Parish Church of West Roxbury (Now known as the Theodore Parker Unitarian Church.) The "Berrying Ground," however, remains. The cemetery was used again, for the last time, during the Revolution, as attested by a monument erected by the Sons of the American Revolution.

Physically, the Arnold Arboretum is characteristic of much of eastern New England. Rugged hills of bedrock, with a scant mantle of glacial gravel alternate with moist or boggy stream valleys.

Like much of Boston, the bedrock of the arboretum is the so-called Quincy Conglomerate. This is not the "puddingstone" made famous by Oliver Wendell Holmes in "The Dorchester Giant" but rather an amorphous form that might look to the uninitiated like a sort of granite.

In the Peter's Hill tract, bordering on Bussey Street, there is a disused quarry where the bedrock is well exposed. This quarry dates at least from the early days of the Arboretum, when it was used as a source of rock for road construction.

Tradition has it that at one time there was a plan to relocate Bussey Street through the quarry so as to avoid the steep grade over the hill which is still a problem on slippery winter days.

The land on which the Arnold Arboretum sits has a long history. For two hundred years it was farm land. During that period the forest was felled, orchards and pastures cleared and abandoned. Ninety-six acres, however, remains. The cemetery was used again, for the last time, during the Revolution, as attested by a monument erected by the Sons of the American Revolution.

Special Cowbell Exhibit At Newton Free Library

A special exhibit of foreign and domestic cowbells are on display this week at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre St., Newton Corner. This unique display is on loan from the New England Dairy and Food Council Boston.

Cowbells have been used for thousands of years all over the world as a kind of primitive radar to help the farmer locate his herd.

Cowbells also helped to keep the herd together, and the noise of the cowbell tended to scare away predatory animals lurking near the pasture, according to Miss Jewel Biles of the Dairy Council, who coordinated and arranged the display for the Newton Library.

The bells also became status symbols of picturesque traditions for families to pass down from generation to generation.

Included in the harmonious display at Newton Corner is a huge Swiss family bell, so heavy that the lead cow wearing it had to be fed by hand because she could not graze with the 9-pound bell around her neck.

The dairy farmer of the Far East makes his cowbells of cast, bone, ivory and bamboo, and his bells also reflect the unique aesthetic flavor of the area.

A cowbell from Finland in the Dairy Council display is made from a nose cone of an artillery shell.

In this country cowbells were made by 3 methods: casting in a mold, stamping with a press, and crafting by hand. The first commercial manufacturer was founded in

AAA offers these tips for easier and less tiring commuter trips:

1. Don't follow the car ahead too closely. Hugging the bumper of another car requires nerve - wracking concentration, even at speeds of 30 to 35 mph. Allow one car length for each 10 mph. For example, at 40 mph, allow four car lengths.

2. If the driver behind is crowding your bumper, slow down gradually and increase your distance from the car ahead. This gives you greater margin for stopping in the event of a slow-up.

3. Avoid changing lanes constantly. Hopping back and forth from one lane to another increases the chances of accident and rarely gains any time in travel. Studies show that "lane-hoppers" gain only one to two minutes over other drivers on an average commuter trip.

4. Don't "gawk" at accidents. Drivers who slow down to stare at an accident often create more of a traffic bottleneck than the accident itself.

5. Cooperate with other motorists when tie-ups occur. A stalled car or an accident means that two or more traffic lanes merge into one lane. Be mature enough to help drivers in the stalled lane merge in front of you.

6. If you commute on a regular schedule and drive alone, try to get at least one other motorist who does the same to alternate driving with you.

Everglades Attendance
FLAMINGO, Fla. (UPI) — Indications are that 1968 attendance in Everglades National Park will climb past the million mark again for the third successive year. Department of Interior officials believe that in the next six-and-a-half years the south Florida wildlife sanctuary will attract more vacationers than it did during its first 20 years. Major tourist facilities within the 2,300-square-mile Park are at Flamingo on Florida Bay.

Sunday Services For 1st Church o' Christ Scientist

The subject of the Bible Lesson-Sermon for this Sunday's services at the First Church of Christ Scientist, 391 Walnut St., Newtonville, will be "Soul." Services will begin at 10:45 a.m.

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all the earth: make a loud noise, and rejoice, and sing praise . . . Let the floods clap their hands: let the hills be joyful together before the Lord." These verses are part of the Responsive Reading for this Sunday in all Christian Science Churches.

"Experience should be the school of virtue, and human happiness should proceed from man's highest nature," is one of the selections to be read from the denominational textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.

MDC Head Says Dept. Plow Job Unsatisfactory

Former Newton Mayor Howard Whittemore, Jr., chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, declared bluntly yesterday that his men had not done a good plowing job.

Whittemore said, in substance, that he could not promise a good plowing job in a comparable storm on MDC parkways in the future unless he has the power to require MDC employees to work overtime.

Hammond Pond parkway is one of the MDC thoroughfares which was clogged by abandoned cars and snow for an unusually long time after the end of the storm.

Distaff Drivers Must Fight Fear Of Being Afraid

"The only thing we have to learn to drive a car is not to fear it itself," President Franklin D. Roosevelt told the woman said in an article, in 1933. He probably didn't realize it, but a woman published in 1917 in the ALA's magazine, the New England Motorist.

There was a whale of difference, however, notes the Automobile Legal Association (ALA).

President Roosevelt was trying to calm a nation which was facing a disastrous depression. The woman was just trying to encourage more women to drive.

"The most difficult thing a woman has to overcome in

Rev. Romberg Is Guest Preacher

The First United Methodist Church in Newton has invited the Rev. Theodore E. Romberg, pastor of St. Stephens United Methodist Church in West Roxbury to be the guest preacher on Sunday (Feb. 9).

All United Methodist Pastors in the New England Conference will be exchanging pulpits that Sunday and will be preaching on the Fund for Reconciliation Crusade. This Crusade is an attempt to raise $1,500,000 over the next four years to help bring about reconciliation between blacks and whites and between the affluent and the non-affluent.

Good driving "is simply a state of mind," she said.

"As soon as anyone discovers how easy it is to handle a car, and how near an impossibility it is for an emergency to arise that cannot be met with little effort, when the simple mechanism of the modern car is mastered, one has learned about all there is to know in order to drive a car."

"Of course," she added, "one might know what to do under practically all conditions, and still not do it. That is where lots of women fail as good drivers; their fear of doing the wrong thing is so great that they do nothing at all."

The woman writer - driver went on to say that she had "yet to see any woman who has not been materially benefited by driving."

"The fresh air, the coordination of eye, mind, and muscle, the exhilaration of feeling that you are master of the powerful and yet tractable motor, and that it will answer your every whim, cannot help but have a beneficial effect on the nerves."

"In fact," she concluded, "driving is the best nerve tonic in the world."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Answers Letter
Editor of The Graphic:

In your issue of January 23 and again in that of January 30 you have published an anonymous letter, or its equivalent, attacking Newton Citizens for Education, I do not believe the community is well served by the publication of unsigned letters, regardless of the issue or the particular side of the issue which is taken by the letter writer. Because you did not publish the letters, however, I feel constrained to comment about some of the points raised in them.

In the letter appearing January 23 under the small headline "A Concerned Taxpayer", the correspondent implies that he (she) alone is concerned about the level of the tax rate in our community. He then states that the basic concern of Newton Citizens for Education "is that the Newton School Committee is not spending money — fast enough". This statement about the aims of NCE is absolutely untrue.

NCE is vitally interested in economy in the operation of our schools. In fact, this organization represents taxpayers of Newton who are very concerned about the cost of education in Newton. However, I believe this group is even more concerned with supporting a policy of fiscal responsibility in our school system.

I would define fiscal responsibility as the expenditure of enough money to provide the children of our community with the level of education and educational facilities which its citizens feel is adequate. Spending money for non-essential items is to be deplored. Equally deplorable, however, is the false economy of not spending enough to insure the high quality of our educational system.

The responsibility for determining what constitutes an "adequate level of education" obviously rests with the School Committee, which in turn is responsible to the electorate of Newton. The implementation of the policy decisions of the School Committee just as obviously rests with the school administration. Newton Citizens for Education has never expressed any desire to usurp the function of either the School Committee or the school administration.

The intent of NCE, as I understand it, is to develop as much information as possible about important educational issues so that the voters of Newton can make informed decision which in turn they will communicate to the School Committee.

NCE proposes to encourage the expression of opinions by all interested members of the community, not only those with a point of view similar to that expressed by School Committee members or other elected officials.

In his last paragraph "concerned taxpayer" asks where the concerned citizens are and why they have not raised their voices. I would suggest to him that many concerned citizens are indeed raising their voices and have chosen to do so through the forum provided by NCE.

As long as the citizens of Newton are free to form groups such as NCE there would not seem to be any conspiracy to deny concerned citizens a chance to be heard. If "concerned taxpayer" does not believe NCE answers any of his needs, I suggest that he form another group with others who feel as he does.

In this way he would be adding a constructive voice to the discussion rather than a discouraging and destructive one which belittles the attempt of other citizens to express their views.

Right here in Newton some of our fine residential streets are literally strewn with beer cans, bottles, cartons, papers of all kinds and you name it. These conditions exist in some of the better parts of our city where people live who are above average in income and education. Can't we somehow keep constantly at our citizens to keep their places clean.

Let's make our city what it used to be called, "The Garden City."

Holiday Trip Program Is Open for Registration

Registration will close tomorrow (Friday) for the Holiday Trip Program at the macaroni and cheese, croissant, Service quiches, etc.) and baked goods (baked beans, tostadas, pies, brownies, cookies, etc.). The trip program also has full day trips for the kids: Section C—Grades 2-6 will leave on Tuesday, February 18 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. for a tour of Schrafft's Candy Factory where children will watch cooking, mixing of colors, shaping, dipping and packaging of chocolates and hard candy. Samples of course. Children bring their own lunch and change in coin for drinks. At 2:00 p.m. the children will enjoy the Boston Children's Theatre production of The Pied Piper of Hamelin (a magical story based on Browning's poem about a young man, his pipe and an unpaid debt by a town infested with rats).

Section D—Grades Kinder-garten-6 will leave on Wednesday, February 19 from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for a manager's tour of behind-the-scenes work at New England's largest supermarket. Children will go behind the counters where they will see sides of beef coming out of freezer trucks and watch it being cut and ground into consumer portions; they will see produce unloaded, weighed and packaged; watch the stocking of shelves, checking, etc. Kids may bring $1.00 with them, if desired, with a shopping list of one to five items, and enjoy locating and checking out food themselves. In the past children have enjoyed shopping for their own dinner. All youngsters bring their own lunch, plus change for drink and goodies. There is a 2:00 p.m. matinee of the Charles Playhouse production of "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court." (This was originally scheduled on time schedule and interests of children, we will see Transparent Woman and Animal Shows (porcupine, snake or owl). This is a see and touch museum where kids can steer their own ship, hear their own telephone voices, play tic-tac-toe with a computer, handle animals during show times, etc.

The second half-day trip for this group will be on Friday, February 21 from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon. This is a trip to Howard Johnson's Ice Cream and Food Products Factory, where children will taste and tour both divisions seeing first, the pasteurizing, blending, cooling, covering and flavoring of bulk ice cream; and second, the preparation, packaging and total processes.

Section E—Grades Kinder-garten-6 will leave on Thursday, February 20, from 10:30 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. Children on these trips will attend a morning performance of "Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" also, by the Charles Playhouse. This is the story of how Samuel Clemens' Connecticut Yankee is transported through time and space from Hartford, U. S. A. to the magical era of King Arthur's Camelot and how he matches the feats of Merlin the Magician with a dazzling display of 20th century know-how. Children bring their own lunch, and change for drinks, and will continue with an afternoon tour of the John E. Cain potato chip factory where they will watch potatoes being peeled, sliced, washed, cooked, salted and packaged by machines. Samples are hot off the assembly line.

The director of these trips is Mrs. Murray Janower, Creative Art Director at the Community Center. She will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Rosman, an experienced group leader and social worker. All trips leave from the Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry street, West Newton, ON TIME. Parents are urged to register quickly as trips fill very fast. The registration deadline is 12 noon, this Friday, February 14, but many sections of the program are usually filled before this time. No telephone reservations can be accepted.

Newtonite Is Ticket Chairman For Nat'l Tennis Championships

Mrs. Harrison Rowbotham, Sr., of Waban, is serving as Ticket Chairman for the forthcoming 1969 Women's Indoor National Lawn Tennis Championships to be held at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center, February 19th through the 23rd.

Co-chairmen for this national event, formerly held at the Longwood Covered Courts in Chestnut Hill, are Thomas L. Raleigh, Jr. President of the Youth Tennis Foundation of New England and sports writer "Bud" Collins.

Newton tennis enthusiasts may be interested in several of the events affiliated with the tournament. On Tuesday, Feb. 18, a dinner and reception for the participants will be held at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center. This dinner-reception is open to the general public who are interested in personally meeting the girls.

On Saturday, Feb. 19, a Special Youth Day will be conducted at the Center affording all children under age eighteen an opportunity to participate in a tennis clinic under the direction of Professional Ken Tew and to win one of the hundred prizes that will be awarded.

Raleigh announced that, to date, several noted women amateur tennis players have indicated they will participate in the tournament. Among them are Peaches Bartkowicz, rated number six in this country; Kristy Pigeon, rated number seven; Stephanie DeFina, rated number nine; Patti Hogan, rated number ten; Cecilia Martinez, rated number eleven and many others. Heading the foreign players are: Astrid Suurbeek, Holland; Judith Salome, Wallwork, ALA safety director, said.

Holland; Esme Emanuel, South Africa and Judy Tegart, Australia. Julie Goldman, rated number two in this country, is a probable entry at this time.

ALA Says Beware Of Hitchhikers In Mini-Skirts

BOSTON — The Automobile Legal Association today urged motorists to ignore mini-skirted hitchhikers who, according to the ALA, are appearing in increasing numbers on the nation's highways. "These young girls present quite a temptation to some male drivers, but only a mindless motorist would give them a lift," Philip C. Wallwork, ALA safety director, said.

"Although she may be just a foolish girl looking for a ride home, you can't be sure. To find out could cost you your wallet, your car or even your life," Wallwork said.

Rep Mann Calls For Snow Removal Study

Theodore D. Mann, Republican of Newton, at the State House this week, in light of problems highlighted during the recent storm called for a study in depth by the Department of Public Works in conjunction with the Cities, Towns, M.D.C., and other Authorities for a determination as to how the snow removal could have been more effectively handled by coordinating all of the agencies of Government, including Civil Defense and National Guard.

Mann also stated that judging by the number of telephone calls he received it seemed to him that the Utility companies should also be included in any plan calling for emergency services to the residents of the Commonwealth.

Representative Mann stated,

Perhaps, Mann stated, we should attempt to better regulate the traffic flow in times where there is a definite prospect of a serious storm.

Mann also noted that due to the number of cars stalled on primary and secondary streets, which tends to impede the progress of the clean-up crews, there should be emergency parking areas so that the towing companies may store these vehicles off the streets and providing the towing companies a greater opportunity to service more efficiently.

"I am certain that there are opportunities to improve and I recommend that citizens write to me of the problems and I will forward their observations to the proper Governmental Agency," Representative Mann stated.

Performing Arts On Campus

Sacred Heart College To Start Series Feb. 15-16

Newton College of the Sacred Heart will inaugurate its new Performing Arts Series with a professional production of Edward Albee's controversial "Tiny Alice" Saturday and Sunday (Feb. 15 and 16) evenings on the College's Centre St., Newton, campus.

The production will be staged by the Newton Theatre Company, under the direction of Muriel Dolan, of Wellesley, at 8 p.m. in the Quonset Theatre.

Because of the controversial nature of "Tiny Alice," the audience will have an opportunity to discuss the play with the actors and director in an open forum after both performances.

Subscription tickets for the new Series — which will also include the "Ballet Close-Ups" of the Harkness House for Ballet (Monday, March 24) and a Bolthol Brass Ensemble concert (Sunday, May 4) — are now available. Further information may be obtained by calling the College at 332-6700.

The Newton Theatre Company, a professional company of Boston-based actors, is an offshoot of the Newton Sun-

DAV Dinner, Dance Slated For March 1

Past Cmdr. Joseph G. Bradley will be master of ceremonies at the Past Commanders' Dinner-Dance of the Disabled American Veterans to be held March 1 at 7 p.m. at the Elks Home.

Invited guests include Mayor Monte G. Basbas, former U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis, DAV State Dept. Cmdr. Horace G. Still, Auxiliary Cmdr. Ann Young and Carleton Merrill, veterans' agent for the City of Newton.

Grand Exalted Ruler Joseph Marucci is also invited.

Chairman of the event, Louis Maffiola, says he expects more than 20 Past Commanders of the chapter and four Past Commanders of the auxiliary to attend.

The public is invited to the dinner-dance, at which will be a top band, good food and entertainment, Mr. Maffiola said.

School Board Meeting Moves To February 24

A meeting of the Newton School Committee scheduled for Monday night was cancelled because of the storm.

The next regular School Board session will be held at 7:45 p.m. on Monday night, Feb. 24, in the Newton High School auditorium.

All the matters scheduled for consideration last Monday night will be on the Feb. 24 agenda. They will include the setting of the school calendar for the 1969-70 year and the elementary school lunch program issue.

Reports from various groups on the lunch program will be heard by the School Committee, but a decision on the matter will not be made until a later time.

Newtonite Is Made Director For Hub Fir

Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, Inc., Engineers, Boston, announce that Max D. Sorota of West Newton, has been elected a Director of the Corporation.

Mr. Sorota graduated from Tufts University in 1949 and received a Master's degree in Civil Engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1950.

He has had broad experience in the supervision of design and construction of port facilities and industrial buildings and in the preparation of economic feasibility studies for public works projects.

Mr. Sorota is a Fellow of the American Society of Civil Engineers and a member of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers and the Society of Sigma Xi. He is a registered professional engineer in Massachusetts and Vermont.

Taxpayer Assoc. Backs "Revolt" Plans In Newton

The Newton Taxpayers' Association directors voted this week to back the Newton and state-wide taxpayers' revolt.

Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., association executive, and Paul Stenberg, district coordinator of the state-wide revolt, in a joint statement said that the first important aim of the revolt is to convince Newton representatives and senators that there actually is substantial dissatisfaction among the voters with the tax situation and outlook in both the city and the state.

The second aim, they said, is to develop a continuing group to maintain the momentum generated by the revolt and to provide information and forums for discussion, decision and voter action.

Mr. Stenberg has appointed Alan MacNeil as operating leader of the revolt in Newton. Interested citizens can reach him by phone at 969-5629, and are urged to do so.

Newtonites Help Plan Crittenon League Affair

Mrs. James L. Richards of Waban is the local ticket chairman for the Fashion Show by the Florence Crittenon League of Greater Boston to be presented at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel on Wednesday (Feb. 26) by Jordan Marsh Co.

This Fashion Show, acclaimed by Harper's Bazaar as being one of the three most important fashion shows in the country, begins with a social hour at 11:30 in the Constitution Ballroom and is followed by a gourmet luncheon in the Grand Ballroom. Mrs. Alexander Welch of Waban is an advisor for this annual fund-raising event by the over 2,000 Circle members who help support Crittenon-Hastings Lab in Brighton, a refugee for women involved in out-of-wedlock pregnancy.

Last year the staff of doctors, nurses, social workers, homemakers and housemothers cared for 678 girls in residence and counselled 1,529 more.

The committee unanimously agreed to refer all similar bills to the next annual session.

Newtonite To Show Paintings At Beth Avodah

Mrs. Gretchen S. Sanderson, a resident of Newton, is displaying a group of her paintings in Hookset, N.H., for the month of February.

The paintings are on exhibition in the China Dragon Motor Inn which sponsors an art gallery on the second floor of the Motor Inn and Restaurant.

Her one man show includes oils, watercolors, collage, and mixed media, with subject matter varying from still life, landscape, semi-abstract, and floral themes.

Mrs. Gretchen S. Sanderson is director of English at North Newton at the Senior High School in Belmont, and has recently compiled a handbook on ideas with paper bags, and flat paper mache.

Presently he is assistant director of English at North Newton and will speak to members of the Beth Avodah congregation on "From Holy to Holy: Synagogue Chants Throughout The Year."

He received his appointment to the Post Office on Feb. 19, 1943.

Edward L. McHugh of 34 Thomas Road, Wellesley, recently retired as a career postal carrier at the Waban Post Office, according to Ephraim Martin, Postmaster.

He received his appointment to the Post Office on Feb. 19, 1943.

He has been a member of the Newton Senior Citizens Committee for three years, sponsors special events during the month of May in recognition of Senior Citizens Month. They have taken on the task of surveying Newton's population of residents 65 years of age or older this past year.

Anyone interested in attending the meeting should contact James C. Callahan, Senior Supervisor of the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc., at 969-5906.

They have two sons and a daughter.

School Lunches Is Focus

Newton Leaders Study Program In Watertown

Newton School Schools. There is a central Committee of Francis Frazier and Alvin Mandell, where food is prepared and several aldermen, the president of the PTA Council, Newton and Watertown sanitary engineers, the head dietician of the Newton schools, nine elementary school principals, lunch managers, aides, parents, and others from Newton attended two recent study tours of the Watertown Type A Lunch program in effect in the public schools there.

Charles A. Aubin, Jr., outlined his school lunch program point by point as follows:

1. The nutritious lunch is planned by a Director of Food Services which tends to develop good eating habits in young children as advocated by Dr. Jean Mayer and Dr. Frederick Stare of Harvard University. This training is important to the total educational picture.

2. The Watertown Program is subsidized by Federal and State Governments.

3. The cost for each child is $1.10 per week but buying this lunch is optional. Nearly everything is disposable. Lunches are neatly wrapped and milk comes in the cardboard cartons. This program cuts down on broken, leaking, insanitary thermos boxes and banging of locker doors.

4. Children bringing food from home are never restricted. This is left up to the judgement of the parents.

5. School begins at 8:30 and ends no later than 2:05, five days a week, a uniform schedule.

6. Each lunch period is a half hour long. There are three lunch shifts for each aide (about a 60-1 ratio). No one group is much greater than 23 children at one time per aide.

7. There are no cafeterias in the Watertown Elementary School, Walnut st., Newtonville.

Combined Brotherhood Breakfast Next Sunday

An illustrated discussion of "Castro — Cuba — 10 Years of Revolution" by Lee Lockwood will be the feature of the annual Combined Newton Brotherhood Breakfast on Sunday, Feb. 16 at 9:30 a.m.

The Council hopes to reach its sales goal of more than 300,000 boxes to aid its summer camp program, and to extend Red Feather financial support dollars.

Temple Shalom of Newton will be host to members and guests of Temples Beth Avodah, Emanuel, Mishkan Tefila and Reiyim.

A photographer and journalist, Lockwood is the only American correspondent to interview Castro personally in the last three years.

He met Castro during the revolution in 1959, spent a week with him in 1964 and another with him recently.

The Committee for Temple Shalom also includes Dr. Melvin Levin, Vice President; Harold Edinberg, Chairman; Marris Oshry and Dean Frieze, Food; Ralph Davis, Treasurer; Sidney Glazier, Secretary; Dr. Leonard Freedman and Cy Rock, Publicity; Henry Sollogub and Sam Rosen, Inter-Temples Liaison.

Newton Youths In Pops Concert Sunday, Feb. 16

Fifteen members from Newton of the Junior Youth Orchestra of Greater Boston will participate in a Scholarship Pops Concert this Sunday (Feb. 16) in Temple Mishkan Tefila, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Newton. This opening event of the season will begin at 3:30 p.m. with proceeds of the concert to benefit the Marvin Rabin Scholarship Fund for the assistance of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra, for camp scholarships and to assist members with the cost of music lessons.

The girls attended a religious service at Temple Emanuel in Newton on Friday evening (Jan. 24) and participated in the congregation's One Shabbat following the service, and later heard well-known speeches and an orientation to the conclave. A friendship circle was formed and Hebrew songs were sung.

Saturday morning the girls meet at Temple Emanuel to participate in a creative service planned by the coordinating committee of the conclave. After the service, a dramatic reading of a theme essay took place. The girls then broke up into seminars to discuss how the essay related to them. Following the seminars lunch was served. Following lunch, the seminar leaders reported to the group on the discussion that took place in their seminars.

In the evening a dance was held. Boys from several A. Z. Chapters in surrounding areas were invited.

Sunday morning, the girls met once again for the final time at Temple Beth El in Newton. Breakfast was served and goodbyes were said. After viewing films on Israel, the weekend closed with a friendship circle and the singing of songs.

Under the direction of Robert Corley, the program will include works by Bizet, Gershwin, Offenbach, Mozart and Wagner.

MARINES BATTLE HORDES OF NORTH VIETNAMESE ON RIDGES

Hordes of North Vietnamese troops were fought by U.S. Marines Wednesday on ridges overlooking the A. Shau Valley. At least 196 Communists were killed while American artillery exchanged gunfire with Red gunners across the Laotian border. A mass grave believed to contain the bodies of 185 Communists killed earlier was uncovered by the Marines. The fighting was the heaviest around the valley since 5,000 Marines and 2,000 government troops pushed into the surrounding jungle peaks a month ago.

EAST GERMANS WARN LUEBKE'S FLIGHT WOULD BE 'PROVOCATION'

THE PLANNED FLIGHT of West German President Heinrich Luebke aboard a U.S. Air Force plane to West Berlin would be a "provocation," East Germans warned Wednesday. They also harassed traffic going in and out of the city for the second successive day. Luebke is flying to Berlin for a two-day routine visit. In an obvious reference to West Germany's plans to hold its presidential elections in Berlin on March 5, an East German spokesman said Bonn's efforts to "annex" West Berlin would meet with "unavoidable" consequences.

ISRAELI MINISTER HINTS AT REPRISAL FOR ZURICH INCIDENT

AN ISRAELI MINISTER said Wednesday the Arab governments, particularly Lebanon, must shoulder "full responsibility" for the Arab guerrilla attack on an El Al jetliner in Switzerland Sunday. Israeli Transport Minister Moshe Carmel, hinting at possible reprisal, also warned Arab states that Israel will not tolerate guerrilla attacks on its civilian airliners anywhere in the world. He said Israel "will take all precautions possible to ensure the safety of our planes in the skies and at airfields." An Arab spokesman in Cairo said Egypt expected an Israeli reprisal over the Zurich incident. Arab authorities tightened security at Beirut, Damascus, Cairo and Amman.

SWISS GOVERNMENT CONDEMS ARAB TERRORIST ATTACK

THE TERRORIST attack on an Israeli airliner in Switzerland was condemned by the Swiss government Wednesday. The statement called for international sanctions against "aerial piracy and other attacks against air travel." Zurich officials said the Arabs arrested after the attack face charges of attempted murder—a life sentence—endangering air traffic and illegal use of explosives.

NIXON PLEDGES CONGRESS HE'LL CONTINUE WAR ON POVERTY

IN HIS FIRST MESSAGE to Congress, President Nixon Wednesday pledged to continue the war on poverty, but said he intends to try to learn from mistakes of the past to find better ways to help the poor. Nixon asked the lawmakers to extend the controversial Office of Economic Opportunity that he inherited from the Johnson administration. He proposed, however, that OEO be made a research and experimental agency that proposes and tries out new approaches rather than administers the main assault on poverty. "Poverty," the President said "cannot and will not be treated lightly or indirectly or without the most searching examination of how best to marshal the resources available to the federal government for combatting it."

GARRISON CANCELS TESTIMONY BY FORMER GOV. CONNALLY

TESTIMONY by former Texas Gov. John Connally at the trial of Clay L. Shaw in New Orleans was cancelled Wednesday by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison. A prosecutor said Connally was now considered a "hostile witness." Garrison produced a construction worker who said he heard two kinds of gunfire when President John F. Kennedy was murdered in Dallas, and saw three men "escaping" from Dealey Plaza—but "shut my mouth" about it at the request of the FBI. Another witness said Shaw, who is charged with plotting Kennedy's murder, once signed his name "Clay Bertrand" in an airport lounge.

SEARCH PARTIES STRUGGLE TO FIND DOWNED AIRLINER

A 70-MAN ground party in a fleet of jeeps and wide-track vehicles struggled through rain and snow in western Nevada Wednesday in search of an airliner missing with 35 persons aboard. The area is dotted with peaks rising more than 14,000 feet. The Air Force sent up four search planes despite stormy weather. The airliner has been missing since Monday night.

COURT UPHOLDS RIGHT OF SCHOOL TO EXPEL DISSIDENTS

THE SIXTH U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Wednesday upheld the right of colleges and universities to expel students for conduct promoting student unrest. The court ruled institutions of higher learning could expel students for conduct which "promotes student unrest and disrupts normal educational activities." The court upheld the decision of the U.S. District Court in Nashville, Tenn., which ruled that all-Negro Tennessee A&I had the right to regulate student conduct. The appeal was made by three former students who were expelled from the school in October, 1967.

YOUTH SERVICE BOARD HEAD DENIES 'INHUMANITY' CHARGES

ALLEGATIONS of inhumane treatment at the Institute for Juvenile Guidance at Bridgewater were denied Wednesday by the director of the Youth Service Board. The accusations were made by a group calling itself the Committee for Youth in Trouble. The group stated in a letter to Gov. Francis W. Sargent that the "basic philosophy is essentially punitive" and charged that a 14-year-old boy had been confined alone for 180 out of 360 days last year. The director, John Coughlin, said, "This is an absolute and unmitigated lie." He said William Sears has been superintendent for only five months, so simple arithmetic shows he could not have done anything of the kind. Coughlin said the institute was not punitive, but "an effort to save juvenile offenders from having to go to prison later." He said the committee existed only for the purpose of supporting a former assistant superintendent who was fired last year from his job at the Bridgewater institution.

MURDER SUSPECTS REFUSE TO WAIVE RENDITION

THREE HAVERHILL MEN wanted in connection with a gangland-style New Hampshire murder refused Wednesday to waive rendition. They were ordered held without bail in Haverhill District Court and their cases were postponed to March 25. The trio—Robert A. Dematteo, 28; his brother, Antonio, 41, and Joseph A. Danese, 33—were accused of killing William H. Dougherty, 41, whose body was found by a motorist beside the Exeter-Hampton Turnpike in New Hampshire Sunday night. Dougherty had been shot three times in the head and once in the chest. The three men were arrested by state police on fugitive warrants.

College Losing 'Mr. Chips', Newton Native

Bowdoin College students are going to be losing their "Mr. Chips."

For Prof. George H. "Pat" Quinby, the Newton native who has been Bowdoin's director of dramatics for more than three decades, is going to retire.

He has been a member of the Brunswick, Maine, college Department of English for almost 35 years. He will retire on June 30.

In a statement, President Roger Howell, Jr., said, "Professor Quinby's contributions to drama at Bowdoin have been many and varied. To his stage productions he brought knowledge, discipline and pace."

"Both the town and the college have benefitted greatly from his labors. An en-

Close To 3000 Affirm "Open Housing" Policy

Close to 3,000 Newton households have affirmed their commitment to an "open occupancy" housing policy for their community by signing the statement of the Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights to this effect, it was announced today by Mrs. Alan Korman of West Newton, chairman of the group's educational subcommittee, which conducted the signature campaign throughout the city.

Emphasizing in her report her organization's satisfaction with the results of the campaign, Mrs. Korman pointed out that signers approximately ten per cent of Newton's households, even though all sections of the city were not covered equally intensively by her subcommittee.

Actually, according to Mrs. Korman, most of the solicitors indicated that signatures were obtained from between 60 to 70 per cent of those approached.

Participation of Newton's churches and synagogues in the campaign was gratifyingly high, Mrs. Korman added. A majority of the city's clergy of all three faiths read the open occupancy statement to their congregations at services held during the November 16th weekend last year, and a number of them also used it as the text for their sermons that week.

Shea Calls For Citizen Roles In City Planning

A resolution containing 11 points which Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., will seek to have incorporated into the survey and planning application for federal funds to begin an urban renewal project at Newton Corner will be presented for approval to the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Shea reported that the resolution will be submitted to the board together with the survey and planning application, probably in a month. Hopefully, Shea said, it will be included as part of the recommendations of the Aldermanic City Planning Committee and the Newton Corner Project Area Committee.

The 11 points call for citizen participation in the planning and for safeguards against haphazard demolition of structures and relocation of citizens. The 11 points also guarantee that those persons displaced will have first chance to move back into the area.

Shea said the Newton Corner Project Area Committee has accepted the resolution in principle but has not yet formally voted on it.

He said in his resolution the "members of the Project Area Committee known as the Newton Corner Citizens' Participation Committee does not at this time oppose the Board of Aldermen's authorization of the Newton Redevelopment Authority to file the Survey and Planning Application with the stipulation that certain ground rules be followed by the Newton Redevelopment Authority during the preparation of the Urban Renewal Plan."

The application for $287,000 in federal funds to prepare plans for the renewal project has been delayed for more than two years because of opposition by residents of the area.

If the aldermen accept Shea's resolution, it could mean a major breakthrough in getting the application on its way.

The 11 points include:

— That the Newton Redevelopment Authority recognize the Newton Corner Citizens' Participation Committee as the official Project Area Committee for the Newton Corner Project Area.

— That the Redevelopment Authority plan with, consult with, cooperate with, and coordinate with the members of the Newton Corner Citizens' Participation Committee in the preparation of the renewal plan.

— That the specified clearance area be the only area designated for demolition in the final renewal plan except for the spot clearance for the purpose of removing individ-

Retiring After 17 Years

Bowen School PTA To Fete Principal

A reception and farewell program in honor of Edward M. Clarke retiring principal of the Bowen School, is being held at the school on Sunday afternoon (March 2) by the Bowen Parent-Teacher Association.

Mr. Clarke, principal at Bowen the past 17 years, will be succeeded by John Guglielmi, head teacher who will be acting principal for the remainder of the year.

The program will begin at 2:30 with a musical presentation by the entire 6th grade and faculty to be followed with remarks by Dr. James Laurits, Superintendent of Newton Public Schools.

A song, Echo from 1952, will be sung with a presentation of gifts to follow. Refreshments will be served.

In recognition of Mr. Clarke's years of leadership, many of his friends and associates are joining together in presentation of gifts to him and to the school in his name.

Undergraduates are selected for the National honorary scholastic society on the basis of high academic standing and must be in the top 10 percent of their class.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

U Mass Demonstrators Don't Deserve Aid From Taxpayers

It's about time to face up to the facts and to report that the great majority of college demonstrators are a lot of ill-mannered, unkempt slobs who don't display enough intelligence to warrant their presence in a university classroom.

Never was this more clearly evident than in the recent attempted student sit-in at the University of Massachusetts.

Perhaps fearing stern reaction from Beacon Hill if they did not act swiftly, university officials had 33 students, including seven girls and a number of others who looked like girls, arrested and hauled off to jail by state troopers.

This is precisely what should have been done except that it should have been done more quickly.

In a Northampton courtroom a number of the demonstrators and their companions displayed the manner in which they are benefiting from the higher education they are receiving, largely at public expense.

Policy

Persons signing the Fair Housing Committee's statement have publicly placed themselves on record as willing without reservation to welcome to Newton "good neighbors" of any racial, religious, or ethnic background, and to allow their names to be filed with Newton's realtors as evidence of the strong support existing in the city for the principle of complete "open occupancy" in the housing field.

The support achieved for this principle by the Fair Housing Committee through the signature drive will, it is expected, be used by the group as the basic for future membership growth and programming.

More than 100 persons worked actively to obtain signatures during the drive, which was launched officially on Sunday, November 17th, 1968, and carried on through the first few days of the New Year.

The following district captains coordinated the campaign in various sections of the city: Mrs. Anne Marie Carleo of West Newton; Mrs. Ena Lorant of Newtonville; Mrs. Cydney Stoler of Auburndale; Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Heck of Newton Highlands; Mrs. Michael Dohan of Newton Centre; Mrs. Paula Thier of Newton Centre; Mrs. Carol Bikofsky of Newton Lower Falls; Mrs. Gretchen Rogers of Newton Corner; Mrs. Hilda Paisner of Waban; and Craig McKenna of Newtonville.

Mrs. Korman, in expressing her appreciation and that of the entire Newton Fair Housing Committee to the campaign solicitors, urged those workers who still have not turned in all their signed statements to mail them to her at P.O. Box 74, Auburndale, 02166, or to inform Mrs. Lincoln Heck by calling 969-5596.

She noted also that persons who wish to sign the open occupancy statement may still do so. Blank copies may be obtained by writing to her at the post office box listed above or by calling Mrs. Heck. Although the intensive phase of the campaign has been completed, Mrs. Korman's subcommittee will welcome additional signatures.

ANNOUNCE CONCERT PLANS—Friends of the Boston Association for Retarded Children will present television and recording star Tom Jones in concert at Boston's Music Hall on May 19th. Planning the benefit performance are, left to right, Mrs. Harvey Levites, of Wellesley, president of group; Mrs. Melvin Ravech, Chestnut Hill, Newton, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Alan Grover, Newton Centre, chairman. Comedy star Nipsey Russell will be co-featured with Jones.

Newtonite To Attend His 50th Lincoln Day Dinner

Lincoln Day Dinners are as practicing attorney in Boston, commonplace throughout the nation as solitary tributes paid to the Great Emancipator. Few such dinners are as prestigious and rooted in time as the one sponsored annually by the Middlesex Club of Massachusetts.

The club, which started the nation-wide tradition of holding dinners honoring Lincoln 102 years ago, will convene again tomorrow Friday. Principal speaker is U.S. Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

One of the more prominent club members is Daniel Needham of 343 Highland st., Newton Upper Falls, a retired U.S. Army General and now a thirsty and beloved faculty member, he has more than left his mark on the college that he has served so well."

Professor Quinby is a 1923 graduate of Bowdoin, where he was prominent in dramatic, literary and athletic activities and joined Psi Upsilon Fraternity. He appeared in numerous campus stage productions and was the first Bowdoin undergraduate to direct a play.

He was a staff member of the "Orient," student newspaper, and the "Quill," Bowdoin's literary magazine.

He played varsity football and served as captain and coach of Bowdoin fencing teams, which he also coached in later years as a faculty member.

During his Bowdoin student days Professor Quinby also appeared in many off-campus productions. He joined Equity, the professional actors' organization, General Needham's father, one of the original founders of the club, was president during one of the most memorable dinners when the then president Ulysses S. Grant addressed the gathering.

Needham himself was president of the club for four years and two years ago was named the club's "man of the century."

He is also one of three to receive his Master's Degree in Guidance and Personnel Services from the same college.

Mr. Mosher also holds an associate degree in Engineering from Syracuse University. He also attended City College of New York.

From 1942-1946 Mosher served with the 5th Air Force, and spent most of his Service time in the Pacific Islands.

From 1946 to 1959, Mosher worked in a time study engineering and drafting designing position for the Heywood-Wakefield Company, Gardner, and Worcester Diamond T. Sales Corporation.

Graduating from Temple, Massachusetts, High School, in 1942, Mr. Mosher went to work for the Florence Stove Company Foundry, while taking LaSalle University extension courses in time-keeping and time study work.

In 1955, Mosher guided a successful campaign for $250,000 for the Keene Y.M.C.A. Endowment Fund.

He is also active in Y.M.C.A. Industrial Management, Rotary Club, Ministerial Association, editorial writer for a weekly newspaper, member of the International Committee of the Y.M.C.A., World Service Income and Educational Committee, sings with the Keene Barbershoppers, and is on the Board of Christian Education for the United Church of Christ.

Mr. Mosher will commence work at the Newton Y.M.C.A. on March 3.

The event will be held at the Statler Hilton beginning at 6:45 p.m.

Chairman of the dinner, which is open to the public, is Barnett N. Samuels of 60 Browne st., Brookline. Tickets may be purchased through the chairman.

Gordon Named Treasurer Of Z'Chor Foundation Drive

Allen L. Gordon, prominent Newton and Boston businessman of Prentice road, Newton, has been named treasurer of the Z'Chor Memorial Foundation, according to Israel Nieman, Foundation president.

The Z'Chor Foundation is set to begin a campaign which will culminate in the construction of a monument in Boston to commemorate the six million Jewish persons slaughtered in Europe during Hitler's reign of terror.

The drive is scheduled to begin next month.

The campaign has a two-phase goal: (1) the construction of a bronze sculpture to memorialize the martyrs of the holocaust, and (2) to construct a living memorial in the form of an open-air amphitheater, museum, library or all-faiths chapel which would be given to the city.

Mr. Gordon is president of Long active in philanthropic activities, he has served as New England co-chairman of the Israel Histadruth Campaign, as a member of the executive board of the National Committee for Labor Israel and as secretary of Spirit Lodge, B'nai B'rith.

He is also a member of the corporation of the Cardinal Cushing Hospital in Nazareth.

Mr. Gordon is secretary and director of the Capitol Bank and Trust Co. and is an honorary alumnus of Franklin Pierce College, Ringe, N.H.

Spearheading the drive are more than 2,400 families throughout the state who were either survivors of Nazi concentration camps or victims of the Russian persecution during the period of the Nazi-Russian alliance in the World War II era.

Addition To The Family Is Apache Tot From Ariz.

A Newtonville couple with seven children had an addition point they seemed to be contrary to the family last week - a little Apache Indian boy from couples only but today their attitude has changed for they know the criterion in an adoption is love."

Mr. and Mrs. John T. O'Brien, of 66 Prescott st., adopted four-year-old Timmy and there is plenty of love through the New England and company in his O'Brien Home for Little Wanderers, household. All of the O'Briens and that institution would like youngsters from 16-year-old Michael down to four-year-old example of the O'Briens and Christopher have taken the little brown-eyed, raven-haired boy to their hearts.

Mrs. Mary O'Brien, 37, said she adopted Timmy because "I wanted another child of my own but didn't think if fair to Liam, 11, Connaught, 7, and my teenagers to go through the long, tiring phase of pregnancy again. She added, "The other O'Brien children are Kathleen, 15, Sean, 13, Liam, 11, Connaught, 7, and my teenagers to go through the long, tiring phase of pregnancy again. They have devoted much time to activities. They are members of the Families and I'm not peppy when I'm pregnant, so John and I decided to adopt an interracial Newman House, a teen-age center in Newton. Mrs. Mary said she tried to adopt O'Brien is also past president of a baby "even after my fourth of the Boston Association for child," but the social worker Childbirth Education.

"Taxpayers' Revolt"

Kicking about taxes has always been a favorite pastime of U.S. citizens. But, even as they gripe, they have paid. That is why the tax collection system from the federal level down to the smallest community has worked. By and large, the people acknowledge the necessity of taxes and cooperate to the best of their ability with the taxing authorities.

Of late, however, the tone of the grumbling against taxes has taken on a more serious note. Many are beginning to wonder how far the taxpayers can be pushed without impairing the voluntarism that make any tax system work.

In Massachusetts, the taxpayers have been pushed quite a way — witness the "Taxpayers' Revolt." This was begun at the grassroots level by a housewife in Hudson and caught on like wildfire. The "Revolt" began after Gov. Francis W. Sargent announced the state budget and that new taxes would have to be levied to support it.

The "Revolt" paid off in that it brought pressure to bear on Gov. Sargent to veto the 25 percent pay raise state legislators voted themselves.

Many thought the 25 percent pay hike was excessive, especially for what is deemed essentially a part time job. Perhaps it was. But legislators justified the raise by pointing to the whopping pay raises Congress handed out.

In a time when the entire country is worrying about spiraling taxes and insidious inflation, members of Congress blithely boosted salaries from $30, to $42,500 a year. There was no great outcry from the American taxpayers when that happened; no "Taxpayers' Revolt." So, truly, can we blame our legislators for cutting themselves in for a piece of the action?

Of course, our native "Taxpayers' Revolt" is not in fact a real revolt. It is an expression of opinion. A real revolt would be non-payment of taxes. No one knows precisely when and under what conditions excessive taxation may set off a genuine "Taxpayers' Revolt."

In the opinion of many concerned citizens, however, it apparently can happen when the balance between the instincts of self-preservation and duty to country become weighted on the side of self-preservation. Then people are liable to forget that duty to country and self-preservation are two sides of the same coin.

Nixon's Acid Test

As other presidents before him, President Nixon is being given the acid test by the Soviet Union. They want to test his will and determination just as they tested the will and determination of Presidents Truman and Kennedy.

The test will come shortly in West Berlin where East Germany said it will bar all members of the West German Federal Assembly from traveling across East German territory to take part in the presidential election scheduled for March 5.

Bonn announced it would defy the travel ban by flying in its electors. Military leaders of the Soviet bloc met and decided that war games scheduled for much later in the year will be moved up. That means troops and planes will be available to harass West Berlin's land and air lanes.

President Nixon is set to visit West Berlin six days before the controversial election. He is committed to the visit and cannot cancel it.

Diplomatic observers say for him to cancel the visit in the face of threats would be to damage the position of West Germany. Cancellation would be interpreted as a sign of weakness by the Soviet bloc, and the pressure would be increased.

Thus, President Nixon faces the acid test. He will not back down either in his visit or in support of Bonn's position that their electors have a perfect right in West Berlin. The situation is volatile.

Political Highlights -

Some of the male students—if we can use the term—kept their hats on in the courtroom. Others smoked in the court. Three girl students showed up in dungarees.

The court clerk told them they were guests of the court and had to conduct themselves "like ladies and gentlemen." That, of course, was absurd and asking the impossible. He apparently is some kind of a nut.

Subsequently, the clerk ordered police to remove any students who refused to take off their hats or stop smoking. Eventually, he had to open all the windows on a chilly morning to "fumigate" the place so badly had the students smelled the Students who undertook to show off in court were warned by the judge that they would be held in contempt and placed in jail if they persisted. He should have thrown a couple of them in the clink right then and there.

Seven girls were cautioned by the jurist that the next time they appeared before him they were to wear dresses. Imagine it being necessary to impart that information to a college student!

This writer can sit back and await the outcome of a demonstration at privately endowed universities such as Columbia and Brandeis.

But when it comes to a state-operated university here in Massachusetts, which is being subsidized by my taxes and where fortunate students are getting an education at bargain basement prices, that's something else again.

One reason taxes are so high in Massachusetts is that we are subsidizing a lot of universities, colleges and junior colleges.

We're willing to continue paying our quota as long as it is being put to good use in helping to provide education for deserving students.

But if slovenly college students, girls in dirty dungarees and boys who look like girls want to demonstrate and stage sit-ins, they can do it at their own expense, not at ours.

Speaking of taxpayer revolts, we'd like to organize an association of prospective pickets who would be ready to get out their signs and march around the administrative office of any publicly financed university where students are permitted to demonstrate, hold a sit-in or otherwise disrupt things for the boys and girls who do appreciate the opportunity to get an education they might not otherwise be able to afford.

Whatever punishment is handed out in court to the 33 students, the university officials should expel them, and members of the Legislature should insist that they do.

The university chaplain who was arrested at his own request so he could accompany the students for booking also merits the heave-ho. He could have done whatever he had to do at the police station without getting himself arrested.

He probably has a soft touch at the university. Let him find one off the college campus.

The tax dollars which run those state colleges and universities just don't come that easily.

If we're going to have taxpayer revolts, let's prepare a real good rebellion for those students who do not appreciate the educational opportunities the hard-pressed taxpayers of Massachusetts are providing for them.

Gov. Sargent Now Running Against State Legislature

Governor Francis W. Sargent is a candidate for election to a full four-year term in the Governorship in his own right.

He will not know who his Democratic adversary will be until after the primaries in September of next year.

For the present he is running and campaigning against the State Legislature.

This is a reasonably safe strategy and one pursued by John A. Volpe in the days when he was cultivating voter support and looking ahead to running in another election.

Surveys have shown that the average voter likes his own State Senator and Representative, whom he knows and can call upon for help in an emergency.

But for some reason he considers the law-makers from other districts "a lot of bums" even though they perform just about the same service for the people of their sectors.

This is one of the strange phenomena of politics. It is probably due to the fact that the average legislator receives recognition and publicity in his own district for what he does but usually is publicized only in a critical way outside his home area.

So Governor Sargent was on sound political ground when he vetoed the proposed $2500-a-year pay raise for the legislators and indicated that their compensation should be boosted only about $1000 or $1500 annually.

The saving the State would realize if the salary hike were reduced from $2300 to $1500 would be in the vicinity of $300,000.

From a tax standpoint that is hardly worth talking about.

Nevertheless, Sargent, by vetoing the legislative pay raise bill, projected the image of a Governor who looked the law-makers squarely in the eye and said "No".

He's the good guy standing bravely against the bad guys as he tries to save the people's money.

No great political risk is involved because the legislators cannot afford to have it appear that they scuttled any part of Sargent's program in reprisal for his veto of the pay raise measure.

House Speaker David Bartley gave assurances that Sargent's proposals will be considered strictly on their merits.

You may be sure, however, that the rug will be pulled from under Sargent of the opportunity presents itself and if it can be made to appear that it was really Sargent who slipped.

To some extent, at least, the members of the Legislature are to blame for the public furore which erupts every two years over the pay raise issue.

In order to avoid the absurd and meaningless referenda which have been held in the past on legislative salary standards, the law-makers have been voting themselves pay raises on a two-year basis.

Last year, for instance, they were receiving $10,000. At the close of the year their pay reverted back to $5200. That obviously is inadequate compensation although some people will still argue that it's too much.

So now the legislators must vote themselves a $4800 a year boost just to stay even.

Whatever they vote in excess of a $10,000 annual salary is actually a raise although not everyone realizes this.

If there is public confusion over the amount of the legislative pay hike, the Senators and Representatives are at least partly responsible.

They make the issue a subject of debate every two years.

The rank and file of voters blame the legislators for the abuses under the Welfare and Medicaid programs.

That may not be altogether fair, but the lawmakers should do something to curb the chiseling and cheating in the two programs.

It is a fact, of course, that some persons do demand new programs and new services by the state, but then protest lustily when taxes are levied to pay the bills.

Meanwhile, Governor Francis W. Sargent has set up a big straw man as his opponent and is running full blast against it.

Ex. Gov. Peabody Intends To Stay On Sideline In '70

Former Governor Endicott Peabody does not presently intend to seek any elective office next year.

Peabody made that statement in response to a question when he emerged recently from new City Hall.

He has law offices in both Boston and Washington, and his current plan is to devote himself to his law practice and stay out of politics in 1970.

If Peabody holds to the intention, it will be the first state election since 1952 in which he has not been a candidate for some office.

He was elected to the Governor's Council in 1954, was an unsuccessful candidate for Attorney General in 1956 and 1958 and for Governor in 1960.

In 1962 he was elected Governor and in 1964 was defeated for renomination in the Democratic primary. Peabody won the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate in 1966 but then was defeated by Edward W. Brooke in the final election.

He says he thinks he will stay out of the political wars next year, at least as an actual combatant.

White Makes It Definite He's Running For Governor

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White made it pretty definite last Sunday that he will be a candidate for the Governorship next year.

In answering questions on a televised panel show, White declared that his decision to run for Governor is not irrevocable.

But his statements created a strong impression that it would take an extremely important development to cause him to change his mind.

White will be the first Boston Mayor to seek election as Governor since the late Maurice J. Tobin won the office in 1944.

It has been apparent for a number of years that the Governorship was White's prime political goal.

The 39-year-old Mayor will not lack for opponents next year. State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell all would like to serve as the next Governor.

It's much too early yet to have any idea how the lines would be drawn in either a Democratic convention or primary fight between those contenders.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR*Answers Letters

Why is it that people assume they have the right to make judgments for other people? Last week, you published three letters on the subject of the lunch program and single session. In each of these letters, the writer expressed his own point of view, but in so doing, made assumptions about other people's motives to prove his point.

Mrs. Fraser stated that "Most homes in Newton are within easy walking distance of an elementary school." My home is not — nor are almost 10% of the homes in this school area. Our children must walk almost a mile. During these cold, unpredictable winter months, I have been grateful that my child has the opportunity to remain in school. During the warmer months, I am equally grateful, as the walking route is hazardous and he is 50% safer than he was last year.

In essence, each of us has a right to make a judgment. I am strongly in favor of a uniform day which allows for a cold lunch program, but for my own unique reasons. And I would very much like to have the School Committee consider all the unique reasons, rather than those of an articulate few. Isn't it time for the School Committee to think about why it is that so many hundreds of families signed up for an optional lunch program? There are, most likely, as many personal reasons for support of the program as there are families.

Isn't the real issue the fact that these Newton families responded from need? I don't know how much more clearly a citizens group can spell out a mandate for change.

Mrs. Brick stated: "The Working Mothers' children are left by themselves on Tuesdays and Thursdays, while their classmates go home . . . which psychologically is very un-

Galligan Commends Edison Workers During Emergency

Boston Edison President Tom Galligan, whose Waban home was in darkness through much of last week's devastating northeaster, had a word to say about Edison workers. "Some of our people," said Galligan, "worked as much as 80 hours with only a few catnaps snatched now and then. They slept on cots in our service centers or curled up on desks. Many didn't get home for three days."

Frank Staszeky, of Newton, executive vice president and the "Generalissimo" of the restoration effort, said that many people had already lauded the line crews who battled snow drifts, unplowed streets and bone-chilling cold through three nights and days to get the power back on. "These were our front-line men," said Staszeky, "and we're proud of the job they did. They're the ones the people see, but backing them up were hundreds of others who did their jobs with equal dedication."

Staszeky told of one man - Dick Kilmore of Quincy - called to duty at Edgar Station in North Weymouth. "Dick's car was buried in snow - he couldn't beg or buy a taxi. He fought his way on foot through about four miles of drifts so he could be where he was needed."

Staszeky cited another case, that of John Monahan who lives in Medford and was unable to get out at all when summoned Sunday night. "He showed up Monday morning," said Staszeky. "He had walked nine miles from Medford to our Waltham Service Center. 'He's a truckman and we sure were glad to see him.'"

Back at the Company's Prudential Center offices there was a jam-up because only the service elevator was working. Edison officials called the Prudential Security people. They rounded up a Westinghouse man who came in from the snow-clogged suburbs to activate a bank of elevators so the Edison workers could more readily get to the five floors they occupy high up in the Pru Tower.

On the 33rd floor of the Tower where the Company's phone crews were manning the 96 trunk lines answering customer calls, one high note of irony occurred. An irate caller wanted to know why he couldn't have his lights back on. "They're on in Canton - why not in Jamaica Plain?"

The young lady was doing her best to explain that restoration was taking place in an orderly manner - something about primary circuits first, and so on and so forth. It was the kind of question and the kind of understandingly upset

Clergymen Take Part Here In Ecumenical Discussion

The Church as an Instrument of Social Improvement" was the topic of a recent Newton Study Group Meeting held at the home of Wigmore A. Pierson, 101 Walker street, Newtonville.

Three clergymen, Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr. of the Eliot Church of Newton, and Rev. Fathers Peter Kehane and James Dagnum of Holy Cross Cathedral of Boston's South End were the meeting leaders.

The discussion touched upon the burning question of Papal Infallibility and excessive hierarchical authority in social Roman Catholic Church, and service activities and involvement with contemporary political issues that would seem to have important moral implications.

It was felt that with greater independence for priests, an increased involvement on the part of laymen, the place of the Catholic Church in modern life would be greatly enhanced.

All of the participating clergymen agreed that real Christianity consists in putting into action the principles on which their respective faiths are based. This implies a very active role in social unrest on the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and the principle of civil disobedience.

The meeting program chairman was William P. Marchione, Jr., 22 Whittemore road, Newton.

Participants in the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Michael W. Daly, Father James Dagnum, Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr., Miss Mary Hennessey, Paul Horovitz, Father Peter Kehane, Wigmore A. Pierson, William P. Marchione, Jr., Mrs. Marge Pittman, and Miss Asia Rial.

While the clergy found themselves in almost total agreement on the issues discussed, the meeting was not without an element of discord. At least one of the participants, Michael W. Daly, harshly criticized the clergymen for encouraging disobedience to authority. It was his view that without authority the very fabric of our society would unravel. He blamed the current social hierarchy for its social problems.

Jean Steinman To Holland With
The Experiment

Jean Sayre Steinman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott M. Steinman of 11 Doris Circle, Newton, will live abroad with a family in Holland this summer under the Experiment in International Living program.

A senior at Newton High School, Miss Steinman will enroll in a special 17-day course in oral Dutch, given by the Experiment just prior to her departure. During these 100 hours of instruction, she will meet the ten other members of her Experiment group and will discuss and learn the customs and culture of Holland.

Jean and her fellow Experimenters will live with individual families in their host country for a month. During the last three weeks in Holland, she and her group will invite members of their host families to join them for an extensive travel period throughout Holland. Seeing the host nation through the eyes of its nationals is a special feature of Experiment programs.

Experiment in International Living has been engaged in international education exchange since 1932 and is now the most well-established program of its type in the world with representatives in more than 60 countries. Annually some 5,000 young men and women are exchanged between the United States and the 100 participating nations around the globe. Headquarters of this private, non-profit organization is in Putney, Vt.

Miss Sandra Colony Bride

Of Mr. Sherwood D. Kelley

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Colony of Lexington and Strafford, N.H., which makes known the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Sandra Douglas Colony, to Sherwood Daniel Kelley. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kelley of Plainfield, N.J.

The 8 o'clock evening ceremony took place at the Pilgrim Congregational Church, Lexington, was performed by the Rev. Richard Lund. The Brae Burn Country Club, West Newton, was the setting for the reception.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. John M. Colony of Newton Centre and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and the late Mr. Colony and of Mr. Charles Z. Adams of Newton Centre and the late Mrs. Adams.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. John M. Colony of Newton Centre and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and the late Mr. Colony and of Mr. Charles Z. Adams of Newton Centre and the late Mrs. Adams.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's full length empire gown was fashioned of re-embroidered Alencon lace on English net designed with ruffles at the high neckline and edge of the long sleeves. Silk satin bordered the hemline and chapel length train.

A becoming lace cluster headpiece held in place her full length silk illusion veil.

She carried a bouquet of gardenias, white sweetheart roses, boudoiria and variegated baby's breath.

Biafran Relief Resolution Is Adopted by House

A House resolution commanding the Massachusetts interfaith effort to save the victims of the Nigerian-Biafran conflict has been organized and co-sponsored by Representative H. James Shea Jr. of Newton and was unanimously adopted by the Massachusetts House of Representatives last week.

The resolution reads:

"Whereas the interfaith effort to save the victims of the Nigerian-Biafran conflict in dedicating February 13th and 16th of Brotherhood Week as Biafra Relief Weekend; and Whereas, The overall purpose of the Biafra Relief Weekend is to inform the public of an urgent humanitarian need; and Whereas, The intent of the weekend of February 15th and 16th is to set aside a time of prayer and public appeal by churches, temples and individuals for this great humanitarian need; therefore

Compass Club Meets

The Compass Club of Newton will hold its annual Guest Day meeting on Friday, February 21st, at 1 p.m.

This event will be held at The Workshop and all members may invite a guest. Refreshments will be served followed by an afternoon of bridge.

Those participating were, Nancy Staudinger, acrobat from Arlington, Maureen O'Donnell - musical comedy soloist from Somerville, Janice Shocker - acrobat from Somerville, Franny Gentile - accordionist from Waltham, Karen Juliano accordionist from Watertown, Ellie DuFours, tap dancer from Lexington, Tommie Wigmore, musical act from Dedham, Peal Castor, soprano from Somerville.

Mrs. Samuel Rosen of Waltham is Activities Director.

Eddie Lyons, of 56 Eldridge Street, Newton, arranged a Vaudeville Show for the patients at the Chetwynde Nursing Home, West Newton, last week. Mr. Lyons has been involved in this activity for hospitals and nursing homes for over 25 years.

The service reads:

"The verse, part of the service reads, 'The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary: he wakeneth morning by morning, he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned.'

One of the selections to be included from the denominational textbook is the following:

"Mind is not necessarily dependent upon educational processes. It possesses of itself all beauty and poetry, and the power of expressing them. Spirit, God, is heard when the senses are silent." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.)

MRS. ARNOLD F. RUSOFF

Mary Martha Chapel Scene Of Rusoff-Arnold Bridal

Gardenias and camellias wound around white satin ribbon and caught up in bows of string smilax and candlelight decorated the Mary-Martha Chapel at Way Inn recently for the marriage of Miss Joyce Sheila Arnold to Arnold Franklin Rusoff of West Lafayette, Indiana.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chappie Arnold of Waban. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Rusoff of Park Ridge, N.J., are the groom's parents.

The psalms, taken from the Bible were written by the bride's uncle, a well known composer of church music. They were sung by Mrs. Marilyn Becker, cousin of the bride. Rabbi David Alpert officiated. A reception followed at the Wayside Inn.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a full length white velvet over taffeta and satin gown fashioned with a V neckline and Juliet sleeves, and caught with a wide cummerbund styled with a bow and flowing sash which she designed.

A white pill box cap was covered with her elbow length lace mantilla. She carried a family mother of pearl Bible topped with valley lilies, white roses, a single red American Beauty rose and marked with cascading ribbon caught with clusters of stephanotis.

Mrs. William Cowin of Newton was her sister's matron of honor. She wore an ice blue dress made of Chinese brocade and carried an old fashioned bouquet of white and blue carnations, camellias and violets.

Miss Evelyn Horowitz of New York City, formerly of Waban, was maid of honor. Her long sleeved blue tiered cotton dress was trimmed with purple velvet. Her flowers were red roses, blue snapdragons and white roses.

Miss Allyn Romanow of Mendecine, Calif., formerly of Waban, was bridesmaid. She was attired in a deeper blue silk crepe dress trimmed in the front with lace to match the cuffs on her long sleeves. Her flowers were blue and white roses with blue snapdragons.

The best man was Jeff Goldman of Oberlin, Ohio. The ushers were William Cowin of Newton, and Marc Spurr of Parsippany, N.J. brothers-in-law of the bride and groom. Young April Cowin was

McMahon Wins Silver Lake Marathon

Pat McMahon, a 5-8, 140-pounder who finished 12th in the Olympic Marathon in Mexico City, completed the 20-mile Hopkinton-to-Newton grind in one hour, 51 minutes and 46 seconds.

Peter Stipe of the BAA was a distant second in 1:57.27 and William Speck of Providence College AA was third in 1:58.08. Dr. Richard Packard of the BAA was 14th but captured over 40 prize.

Distaff Dispatcher

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Mrs. Clara Foggs is the first woman dispatcher for the St. Louis Police Department. The first day on the job she was "pretty nervous, but doing fine," according to observers at headquarters.

Mrs. Foggs' old job had been taking calls from civilians and passing memos to the dispatcher. She was moved behind the microphone to relieve the officers and police cadets who had handled the job for other duties.

Go On Tuesday

NEW YORK (UPI) - If you want to drive somewhere, the safest day to do it is any Tuesday. That's the conclusion from a survey which Quality Adjustment Service, nationwide automobile physical damage specialists, conducted among its more than 300 appraisers.

The appraisers had no doubt as to when most accidents occur: Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Asked to name the specific day, 39 said Friday, 43 Saturday, 5 Sunday and 48 mentioned the weekend - a total of 135 out of 165 replies to the question. Only Tuesday was not mentioned by at least one appraiser as a "most accidents" day.

Salamone & Sons Features Toyota At Big Open House

Salamone and Sons of 37 Chestnut St., Needham, will feature the Japanese wonder car — the Toyota — during their annual Washington's Birthday Open House, Feb. 17 through Feb. 22.

Toyota is Japan's top automobile manufacturer and their success in the United States has been reflected in its rapid climb from outside the nation's top 20 best-selling imports to among the top three in import sales.

Toyota's insistence on production quality and engineering innovation is responsible for this big success.

Computerized assembly lines and constant testing — Toyotas go through hundreds of tests and nothing is overlooked — have made Toyota manufacturing facilities the most modern automobile plants in the world.

The Toyota Corona is a 90-horsepower beauty with enough power to drive a fully-automatic transmission and still go from zero to 60 miles an hour in only 16 seconds!

This car delivers performance AND economy — like 25 miles per gallon.

Options include an AM or AM/FM radio, fully automatic transmission, factory-installed air conditioning and stereo tape play player.

Then, there's the Corolla — the car Toyota designed to beat every other low-priced car around.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

by Don MacDonald

I was writing a magazine piece recently about interesting cars of the early 30s that have been generally ignored by today's wealthy collectors and in poring over the old pictures, I was struck by the variety then offered the public.

Each make, and there were 45 or more, was readily identifiable from the outside. You didn't have to walk up and peer at the nameplate. You could tell a Buick by the flute in its hood. Dodges wore a ram on their radiators and Plymouths, a replica of the Mayflower. Graham had valances on its fenders long before the others, while Hupmobile stuck with a simple curvature. They were different inside, too. You could tell a Ford from as far away as you could see by its springs that straddled the axles.

Now the four remaining automakers boast about the proliferation models (462 by latest count) and the fact, say, Chevrolet can build an entire model run without duplicating, should it so wish, a single car. But when you get down to studying the specifications in detail you find a strange similarity between equivalent models of Ford and Mercury. You'll note an amazing sameness between the various engines offered by Plymouth, Dodge, and Chrysler. If you bust the windshield on your new Buick LeSabre, you can replace it with an identical one for less money from the nearest

$27,000 Figure For Alksnitis Property Okay

In a land-taking hearing before the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night, Oskars Alksnitis agreed to accept the city's offer of $27,000 for his property at 32 Kimball terrace, Newtonville.

The home is one of five parcels being taken by the city to expand the present Newton High School site to allow for construction of a new school.

Acting City Solicitor Charles Moran explained that this is the fourth piece of property to be taken in the area for this purpose.

Homes at 39 and 41 Elm road and one at 36 Kimball terrace have already been acquired by the city. One more home on Kimball terrace remains to be taken.

Alksnitis's son reported that a private appraisal valued the home at $30,500. The city, he said, offered $26,000. Agreement was finally reached at the $27,000 figure.

firm, which he formed with his brother in order to service theaters in New England and the Middle West.

This venture grew into a partnership with the Riffkin Theaters, a chain of outdoor and indoor theaters along the New England seaboard.

He also spent part of his career in the investment field and was associated with H.C. Wainwright and Co. of Boston.

He later served as executive vice president-treasurer and director of Tappan Adams and Co., Inc., of Boston, and in the same posts for the First Participating Fund of Boston.

If you don't believe me, pick up catalogs giving the interior dimensions of a Plymouth Fury and the top-line Imperial.

One has the same legroom and headroom as the other, give or take an inch, to account for individual upholstery styles.

Before shooting your wad on a Cadillac, get out the tape and measure a Buick Electra or an Oldsmobile Ninety-Eight, for these, too, share the same bodies and the latter two are each some $1,500 less costly.

General Motors does not, however, share engines except for the six-cylinder units offered by Buick and Olds, which are built by Chevy.

In Fordland the big Mercury has a newly acquired body of its own, but the smaller models are stamped out by the same machines and powered by the same engine. If you put your foot through the floorpan in your Lincoln, you'll find a replacement for a Thunderbird will fit.

There is a moral to this consumer in all of this and that is not to be blindly loyal to any make within a corporate family, particularly the more expensive one, because most likely you can more than enough.

Co-Chairmen are Mrs. Robert Shapiro and Mrs. S. Wendell Kravitz of Newton.

Following a brief business meeting, Robert L. Spangenberg, Project Director of the Boston Legal Assistance Project, will be the speaker and his subject will be "The Welfare State — Destruction of the Family Unit?", and will include an appraisal of the present welfare system and the relationships between public and private agencies, as well as those between legal services and family counseling.

Other officers of this United Fund agency are Dr. A. Bertrand Warren of Weston, Vice President; Mrs. R. F. Clippinger of Sudbury, Secretary; and Mr. Fletcher C. Chamberlin of Sherborn, Treasurer. Region West has offices in Brookline, Natick, Newton, Waltham, Wayland and Wellesley, serving those towns as well as Sherborn, Sudbury and Weston.

The meeting is open to the public at no charge.

Volvo Village -- 12 Years Of Selling Volvo

Yes Volvo Village is the then it stands to reason that oldest and largest exclusive here in the United States it Volvo dealer in New England, will perform beyond its own. Being number one is quite a reputation. Built like a tank is responsibility stes Ray Ciccolo president of Volvo Volvo owner who is quick to add that it rides on a par largest staff of factory trained mechanics and the largest parts inventory of any dealer. Maintaining these departments and keeping them at 200 per cent efficiency is a responsibility and a requirement to remain as the number one dealer.

Always in great demand are the two and four door sedans and many customers are now leaving the shifting to the factory . . . or in other words, ordering their Volvos with automatic transmission. Volvo for 1969 has increased power and even more accessories as standard equipment than ever before. It's no wonder that at given times of the year they are in short supply. But Volvo Village maintains the largest inventory of new Volvos to insure immediate delivery of most models. Now at Washington's Birthday Volvo Village is planning their traditional open house, Feb. 17-25. It's the perfect time to test ride a Volvo especially when the whole family can test. Yes the children can have fun too on Washington's Birthday along with Mom and Dad.

The complete sales staff of Volvo Village will be on hand to answer customer questions as well and outline in detail the finer points of the compact from Sweden.

Volvo Village is conveniently located for the prospective buyer as well as the new owner returning for warranty work. Situated on the Sweden where there are over 70,000 miles of unpaved roads they are just minutes from Cambridge and Boston by cold. If a Volvo will do that rapid transit.

Elizabeth Boardman Is Awarded

Miss Elizabeth A. Boardman, a senior at Oberlin College in Oberlin, Ohio, has been named recipient of a three-year Oberlin Shansi Teaching Fellowship.

She is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Boardman of 35 Oxford road, Newton Centre.

The award is based on scholarship and breadth of interest. It entails two years of teaching in Asia followed by a year of graduate study on the Oberlin campus, which enables the Shansi fellows to share their Asian experiences with Oberlin undergraduates.

Miss Boardman will teach at American and Lady Doak Colleges in Madurai, South India.

She is a sociology major and a Dean's List student. She is active in the Consolidated Relief Fund and has taken part in a number of "Y" programs on campus, including the Tutorial Project in the Oberlin public school system.

The Oberlin Shansi Memorial Association was founded in memory of Oberlin alumni and their Chinese associates who were killed in the Boxer uprising in China in 1900.

Both the association and the awards take their names from Shansi Province, China, where early fellows taught in a school supported by the association.

Since 1951, fellows of the

South Girls' Varsity Hoop Squad Is Tops

The Newton South High Girls' Varsity Basketball team is having its greatest season ever. With six games played, the team holds a 4-2 record.

This record included wins over Waltham 70-15, Cambridge-Latin 26-20, Watertown 48-12, and Framingham North 42-36. Two losses came from Weston and Arlington.

Janet Corbett, senior co-captain and high scorer, has accumulated 123 points for the six games played. Other members of the team are Kathy McPhee, co-captain; Patricia Savage, Phyllis Savage, Joan Hosmer, Becky Taub, Mary-Lou Kiley, Vicki Aghabian, Robin Mescon, and Laurie Gill.

Each member of the team is playing excellent basketball and is planning on four more victories to end the season.

The Newton South High Girl's Junior Varsity Basketball team now holds a 1-5 record. Even though this record shows more losses than wins, the games have all been close. The one victory came against Watertown with a 22-20 score. Maureen O'Connor, sophomore co-captain, is leading scorer for the Junior Varsity with 45 points.

Other members of the team are Lexie Henes, co-captain; Barbara Needie, Joan Aron, Carolyn Fuchs, Diane Kwasnick, Carolyn Hill, Sue Downing, Cheryly Daley, Mimi Huber, Maureen Barry, Gail Woodbury, Nancy Finkelstein, and Joanne Neiman.

Bowdoin College in Maine to visit his good friend Coley King and watch Coley play hockey in Brunswick for the Bowdoin freshmen.

Coley, who is from Brockton, is now a star defenseman for Bowdoin, and was an all-scholastic while playing for Xaverian High, champions of the Catholic Conference hockey league last year. Cerbo was also a member of that championship team.

Jim will celebrate his 19th birthday on Feb. 22 — which is also Washington's Birthday.

Newton South Wrestlers 2nd In Sectionals

Newton South High hosted the Eastern Sectional Wrestling Championships, last weekend, and the Newton South grapplers put on a brilliant show with 10 wrestlers scoring points.

Despite this, the Lions were only a distant second behind Wayland High in the final standings. Melrose was third. Last year, South won the tournament with Melrose as runner-up.

Co-captains Neil Applebaum (110) and Frank Vespa (180), and sophomore Steve Etkin (135) earned first places in their respective weight classes, all on decisions.

Junior Fred Virgilio and senior Ted Todis finished in the 155 and 165 pound classes. Virgilio lost a disputed match, 7-6, while Todis was pinned in the second overtime period.

Dave Hill was second in the 130-pound division when he was forced to forfeit because of a shoulder injury. Hill only recently recovered from a shoulder separation and it is feared that he re-separated it.

Mark Buchine (120) and Paul Dumais (160) captured third places. Paul Eisenberg (138) and Richard Kraft (103) were the other Lion point scorers with four places.

The Lions, 10-2 on the season and runner-up in the regionals are looking ahead to next weekend and the state tournament.

FREDERIC B. VIAUX

Citation Of Merit To Viaux

Frederic B. Viaux of 15 Norfolk road, Chestnut Hill, has been nominated for a Citation of Merit by the board of trustees at Graham Junior College in Boston.

Mr. Viaux is president of Garland Junior College in Boston.

The citation will be presented to the educator next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Graham's annual Honors Convocation to be held at New England Life Hall in Boston.

Mr. Viaux was born in Boston and is a graduate of Noble and Greenough School in Dedham. He graduated from Harvard, receiving magna cum laude honors and received his master's degree in education in 1957 from Harvard.

Mr. Viaux was appointed academic dean at Garland Junior College in 1957 and became president of the college in 1962.

Jim O'Connor Performs The "Hat Trick"

Jim O'Connor blasted on goal in each period for the hat trick and Tom Rezzutti assisted on all three scores as the Newton South High pucksters blanked Acton-Bedford, 3-0, last Saturday night, at the Billerica Arena.

Lou Wolfs also picked up an assist as O'Connor, Rezzutti, and he continue to carry the South offense.

Goalie Paul Modern chalked up his fourth shut-out with 17 saves.

The Lions retained third place in the Dual County League with a 6-5-1 mark, only one point ahead of Westwood and two points in front of Bedford.

South faces these two teams in the final two games this week to decide the third place finish.

Having sold his first painting at the age of 12, Jim has continued studying over the past 20 years, until he now feels he has developed a style uniquely his own.

From the School of the Museum of Fine Arts he went into the U.S. Army.

After his discharge from the Service, he joined the staff of the Christian Science Monitor, where he is employed as a news photographer.

Over the years he has painted continually; portraits of his Army comrades, then members of his family, scenes of rivers and lakes, landscapes and seascapes; all with a very New England "feel" to them.

Jim Cerbo of Walpole . . .

Young Seminary Student Is Also Hockey Referee

WALPOLE — An 18-year-old resident of Walpole who is already a veteran sports referee is continuing his referee sideline while he studies for the priesthood. He is James Cerbo of 1071 Washington street.

Young Cerbo is in his first cable department, and there is year at Cardinal O'Connell one other boy in the family, Seminary in Jamaica Plain. He is six and will stay another year there, and then will begin his six years of study at St. John's Seminary in Brighton, leading to his ordination.

Meanwhile, he is devoting some of his limited spare time to the sport he loves best — hockey. Jim has been officiating Pee Wee and high school freshman games for two years in this area.

Jim played hockey himself for four years at Xaverian Brothers High School in Westwood, where he graduated in 1968. He started as a goalie for the Babe Ruth League in both Norwood and Walpole. Jim also officiates for the high school freshman games in both towns.

Last year he became active in the Little League and coached a minor league team in Norwood.

Jim is sincerely dedicated to his goal of becoming a priest. However, he is a familiar sight at local ice rinks in his referee's stripes, and no one can doubt that he is also sincere about the game of hockey which could well be the most popular sport in the Norwood-Walpole area.

Before attending Xaverian, Jim went to Dominican Academy in Plainville. He is a native of Walpole, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony A. Cerbo. Mr. Cerbo works for the New England Tel. and Tel.

Three NJC Sports Stars Are Listed In 'Who's Who'

Three sports stars are among the 10 Newton Junior College students who have been chosen for inclusion in the 1968-69 listing of "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges."

Richard Leahy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Leahy of 73 Lombard st., Newton, is a 1967 graduate of Newton High School and a second year student at the college. He has been a Dean's List student all through his junior college career.

As a member of last year's baseball team, he was instrumental in the championship playoff effort, coming off the bench to lead his team with a .570 batting average in conference play. He was chosen for the first team of the regionals and are looking ahead to next weekend and the state tournament.

Upon his recent completion of five semesters at NJC, he transferred to Boston State College.

He led the baseball team in stolen bases and compiled a .360 batting average in conference

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Answers Deborah

Editor of The Graphic:
In response to a letter from Deborah Berkman, fifth grade, Newton, published February 6, in the Newton Graphic.

Dear Deborah:

I certainly appreciate the time and effort it took to write such a fine letter to the Graphic about your very upsetting experience. I understand how you felt when the car you were riding in with your mother hit and killed a dog. If you value life, animal and human, it is a sickening feeling — one that is hard to forget.

It is extremely difficult for drivers to avoid accidents. Unexpected things are always happening, and we all try to be prepared for any emergency. It would seem only sensible that a hazard that could be removed, should be. Dogs cannot be controlled by traffic lights, nor by their own judgment. They can and do dart out into oncoming traffic frequently — and it is often a question of saving the dog's life, or your own.

I consider myself extremely fortunate in narrowly missing two very handsome dogs in the last two weeks, before there was any snow on the ground. Ironically enough, both of these dogs were with their owners, but were not leashed. In one case, the owner was calling her dog from across the street (a busy street called "Chestnut") and the dog ran through two lanes of traffic, coming in both directions.

In the other, a young man

Tension Buildup

Editor of The Graphic:
The decision whether to change the elementary school hours and accommodate an in-school lunch program is once again facing the Newton School Committee. For the past three years, the community has been well aware of this issue . . . and been actively involved in this issue from the circulation of petitions in 1966 to the current optional lunch program now in the elementary schools. Five public hearings will have been held on this subject when the February 10th School Committee hearing is rescheduled.

Last year, the School Committee assured the community that it would evaluate and vote this February so that the schools and community agencies would have the necessary time to program for the coming school year 1969-1970. You will remember, that the School Committee voted on the issue last June; this was far too late for all concerned to program effectively.

Perhaps it would be the answer to the problems of Newton dog-owners who find it too time-consuming, or too physically difficult to walk their dogs. I certainly hope so, Deborah, because I would like to see Newton's dogs remain healthy and happy — and also its citizens!

Sincerely yours,
Sylvia N. Stearns.

Newton Antique Dealer In Show

Antique Dealer Laurel G. Hammer of 37 W. Bourlerville Rd., Newton Centre, is among 40 dealers selected to set up shop at the 17th annual Antiques Show-Sale in Dover, Dela., for three days this week.

The sale, which begins today, has been the largest in the State of Delaware and is being held at the Armory on Dover's greens. Exhibitors come from Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania.

John Billinsky, son of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Billinsky of 91 Herrick rd., Newton Centre, has been named a Dean's List scholar at Ripon College. John is a senior at Ripon and maintained a 4.0 grade point out of a possible 4.0 placing him in the outstanding student category.

My questions are:

1. Why isn't the P.T.A. Council prepared to speak at the School Committee's public hearing? Other interested groups have prepared in advance knowing full well from last year that the School Committee had set aside this February for evaluation and resolution.

2. Is the School Committee willing to delay its vote on the issue, as Dr. Laurits suggests, in order to let the Council have its separate opportunity to provide the community with the necessary forum when the whole subject was still relatively unexplored?

It failed to do so, and the entire community has been actively debating the pros and cons without the Council's assistance. Why is it the Council always decides to tackle the lunch issue "moments" before the School Committee is to decide? Isn't it a little too late now?

3. How will the Council take its vote? Last year, I spoke at a P.T.A. Council hearing in favor of a change in elementary school hours and for the institution of a lunch program. At the end of that meeting, a resolution was introduced by a group of Clafin parents regarding "priorities" in our schools. A vote was then taken by the Council to support this Clafin letter and oppose a lunch program. The P.T.A. Presidents, members of the Council, who voted on the issue did not poll their school's entire P.T.A. membership. In fact, the P.T.A. Council had sent out no uniform questionnaire to their grass roots membership to gather the pertinent data. This year, we are faced with a similar situation. Is it really proper for P.T.A. Presidents to vote on the issue again at this point in time? Upon what evidence will they form their judgment? This is important for all of us to ascertain.

During the last three years, the single session issue has been — at times — rather emotional. This year, though, the community has been waiting most patiently for the School Committee's final decision.

If the vote is delayed beyond the first week in March, I feel that existing tensions will only be accentuated. It has been heard in some quarters that it is those citizens who are anxious to effect a meaningful change in elementary school hours who are responsible for generating tensions in the community. At this moment, therefore, it is of utmost importance that the community ask itself . . . who is responsible for generating tensions???

She is survived by two sons, Harold N. Jenkins, Hialeah, Fla., and Sheldon W. Jenkins, Natick, and four grandchildren. Private funeral services were held in St. Petersburg.

Helen C. MacKenzie

Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Helen C. MacKenzie, 41, of 304 Derby st., West Newton, who died Sunday at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. A solemn requiem Mass was said at 9 a.m. in St. Bernard's Church. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

She was born in Ingonish, Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia, daughter of the late Thomas and Agnes (Baron) O'Shea, and had made her home in West Newton for the past year. She formerly lived in Newtonville.

Mrs. MacKenzie was employed at the Aro Manufacturing Co., Inc., West Newton.

She is survived by her husband, Michael J.; two sons, Sp. Michael C., in the Army, stationed at Fort Polk, La., and Barry of West Newton; a daughter, Michelle of West Newton, a student at Warren Junior High School; three brothers, Frank and Theodore Shea of Sydney, Nova Scotia, and Austin of Ingonish, and several stepbrothers and stepsisters.

Joseph G. Michaud

A solemn requiem Mass was celebrated in St. Jean's Church, Newton, last Saturday for Joseph G. Michaud, 94, of 54 Capital st., Newton, who died Wednesday, Feb. 12, at Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a long illness.

Burial was in St. Francis Xavier Cemetery, Nashua, N.H.

Born in Mont Carmel, Canada, he worked for Nashua Mills, N.H., 25 years and had lived in Newton 22 years. He was the husband of the late Josephine (Raymond) Michaud.

He is survived by two sons, Leo and Paul E., both of Concord, N.H.; three daughters, Mrs. Jeanne Laroche and Miss Martha M. Michaud of Newton, and Mrs. Rachel M. Cote of Needham; eight grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

The Council always decides to tackle the lunch issue "moments" before the School Committee is to decide? Isn't it a little too late now?

3. How will the Council take its vote? Last year, I spoke at a P.T.A. Council hearing in favor of a change in elementary school hours and for the institution of a lunch program. At the end of that meeting, a resolution was introduced by a group of Clafin parents regarding "priorities" in our schools. A vote was then taken by the Council to support this Clafin letter and oppose a lunch program. The P.T.A. Presidents, members of the Council, who voted on the issue did not poll their school's entire P.T.A. membership. In fact, the P.T.A. Council had sent out no uniform questionnaire to their grass roots membership to gather the pertinent data. This year, we are faced with a similar situation. Is it really proper for P.T.A. Presidents to vote on the issue again at this point in time? Upon what evidence will they form their judgment? This is important for all of us to ascertain.

During the last three years, the single session issue has been — at times — rather emotional. This year, though, the community has been waiting most patiently for the School Committee's final decision.

If the vote is delayed beyond the first week in March, I feel that existing tensions will only be accentuated. It has been heard in some quarters that it is those citizens who are anxious to effect a meaningful change in elementary school hours who are responsible for generating tensions in the community. At this moment, therefore, it is of utmost importance that the community ask itself . . . who is responsible for generating tensions???

Bowen PTA To Hold Meeting On Feb. 26th

The Mid-Winter meeting of the Bowen P.T.A. will be held on Feb. 26, at 7:45 p.m. Following a general gathering in the auditorium, workshop for parents and teachers will be held. The meeting will break up into three discussion groups in different rooms with the following speakers:

The Emotional Tasks the Child Faces From First Grade to Junior High School. Discussed by: Dr. William E. Stone, medical director Newton Mental Health Center.

The Interaction of Parents and Teachers in Helping Children Achieve Successful School Adjustment. Discussed by: Mrs. Susan Stern, school psychologist at Bowen, Angier and Countryside.

A Look at the Transitional Problems Facing the Child in Sixth Grade in Their Move to Junior High School. Discussed by: Miss Emilie G. Larson, head counsellor, Weeks Junior High School.

Tax Assoc. Boosts Ald. Opposes PTA

Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, reported this week that the Association supports the Newton aldermen in their opposition H2636 which is the Hammond Pond area "land-grab" attempt by the Trustees of the State Colleges for the School of Art.

Also, Muther said, the Association supports the alderman's endorsement of H2254 which would allow specific changes in municipal charters by a method other than the wide-open charter commission device.

Muther further reported the Association's opposition to the bill which would require cities and towns to transfer to school committees the control of school building maintenance, construction, a bill recently endorsed by the Newton Parent-Teachers Council.

"The only basis on which we might support the transfer of control over school construction would be if it were part of a major change to have Massachusetts school districts responsible for levying their own taxes, and we believe even that change would be of questionable value," Muther said.

Working with Salter on the meeting, now definitely slated for Monday evening, March 10 at the Mason-Rice School in Newton Centre, are William Carmen, chairman of the Peace Center; Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill, executive secretary; Mrs. Eloise Houghton, member of the Center's advisory council; the Rev. Scott Paradise; and Mrs. Jane Sharpe. Mrs. Sharpe has been instrumental in forming an emergency citizens' group protesting the ABM system in Greater Boston.

The Newton Community Peace Center officials point out that it is a non-profit educational organization, dedicated to increasing grassroots awareness of major issues of war and peace. It is located in the Eliot Church, 474 Centre Street, Newton Corner. In addition to sponsoring forums and meetings on matters of public moment such as ABM, the Center is the UNICEF distributing agent in Newton and acts as a general clearing house for information and literature on War-peace affairs.

Negro History Week Is Marked At Free Library

The focus is on photographs of Freedom School youngsters, in observance of Negro History Week at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner, according to an announcement by Henry E. Bates, Jr., City Librarian.

Photographer N. A. Ansell (Mrs. Samuel Ansell) of Wayland has provided a small group of intense portraits of black children to accent the inviting book and record display assembled by the Library staff.

Mrs. Ansell, who came to Wayland from Rye, New York, worked as a professional photographer for the Weston-Wayland Town Crier when she first moved to this area 2 years ago.

At Boys' and Girls' Library, 126 Vernon Street, Newton Corner, Miss Ann Golding, Boys' and Girls' Librarian, has arranged a special book exhibit for young people, with a selected advisory reading list, also in honor of Negro History Week.

Available to all patrons is a selected reading list, a list that was so popular in 1968 that it was reprinted. The Newton Free Library has extensive holdings in the black history areas, including evening was Mrs. Louise Darling, District Coordinator for the candy sale. According to Mrs. Darling, Newton sold the most candy in the council and if you put the boxes end for end the Newton girls sold over one mile of candy. Mrs. Gretchen Ellis awarded the District awards and Mrs. Tess Mac-

Donald awarded the Newton

Town Committee awards. Group singing was led by Mrs.

Robert Buxbaum and her lively guitar.

The Newton Camp Fire Girls want to thank their many friends and neighbors in Newton who helped make this candy sale so successful.

Parents' Representative At School Board Meeting

A group of Newton Citizens called the "Committee for Educational Priorities" will be represented by their spokesman, Dr. John F. Reichard of Monadnock Rd., Newton, on Monday, February 24th, at the School Committee meeting.

This group is composed of parents from almost every elementary school area in the city who are unequivocally opposed to a school lunch program.

This committee feels that the first question the people of Newton must face is what educational priorities should be accommodated if we are to maintain the high quality of our school system.

They state further: "Our prime priorities should be: to provide for more teaching personnel to reduce the overburdened teacher load; to improve specialized services in the field of reading, art, music, physical education and library service; to provide for increased guidance personnel; to expand the program for emotionally disturbed children; to develop better audio-visual materials; to evaluate and improve our entire program of testing and evaluating; to provide for needed school buildings and maintenance thereof. These are just a few of our needs.

"If we are to realize these objectives, the committee feels that they cannot, in good conscience, allow the allocation of $160,000 to be made for a non-educational service such as a lunch program in the elementary schools."

A report will also be made by Harry Crosby on the up-coming City Committee theatre party on March 20, at Brandeis Springfield theatre. The "Italian Straw Hat" will be performed that evening to be followed by a wine and cheese party in the Rose Art Museum.

The following topics will also be presented to the meeting for general discussion: 1) Should Newton have its own Senate seat and

2) Opposition of the A.B.M. committee to the development of the A.B.M. program.

AMB. LODGE REPORTS SOME PROGRESS IN VIETNAM PEACE TALKS

THERE HAS BEEN some progress in the Vietnam peace conference in Paris, despite the apparent deadlock, according to chief American negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge. Lodge did not pinpoint the area in which he felt progress had been made, saying "it is rather hard to define." Lodge said he had called Wednesday on South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky at Ky's suburban Paris villa for "an exchange of views on the whole situation." Western diplomatic observers said the two men met to discuss a strong protest the allies will deliver to the Communists during today's conference session.

ARAB INFILTRATORS KILL ISRAELI SOLDIER IN CLASH

THERE WAS MORE bloodshed in the Middle East on Wednesday. An Israeli soldier was killed and two others wounded in a clash with Arab infiltrators who retreated across the Jordan River under covering fire from Jordanian forces, it was announced in Jerusalem. Another Israeli soldier was seriously wounded by a sniper along the Suez Canal. The Israelis said it was the 34th "confirmed" shooting incident on the Egyptian-Israeli truce line since Sunday. Terrorist incidents also were reported on the Gaza strip.

NIKON URGES SUPPORT FOR NATO IN BONN ADDRESS

IN AN HISTORIC address to the West German parliament Wednesday, President Nixon urged America's European allies not to abandon the Atlantic alliance on the eve of critical negotiations he intends to open with the Soviet Union. Nixon, who flew to West Germany from London, spoke after winning assurance that Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger had "full confidence" in his conduct of forthcoming talks with Russia. Nixon spoke for 14 minutes to the Bonn parliament. It was the first time in its 20 year history the parliament had granted a foreign head of state the right to speak to it. Nixon pointed out that NATO had succeeded in defending the freedom of its members for 20 years, but must keep its strength in the years to come.

KIN, FRIENDS IDENTIFY BODIES OF 9 N.Y. FIRE VICTIMS

RELATIVES and friends on Wednesday began the grim task at a New York City morgue of identifying the bodies of nine persons killed in a mid-Manhattan office building fire on Tuesday. Meanwhile, investigators tried to find out how and why the tragedy happened. Some of the victims were so badly burned that identification was difficult. Seven other persons were gravely injured in the flash fire which began on the third floor of a five story office building at 48th St. and Fifth Ave. The blaze was believed fueled by some highly flammable substance, and there was panic at the exits from the third floor.

NIXON APPOINTS REP. MORTON AS GOP NATIONAL CHAIRMAN

REP. ROGERS C. B. MORTON of Maryland, Nixon's floor manager at the Miami Beach convention, was appointed Wednesday by the President as the new Republican national chairman. Morton thus emerged as victor in an internal party controversy over a White House plan to install Murray Chotiner, an old Nixon political ally from California, as deputy committee chairman in actual charge of the national GOP organization and staff. That plan went out the window when Morton insisted on assurances he would be in full control of the committee if he were appointed chairman.

KEE'S HEART OKAY DESPITE SURGERY, RECOVERY SMOOTH

FORMER PRESIDENT Eisenhower's heart has withstood the strain of abdominal surgery and the patient continues a smooth recovery, doctors reported Wednesday at Walter Reed Army Hospital. The 78-year-old former President has suffered seven heart attacks in the last 13 years, the last four since he entered the hospital 10 months ago. So remarkable has been his recovery that he has been able to enjoy some light reading and receive visits from his wife, Mamie.

A HIGH SCHOOL hockey player in a practice game was killed and several others were trapped when the roof of a hockey arena in Berlin, N.H., collapsed Wednesday night under 28 inches of snow. The nursing supervisor of St. Louis hospital said three girl spectators and another boy were slightly injured. The dead boy had not been identified. Wednesday night because his family had not been notified. The students said they were playing a practice match when they heard a loud crack and then the center of the roof fell in. Most of the debris fell on the ice, away from the more than 50 spectators. The rink was the Notre Dame Arena, not connected with the Notre Dame High School, whose junior varsity was playing the Berlin High School's junior varsity.

GENERAL MOTORS RECALLS 4.9 MILLION CARS AND TRUCKS

THE MOST MASSIVE recall in U.S. automaking history was announced by the General Motors Corporation on Wednesday. The firm has called back 4.9 million cars and trucks for corrections of hazards of exhaust fumes—which have been blamed for four deaths—and sticking throttles. GM said the firm had received reports of four deaths as a result of exhaust fumes, three of them at one time. Several other persons were reported to have been overcome by the fumes, a GM spokesman disclosed. Scheduled for recall are 2.4 million 1965 through 1969 model Chevrolets because exhaust fumes could enter the passenger compartment. An additional 2.5 million 1968 and 1969 model Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs and GM trucks will be recalled because a carburetor can could break apart and cause a throttle to stick in a partly open position, GM said.

Tax Rate Of About $103 Forecast For This Year

Newton's tax rate this year an increase of $897,589.09 over may jump as much as $15 to about $103, on the basis of the budget released by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

The total budget which the Mayor submitted to the Board of Aldermen is $39,205,951.18.

On the other side of the ledger, the Mayor drastically cut department requests, thus submitting a budget for the city government which is $813,774.91 smaller than last year.

2nd Storm, Worst Since 1893, Dumps More Snow

Reeling from winter's first struggle to its knees and a heavy New England wallop of less than two weeks ago, weary Newton, was flattened again on Monday when another rip-snorter of a northeaster whirled out of the frigid spawning ground of all paralyzing storms and dumped two more feet of the heavy, wet stuff over the local landscape.

of the mammoth accumulation from the February 10th storm.

Thus ended two months of almost snowless weather in this area where residents were peering ahead to an early spring.

Newton's snow fighting forces, still working on some lingering aspects of the first big storm, hit back with speed and efficiency.

Main streets were in good shape by Tuesday and most of the side streets were being cleared.

In 1968, Mayor Basbas cut a total of $1,953,235.81 from departmental requests. For 1969, he cut $3,269,797.83 from similar requests.

"Again, it was mainly new equipment. For example, the Fire Department wanted a new ladder truck. Last year, I allowed them to get one. This year, I just couldn't.

"Also in the past, I ordered one new typewriter a year for the City Clerk's office. This year, we ordered none," Mayor Basbas pointed out.

"I tried to hold each department to what it received last year. In some cases, I held them to even less," Mayor Basbas asserted.

But, an increase of only $897,589.09 would boost the tax rate $2.72 per thousand, thus making the new rate $91.32.

—For every $335,000 the City expends, the tax rate increases $1.

—The City could save quite few dollars on its tax rate, if some properties currently exempt from paying taxes had to pay.

For instance, the total valuation for all exempted property in Newton is $116,297,650. Of that total, federal, state, county and City exempt properties are worth $55,622,950.

What's Wrong With Instant End to Campus Anarchy....?

Father Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University, almost qualifies as our choice as the educator who should deal with college student demonstrations, disturbances and disgraces.

He is about the best who has come along so far, but he still falls below a 100 per cent rating.

Father Hesburgh promises on-the-spot expulsion from the university of any student or faculty member who disrupts normal campus operations.

But then the famed Notre Dame educator falters and weakens his position.

He says that any individual or group who substitutes force for rational persuasion, be it violent or non-violent, will be given 15 minutes of meditation to cease and desist.

Students with campus identity cards will be allowed an additional five minutes in which to stop demonstrating before being given the heave-ho from the university. Non-students would be arrested after the 15-minute period.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has released some interesting figures, comparing City-wide budgets from 1958 through 1968.

In 1968 the total city budget was $37,154,496. It was $18,779,278 in 1958. That's an increase of about 100 percent.

But, the School Department budget has risen more rapidly than the rest of the budget over this period. In 1968, the total school budget was $16,974,858 while it was $6,579,996 in 1958 — a jump of 158 percent.

The general government budget in 1968 was $20,179,638 but it was $12,199,282 in 1958 — an increase of 65.4 percent.

Thus, the School Department budget has risen at a much faster pace than general city expenditures.

The tax rate, by the way, was $54 in 1958. It was $88.60 last year. That's a 64 percent increase over 1958.

Patricia Ann Parmenter of 1665 Centre St., Newton Highlands, received her B.S. in Education from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, during commencement ceremonies held in December.

In announcing the event, Boys' Club President Philip J. Cacciato stated that Norman E. MacNeil, chairman of the nominating committee, will report on the proposed new officers and directors for the coming year.

A progress report of the club's 1968 season will be given by President Cacciato. Executive Director Samuel Crocetti will give his annual report, copies of which will be distributed at the meeting.

Friends and supporters of the club are invited to attend the meeting which will be followed by a coffee hour and a tour of the club's facilities.

Chief Quinn has extensive experience as a public speaker and has risen rapidly in the Newton Police Department, since his appointment as a patrolman on November 13, 1952.

He was promoted to sergeant in 1958, to lieutenant in 1961, captain in 1964, and to chief on July 29, 1968.

Chief Quinn, like his immediate predecessor, former Chief Philip Purcell, has been a student of police practices and methods.

He attended several seminars on Police-Community Relations at Northeastern University, and by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, of which he is a director. He is a member of the Police Advisory Subcommittee of the Committee of Law Enforcement and Administration of Criminal Justice, and is co-chairman of the Crime Prevention Committee. He is a member of the Municipal Police Science Institute.

Chief Quinn is a Navy veteran of World War II with three years overseas duty. He resides at 1904 Washington St., Auburndale with his wife, Ann T., and children, William R., age 10, Loretta T., age 7, and Timothy H., age 5.

In addition to the annual meeting on March 5th, the Newton Boys' Club also has launched a city wide ticket sale for the club's First Annual Dance and Banquet to be held at the Sidney Hill Country Club on March 14th.

Working on the committee in charge of arrangements are, Alderman Adelade Ball, Alderman Robert L. Tennant, Pasquale Franchi, and Stafford E. Davis.

Edward Rowe Snow will present his new lecture "Incredible Mysteries and Legends of the Sea" at the regular meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club on Monday afternoon (March 3) at 1:30.

Mr. Snow is an internationally known television and radio celebrity, adventurer, photographer, columnist, scuba diver and author of fifty best-sellers. His lecture will be illustrated with slides and moving pictures in color together with curios from Mr. Snow's famous Traveling Museum.

Regular meetings of the Newtonville Woman's Club are held in the Recreation Hall of St. John's Episcopal Church, corner of Lowell Ave. and Otis St., Newtonville.

Coffee hour will be at 1:30 p.m. in the ladies' parlor. Speakers for the day will be Miss Florence Alexander, Miss M. Angela Murray and Mrs. George A. Savage. The business meeting will begin at 2 p.m. with Mrs. William Custer, presiding.

Tax—

"This budget does not reflect several considerations," the Mayor said.

"For example, there are no provisions in the budget I submitted for wage and salary adjustments for municipal employees. This is because they have not yet been any collective bargaining agreements.

"I hope that, before adoption of the budget, these agreements will be reached. At that time, I will submit a supplemental budget," Mayor Basbas declared.

"Remember for each one percent increase in salaries, there will be a corresponding 32 cent-increase in the City tax rate," he stated.

"So — and this is only an example — if the employees get a five percent increase, the tax rate jumps $1.60. And, if they were to receive a 10 percent increase, then the tax rate will jump $3.20," he said.

Also not taken into consideration is any loss from state aid to the community, he pointed out. Lessened state aid will definitely add $3 to the tax rate, the Mayor said. But if proposals by Acting-Gov. Francis Sargent are adopted, then $6 would be tacked on to the tax rate.

The Mayor is fighting a $101,414.08 assessment by the county for upkeep of the Middlesex County Sanitorium. This could add about 30 cents to the tax rate, the Mayor said.

There is also other state and county aid which the City must take into consideration.

"All of this means, I'm afraid, a tax rate of about $102-103," Mayor Basbas said.

County—

He said that Newton's assessment has tripled for 1969 over last year and asked, "Will you kindly advise me why this staggering increase has developed in Middlesex County, inasmuch as both Norfolk and Hampshire Counties are running their sanatoriums in the black."

Mayor Basbas noted in his letter to Senator Burke that in the light of the Legislature's reexamination of state-wide costs, it would be well to take another look at the sanatorium situation.

"You will note that these assessments for Newton increased 183 percent alone over last year," he noted.

"For example, the number of patient days for Newton residents in the Middlesex Sanitorium for the year 1968 totaled 431 patient days at a direct cost to the city of $6,293.

"In addition, the City of Newton was assessed its proportional part of the operating deficit for the year 1968 which totaled $101,414.08.

"This means that it has cost the City of Newton in 1968 $249.90 per patient a day for Newton residents hospitalized in the Middlesex Sanitorium," he pointed out.

"Excessive raises in state and county assessments, of course are passed along to the homeowner and real estate taxpayer."

"This is one more example of where the citizen on the local level is left to pay for something which he does not understand and which, to him, seems totally inexplicable," he added.

SNOWBALLING!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PTA Council Busy

Editor of The Graphic:
A letter in your columns recently questions why PTA Council members have not been addressing themselves during the year to the issue of school lunches. Perhaps this has occurred because PTA Council members have been involved with numerous issues which, for them, have higher priority than a lunch program.

For example, the Council's school building committee, of which I am a member, has spent many long hours studying current school building projects and future building needs and the methods by which they are met.

This information is used by the Council in making recommendations and taking action to support good building programs for the schools.

Other people involved in PTA or PTA Council activities concern themselves with supplementation of the arts programs which are hampered by a limited budget, in staffing school libraries due to lack of funds for professional librarians, in providing tutorial and remedial help on a volunteer basis to supplement the limited number of remedial teachers which the system can afford, and many similar activities.

All of these pursuits reflect a concern with important educational issues in the Newton schools. This is not to say that the school lunch program is not an area of concern for many people, but in view of the limited school budget dollar, one must consider which programs are most crucial.

Among the needs of the Newton schools which I consider crucial at this point are the following: (1) reducing the teacher-pupil ratio in over-crowded classrooms — a number of elementary schools still have classes of 30 or more pupils to one teacher, a ratio which makes individualized instruction all but impossible; (2) supplementation of the special services — in this category I would include both the arts and the others are attempting to say.

Sincerely yours,
Eleanor S. Rosenblum

Praise From Mayor

Editor of the Graphic:

I have read recently in our Newton newspapers with a great deal of concern that it has been suggested by various public figures that "Civil Defense, Auxiliary Police, etc. could make themselves available in any future emergency as an arm of the City of Newton and the Newton Public Works Department."

I would be remiss in my responsibility to the Civil Defense Department, the Red Cross, and other citizens who spent several nights here at City Hall and much time on the road assisting stranded motorists on Route 128 and elsewhere inside and outside the City of Newton during our recent snow storm.

It seems evident that working mothers are in need of some kind of lunch arrangement for their children. For many of us concerned with priorities the question is still open as to whether this need should be met by a compulsory school-wide lunch program, by the schools in part, or by the schools at all.

A reasonable debate on the subject should include these alternatives, and include additional points of view, such as those concerning the healthfulness of a break for elementary age school children away from the school premises in the middle of the day.

I hope that the forum arranged by the PTA Council on Thursday evening, February 27 at the Mason-Rice school will provide the opportunity for a wide-ranging airing of opinion, and that those who attend will try to listen and comprehend what others mean.

If people were really to do this, rather than coming only to advocate one point of view, they might leave the meeting with a different perspective. At least they might understand, if not agree with, what

Answers Mrs. Fraser

Editor of the Graphic:

May I answer Mrs. Fraser's arguments against the proposed lunch program for Newton's elementary schools. Is Mrs. Fraser right about Tuesday and Thursday afternoons? There are appointments to be met, dancing lessons, music lessons, medical and dental appointments, religious instruction, etc. Where is the time for skating and coasting?

Certainly not on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The children are not dismissed until 3:30 p.m. and in the winter months daylight fades by 4 p.m.

Doesn't Mrs. Fraser realize that with a dismissal time of 2 p.m., five days a week, appointments could be spread out so that the children would have a chance for more free play?

"Babysitting" and "Sleeping Bag" comments are not valid arguments against a lunch program. We would have

Piano Concert Is Rescheduled

A piano concert by pianists Alfred and Heidi Danwischer of Newton, is scheduled for Monday (Feb. 24) in the Boston University Concert Hall on Commonwealth Ave., after being cancelled on Feb. 10 due to inclement weather.

The husband-and-wife team will perform Brahms' Haydn Variations; J. S. Bach's Concerto for Two Pianos and Chamber Orchestra; Concerto Pathétique by Franz Liszt and Movement for Two Pianos and Percussion, a piece composed by Kanwischer himself. Alfred Kanwischer is an associate professor in the division of music at Boston University.

On Lunch Issue

Editor of the Graphic:

After reading a report on the observations of the Watertown lunch program, I checked some facts with personnel involved in it.

Newton and Watertown are not similar communities and should not be compared. But if comparisons are to be made — this is a reply to a letter in last week's Graphic.

This is the first year that the Watertown teachers are not in charge at lunch time. Many teachers there would prefer to go back to supervising their classrooms because they now return after lunch to a difficult classroom atmosphere.

Many of the lunch time supervisors are capable — some are not.

Those who are not able to supervise lunch properly make problems more severe and problem children more difficult. The lunch room supervisors are now discussing a pay raise for next year.

Newton is so much larger geographically and in numbers of elementary schools than Watertown that practically speaking a central distribution set up would be very costly (many trucks, drivers, much time to prepare and people to reach all the schools.) This was stated after consulting a city map.

It was asked in bewilderment why Newton would change now in view of its many tax and educational problems. It was stated that under the present conditions "lunch should come last."

Mrs. Robert L. Kellner, 348 Hartman Rd., Newton Centre.

Praises Mrs. Brick

Editor of the Graphic:

We would like to express appreciation for the courage and honesty of Mrs. Jeanette Brick, spokesman for the Working Mothers Committee and presently one of the cooperating leaders of the United Parents for Single Session. Like the majority of Newton parents, we support a single session program with five equal days, 8:30 to 2:00 and in-school lunch time of one-half hour.

As most realize, this has never been tried in the schools of Newton, but the compromise decree by the School Committee and managed by Mrs. Hope Danielson is certainly better than no lunch program at all. It has enabled parents who had previously worked sporadically to go into useful full-time employment although the peculiarly brief school days on Tuesdays and Thursdays are still a problem.

Will the School Administration ever face reality about an anachronistic time schedule? Or is it too much of a sacred cow? Has anyone yet heard of another school system with two afternoons throughout six grades of school? Yet the paper "Patterns" has referred to this snowbound could hardly fit into a time schedule as "much copied".

I would hate to risk the health and even life of any youngster in the City by encouraging him to take on a task that many men have not sufficient strength to accomplish.

to assume for themselves the right to tell educators how institutions of higher learning should be run.

That statement quite likely will attract another cascade of letters from readers defending the right of college students to take the law into their own hands and to seize administrative offices or any other facilities which happen to attract their attention.

It's unfortunate that such persons don't realize they are performing a disservice to the students in encouraging them in their lawlessness.

It's undoubtedly considered square to point out that one day these students will be looking for jobs and the fact that they were arrested for taking over the administrative office will hardly be considered a point in their favor.

The best thing college educators could do for these students is to tell them to stop the nonsense, get down to business or get out — now, not 20 minutes from now.

Big Pay Hike For Senators
Strikes Blow for Inflation

"Senators have to eat, too," quipped Republican U.S. Sen. Everett Dirksen during a debate on a $12,500-a-year—pay raise for the august Senators.

They do, indeed. However, the remark by the usually nimble-tongued Dirksen was ill-advised.

The Senators do much of their eating in a private dining room on Capitol Hill where the meals are served at subsidized, cut-rate prices reminiscent of the good old days when coffee cost a nickel a cup.

So a frugal Senator trying to save his nickels, dimes and dollars can eat pretty well at bargain basement prices.

Members of the Senate also have a number of other fringe benefits, including free haircuts.

Of greater importance, however, is the obvious fact that they struck a blow for inflation in boosting their salary from $30,000 to $42,500 a year.

They may well be worth the $42,500 they voted to pay themselves, but they picked a poor time to give themselves a 31 per cent wage hike. It certainly encourages an upward spiral of wages and prices which works tremendous hardship on certain segments of the community and which the Nixon administration must try to prevent.

Elmer Nelson Dropped To Make Way for Mike Holovak

In the publicity given Governor Sargent's appointment of former Patriots football coach Mike Holovak to the State Racing Commission, it was virtually overlooked that Sargent dropped former Republican State Chairman Elmer C. Nelson, long a GOP workhorse, from the Racing Board.

Nelson, who managed the gubernatorial campaigns of John A. Volpe in 1964 and Christian A. Herter in 1952 and 1954, is now one of the elder statesmen of the Republican party in Massachusetts.

But he is not one to permit Sargent's action to pass without at least an attempt at retaliation, possibly at next year's Republican State Convention.

Sargent apparently was retaliating for Nelson's action in opposing his nomination for Lieutenant Governor in 1966. A good many Republicans think it might have been better politics to look ahead rather than back.

Elmer is an unswerving, down-the-line Republican who wields considerable influence in the GOP, and he swung a substantial number of votes to Representative Francis W. Hatch, Jr., of Beverly who opposed Sargent for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor at the 1966 Republican State Convention.

It was because of the support of Republicans such as Nelson that Hatch was able to give Sargent a furious fight before ex-Governor Volpe and former Attorney General Richardson stepped into help put Sargent over the top.

Nelson's opposition to Sargent at that conclave had all but been forgotten until Sargent replaced Elmer Holovak on the State Racing Commission with Mike Holovak.

The last prominent Republican with whom Nelson varred was Summer Whittier who back in 1956 started his campaign for the Governorship by ousting Nelson from the GOP State Chairmanship and ended it by going to Foster Furcolo.

Sargent will have one thing going for him in his feud with Nelson if there is actually a feud. However angry Nelson may be at Sargent, he still would not support a Democrat against the present GOP Governor.

Nelson might attempt some move to embarrass Sargent at the 1970 Republican State Convention, but it undoubtedly would stop there and would be confined within the GOP family.

Sargent, of course, will not be opposed at the GOP conclave so the area within which Nelson could vent his displeasure will be limited.

If that were not the case, Sargent might regret that he ever changed the makeup of the Racing Commission.

It wasn't so long ago that Elmer Nelson elected Frederic C. (Buck) Dumaine to the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee despite the fact that the GOP hierarchy in the state was backing another candidate.

Church Women In World Day of Prayer March 7

Church Women United have chosen Friday, March 7, 1969, as World Day of Prayer, and church women in Newton, by joining millions of women throughout the world in a single, symbolic voice of prayer, thereby closing national, racial, economic and religious gaps, will observe this day at services held at Our Lady of Christians Church in Newton.

The theme for this year's World Day of Prayer is "Growing Together in Christ" and was chosen from the experiences of women from Africa, a continent rich in national development yet also torn by conflict and racism.

Opening the morning service at 9:45 will be a prelude of hymns played by the Centenary Bell Ringers under the direction of Mrs. J. Wendell Yeo. Following this Rev. James Rafferty, formerly of St. Philip Neri parish and president of the Newton Clergy Assoc., now Chaplain of Framingham State Teachers' College, will speak on "Growing Together in Christ in the Church."

Mr. Samuel Turner, principal of the Oak Hill School, Newton, will take as his topic "Growing Together in Christ in Urban-Suburban Communities" and Rev. Harold A.

Miss Hoeft, Mr. Kavanagh Plan to Marry

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Max D. Hoeft of Somerset which makes known the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Leona Frances Hoeft, of Boston, to Kevin Franklin Michael Kavanagh, also of Boston. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Kavanagh of Cambridge and Marston Mills.

Miss Hoeft attended the University of Massachusetts and was graduated from the Chandler School for Women.

Mr. Kavanagh was graduated from New Hampton School and the Babson Institute. He is now a food broker associated with J. J. Kavanagh, Inc., in Boston. (Photo by Bradford Bachrach) pointed as general chairman for the day, Mrs. Proctor W. Houghton, who will be assisted by Mrs. Alfred T. Coletti and Mrs. William J. Terry, acting as hostesses.

Other active workers include Mrs. Arthur Barnes, Mrs. Harold J. Berman, Mrs. T. Thomas Boates, Jr., Mrs. Charles B. Cossaboom, Mrs. Henry P. Evans, Mrs. Thomas S. Hayden, Mrs. William F. King, Mrs. John Kosa, Mrs. Henry W. Lundquist, Mrs. Thomas B. Sheridan, Mrs. Robert G. Toher and Mrs. Irving Williams.

A special part of the program will be given over to varied displays of religious education, art, music, community relations, community services and visual aids, showing the work and enrichment of individual churches and their members. It is hoped that these displays will provide both vision and tools for home churches to expand their services and will result in the pooling of experiences and resources that church groups of Newton have used. This material will be displayed in Our Lady's High School auditorium and refreshments will be served while observers browse. publicity posters and flyers have been distributed and were prepared by art students at Our Lady's High School under the guidance of Sister Theophane.

Offerings collected on this World Day of Prayer are used for many projects. A special national program this year will concern our own crisis in the nation and the racial prejudices that perpetuate unequal distribution of wealth and power.

Pilot projects will penetrate barriers that divide communities, bringing women of different economic levels, racial and ethnic backgrounds into dialogue. Offerings are also used to help educate women in 13 Christian colleges in Africa, Asia, and Latin America; welcome 40,000 students coming from abroad each year to study in the U.S.A.; support more than 30 Christian magazines and books for new literates in 18 countries.

Nationally, migrant farm workers are aided, as are Indian-Americans in off-reservation colleges; rural pastors and lay leaders needing continual education; children in Vacation Church Schools; and other groups of people.

Adult services are provided in Braille too, for the blind, and in Spanish, for persons speaking that tongue.

Liquid Embroidery Clubs to Sponsor Open House Events

The Liquid Embroidery Clubs of Needham, Dedham, Newton, and surrounding communities will hold their long delayed "Winter Open Houses" during the coming two weeks.

The first event will be held on Wednesday, March 5, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., at the home of Mrs. David Howell, 110 Blake street, Needham.

Mrs. John Morgan's home at 25 Youngs road, Dedham, will be the setting for the second event, scheduled for Monday, March 10, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

All-day workshops will be conducted in conjunction with the open houses, and on display will be new items to decorate in the art of tube painting.

The public is cordially invited to both see and try this fascinating, creative hobby, which works not only on fabrics, but on metal, wood, glass, plastic and other materials, as well.

Members of the clubs are preparing also for their annual "Spring Festival", to be held on April 18 and 19 at the American Legion Hall in Dover. The public is invited to attend.

The festival features a hobby show and contest, and this year includes a fashion show. Those interested in participating in the Festival may contact Mrs. Howell, 44-7851; Mrs. Morgan, 326-9289; or Mrs. Eli Chernin, 109 Highland avenue, Newtonville.

VFW Cmdrs.
Banquet To Be
On Sat., Mar. 8

All veterans of the armed forces residing in the Newton area are invited to attend (with or without their ladies) the Commander's Banquet for Thomas A. Medaglia, of the Newton Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2384. The Banquet is being held Saturday (Mar. 8) at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Soutngate Park, West Newton.

The evening will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and a full course catered roast beef dinner will follow at 7:30. Rockie's Party Band will furnish the music for dancing until midnight following a brief podium program.

Post officers will be present to explain the Veterans of Foreign Wars Organization and the Veteran's Administration benefits. Initiative petition by the Newton Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been filed in support of the bill requiring all national cemeteries to be placed under the direct jurisdiction of the U.S. Veterans Administration. This bill, marked for an early hearing, as amended would have a National Cemetery in Massachusetts, near the metropolitan area.

For a evening of inexpensive entertainment call Tomdays at Wellesley 235-9854 or nights at Newton 969-9717.

Fashion Show Now Set For March 3rd

The Fashion Show and Bridge, sponsored by the Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart at the school on Monday, February 24th was cancelled due to the storm.

It has been rescheduled for Monday, March 3rd at 1 p.m. at the school.

For confirmation of reservations please contact Mrs. John Sullivan, Jr., 301 Priscilla Circle, Wellesley, phone CE 5-8641.

Assisting are: Mrs. David J. Silverman, who will be Vice Chairman of the Steering Committee; Mrs. John F. Reichard, whose husband is a member of the Board of Directors; Mrs. Manuel S. Taylor, a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton Mental Health Association; Mrs. William E. Stone, wife of the Medical Director; and Mrs. Alice Sussman, Mrs. Simon Roberts, Mrs. Ernest Grable, and Mrs. Cecil E. Rose.

The Peace Palace at The Hague, Holland, is the home of the International Courts of Arbitration and Justice.

Mental Health Center Expands Its Facilities

The Newton Mental Health Center is expanding its services for the retarded. Though the Center, under the direction of Dr. William E. Stone, has been in existence for only 3 years it has grown considerably from its beginning.

A nursery school for retarded children opened in October with a well equipped room in the Auburndale Congregational Church. It is supervised by the Newton Mental Health Center in conjunction with the State Department of Mental Health and the local Associations for Retarded Children.

The nursery class is taught by Mrs. Virginia O'Dell, who with Mrs. Judith Medalia, Region 5 Supervisor, also conducts the diagnostic evaluation for the children who apply for admission.

The Center is seeking a few qualified women who enjoy working with the retarded and would like to be registered with the Center as baby sitters. Interested women are also needed who would occasionally be willing to drive a child and his mother to the observation session as the families of some of these children have no transportation.

The Newton Mental Health Center, which services Newton, Wellesley, and Weston, is open weekdays from 8:30 to 5, Saturday from 9 to 12 a.m. and Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The phone number is 969-4925.

The Center will try to assist with any problem that faces the retarded child and his parents.

Newton Health Assoc. Forms Ladies' Group

The budget at the disposal of the Newton Mental Health Association is inadequate to help the known needs of Newton's Children. Despite the acknowledged interest in mental health, the Newton Health Association has a backlog of cases for which there is a waiting period.

In order to assist in presenting the needs of this situation to the community and to gather some of the necessary funds through projects, a ladies committee to be known as Friends of the Newton Mental Health Association is being formed. This group has formed in response to the call for help by Director Dr. William E. Stone and President the Rev. John W. Corcoran of the Newton Mental Health Association.

Chairman of the Steering Committee of the new group is Mrs. Bernard Finn of Newton, a veteran of many drives.

Assisting are: Mrs. David J. Silverman, who will be Vice Chairman of the Steering Committee; Mrs. John F. Reichard, whose husband is a member of the Board of Directors; Mrs. Manuel S. Taylor, a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton Mental Health Association; Mrs. William E. Stone, wife of the Medical Director; and Mrs. Alice Sussman, Mrs. Simon Roberts, Mrs. Ernest Grable, and Mrs. Cecil E. Rose.

Lee Loumos
Says:

Up to now, I always felt that I was partially responsible for the major snowstorms in this area. Every time I ran a winter sale and backed it up with heavy advertising, it seems to have triggered a major snowstorm. This week, I deliberately refrained from advertising my Magnavox and Sylvania sales, but the storm still came. At last I feel off the hook, and the jinx is broken. At any rate . . . our annual sale is still on full blast, and the values we have to offer are well worth your while to brave the elements on the way to our showrooms. Once you get here, we can guarantee you a clear driveway and parking lot in the rear of our store; so your only problem is getting out of your own home.

John Dawson Appointed Brookline VW Manager

John C. Dawson, Jr., of 307A Grant St., Framingham, has been appointed to the post of general manager of Volkswagen Brookline, Inc., of 308 Boylston St., Brookline.

Mr. Dawson had been serving in the position of district field sales manager for Volkswagen in New England for the past year and a half.

Before joining Volkswagen, Mr. Dawson was a vice president and general manager of a Ford dealership in Morristown, Ohio. A graduate of the University of Pittsburg, he was born in Wheeling, W. Va.

Mr. Dawson succeeds Joseph M. McCarthy, well-known Boston automobile dealer, who recently became a Volkswagen dealer in Taunton. Volkswagen Brookline, Inc., is a subsidiary of Volkswagen of New England.

Mr. Dawson and his wife, Helen, are the parents of two young daughters.

In announcing the appointment, S. J. Tucker, vice president and general manager of Volkswagen Northeastern Distributor, Inc., praised Mr. Dawson's "ability as an automobile executive."

"He established a fine record as a district sales manager for three years at Volkswagen of America, Inc., in Englewood Cliffs, N.J., before joining our organization.

"His work with the distributorship sales staff and with our New England dealers was outstanding," Mr. Tucker said.

St. Patrick's Dance Slated To Help Fund

St. Patrick's Day will be coming a little bit early this year — but not in the same manner as George Washington's Birthday did.

That's because the Newton Centre Women's Club will be the site for the annual St. Patrick's Day Dance, which will benefit the Sacred Heart Memorial Scholarship Fund, from 8 p.m. to midnight on Saturday, March 8.

Guy Stephens and his Orchestra will be on hand to provide the music and refreshments will be served.

Members of the ticket committee include Mr. and Mrs. L. Antonelli, Catherine Barry, Fran Broderick, Mr. and Mrs. R. Capstick, Mike DeFazio, Mr. and Mrs. T. Dobson, Father Dooley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Inman, Judy McAvinn, Edith McCarthy, Doug Murray, Mr. and Mrs. R. Pignatelli, Lolly Ross, Mr. and Mrs. C. Shiebler, Mr. and Mrs. R. Van Epps, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. S. Werbinski, Jr.

Tigers Close Year In 3-Way Tie For First

By JEFF GROSSMAN

For lack of facilities the final round of the Metropolitan Track League was cancelled. This cancellation leaves Natick, Newton (who were supposed to meet in the final round) and Weymouth in a three way tie for Division I laurels.

This share of the championship for Newton marks a revival for Newton track which fell from the championship ranks two years ago. Weymouth was leader the next year and Natick won the league title last year.

Heading up the team this year were Captains Don McMillen and Bill Clarke who both had fine years. McMillen went undefeated in dual meets in the 50, took fourth in the B&A meet and topped this off with a win in the State Meet.

Clarke was a consistent winner in the hurdles and placed in the high jump. He took a fifth place medal in the State Meet and he should do better outdoors when he gets to his specialty, the 180 low hurdles.

Backing these two up in their events for seconds and thirds were Dan Birdwell and Clayton Austin in the hurdles and Rich Echlov and Alan Boyer in the 50. It wasn't a strange sight particularly in the 50 for Newton to finish

1, 2, 3. With this kind of depth Newton finished 5 and 1.

The Tigers also excelled in the middle distances this year. Seniors Barry Harsip and Carl Anderson dominated the 600 and 1000 respectively. Both should do much better however when they reach their specialties outdoors, the 440 and 880.

The distance runs were solid with John Bowles and Mike O'Brien placing well in the 2 mile and Doug Tomb dominating the mile. Tomb recorded a fast 4:36.5 effort in the Weymouth meet and placed fifth in the State Meet 1000.

The field events were solid as they could always be counted on to at least split. Bill Melanson and Marc Simon dominated the shot and Bill Clarke and Don McMillen managed the high jump.

Finally the 300 was a consistently profitable event for Newton. Mike Tyman led the Newton attack in this event with some fine performances. Indicative of Tyman's effectiveness was his performance against Boston College High when he did the virtually impossible by placing second from his second row starting position.

Captains for next year's indoor squad will be Tyman and miler Ed Reilly. The chute is busy these days with youngsters enjoying healthful, outdoor fun. Erected and maintained by the Newton Recreation Commission it is a mecca for tobogganists. It is equipped with night lights and is 250 feet long.

Toboggan Chute Provides Fun For All At Brewer

noted that this year there was not enough snow to operate until recently. The waning temperatures have curtailed the activity now.

The chute, which is located within block of Newton Centre square is operated by the Newton Recreational Department when weather conditions permit.

Snow is packed into the double bedways of the chute by maintenance personnel and water is added to make a fast, slick, frozen running surface.

Both snow and freezing temperatures are necessary to allow the chute to be operated.

Although January is the best time for this sport in most years, Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney describes the chute as a unique recreation facility. There are very few comparable slides in existence anywhere.

Nurses Meet To Discuss Lung Ills

The preparation of people for lung surgery, the nursing care and therapy following such surgery, and techniques of respiratory care for people with lung diseases will be presented at a one-day symposium to be held for registered nurses today at Holiday Inn, Newton.

More than 200 RN's are expected to attend the meeting which is sponsored by the Massachusetts Nurses Association.

Guest speakers will include: Mrs. Joe Anne Murray of Watertown, science coordinator at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital School of Nursing; Miss Mary Martin of Boston, pulmonary physical therapist at Massachusetts General Hospital; and Mrs. Eleanor Murphy of Lexington, head nurse of the MGH Respiratory Care Unit.

Dr. Ned H. Cassem of Weston, Clinical Research Fellow in Psychiatry at the Massachusetts General Hospital, will review the reactions of patients undergoing treatment in special care units of hospitals.

Mr. Jimmy A. Young of Mattapan, technical director of the respiratory therapy program at Northeastern University, will demonstrate the various kinds of equipment available to help patients breathe following lung surgery or during acute respiratory illness.

Miss Barbara J. Fulton of Boston, chairman of the MNA Clinical Specialties Special Interest Group, will preside at the one-day symposium on respiratory care.

The Massachusetts Nurses Association is the professional organization of registered nurses and a state constituent of the American Nurses Association.

ACTION UNDER THE BASKET — Stuart Silverman (20) dribbles in under the basket in a game against Watertown. Silverman was the second highest scorer for South with 9 points. The Lions dropped behind in the first quarter, but came back and battled neck in neck for most of the game. They won by the slim margin of one basket. The score was 50-48. (Photo by Roger Belson)

Purim Party At Peretz School

Newton parents are invited to bring their children to the Purim Party at the Workmen's Circle I.L. Peretz School, 1762 Beacon St. Brookline, Sunday morning (March 2) at 10.

Purim songs and recitations in Yiddish and English will be rendered by the children under the direction of David Roskies, Abraham Egelfeld, Mrs. Lillian Fleishman, teachers, and Mrs. Ami Chayon, music director.

"A Back Entry Garden" is the subject of the Chestnut Hill Garden Club's exhibit in the 98th New England Spring Garden and Flower Show to be held at Suffolk Downs March 15 through 23.

The Club's exhibit will feature a backyard garden in the city with a garden that is to be seen and used year round for pleasure without too much maintenance. Mrs. M.G. Baldini of Brookline is chairman of this display.

The Chestnut Hill Club is among the 10 Massachusetts groups staging gardens for this annual show whose theme this year is "Springtime - Garden Fun Time."

On Committee

Mrs. John W. Ewell of Chestnut Hill is a member of the Women's Exhibition Committee of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society for the 98th New England Spring Garden and Flower Show to be held March 15 to 23 at Suffolk Downs in East Boston.

Taxpayers Urge City Pay Cash For Voting Machines

The Newton Taxpayers $47,500 by paying for these Association, through Executive Director Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., this week notified Mayor Monte G. Basbas and the Aldermanic Committee handling the prospective purchase of voting machines that the Association recommends Newton save about

G.E. Burg Joins Mass. CPA Group

Gerald E. Burg of 44 Brewster Rd., Newton, a senior tax accountant with Arthur Andersen and Co., Boston has been elected to associate membership in the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Burg is a 1959 graduate of Newton High School, with a bachelor of arts degree from Cornell University in 1963 and a master's in business administration at Columbia Business School in 1965.

The Taxpayers' differ from the Mayor's recommendation for the following reasons:

1. $47,500 in interest can be saved by paying for the machines from current revenue when they are bought.

2. Voting machines are equipment and it has long been Newton's general policy not to bond for equipment purchases.

3. When buying an item which costs "within shooting distance of the equivalent of a dollar or so on the tax rate," it is better to add, say $1.30 equivalence to the tax rate for one year and get it over with rather than to add 27c or 30c each year for five years.

4. With the city debt likely to double in the next couple of years, for other items, people who want nicer things now should be prepared to pay for the greater part of the cost now.

5. Though dollars may continue to be cheaper at payback time, experience shows that by that time still more new and additional requests for borrowing will have come in.

'Outstanding' Newton Man Given Juris Doctor Degree

Two Newton residents — one of whom was awarded as the outstanding young man in Newton during 1968 — were awarded degrees at the mid-year commencement exercises at Suffolk University Sunday at the university's auditorium.

Thomas B. Concannon of 279 officer at the Quincy District Court.

He plans to attend graduate school in September.

Paul F. Applebaum of 155 Pond Brook Road, Newton, was awarded the degree of bachelor of science.

The son of Mrs. Anne G. Concannon and the late Thomas B. Concannon, Thomas was cited with the Distinguished Service Award as the outstanding young man in Newton for 1968.

He was also noted as being one of the most outstanding young men in the United States last year.

At Suffolk, Concannon was a member of the Student Bar Association. He is also a member of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A graduate of Newton High School, Concannon received a bachelor of arts degree in business administration from Boston College in 1961 and a master's in education degree from Boston State College the following year.

Applebaum, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Applebaum, is a graduate of Newton South High School. He majored in sociology at Suffolk, was a member of the Sociology Club and was a volunteer probation officer at the Treasure State.

Newton Girl To Be Guest On Channel 2

Miss Virginia S. Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Y. Lee of 104 Louise Road, Che stnut Hill, will be one of a group of students discussing the role of women in science and problems of discrimination on an upcoming television show.

She will appear on "After Dinner" on WGBH-TV, Channel 2, at 7:30 p.m. March 2.

The program's host will be Dr. Quentin Peterson, chairman of the Chemistry Dept. at Simmons College.

The group will explore differences between science and non-science majors in a liberal arts college, including demands on time, methods of learning and means of communication about their work.

Montana is also known as the Treasure State.

Registrations Now Being Taken For Camp Frank Day

The Newton YMCA's overnight camp, Camp Frank Day, is now accepting registrations for its 54th season of operation since its inception in 1916. Dr. Emerson Sylvester, Chairman of the Camp Day Committee relates. Indications point to early and heavy registrations for this 1969 season.

Camp Day is located about 55 miles from Newton in the town of Brookfield, Massachusetts, a neighboring town of historic Sturbridge. Situated on Lake Quacomassett, the camp's fifty acres are on a relatively high point of land containing woodland and rolling countryside.

Campers attending Camp Day sleep in well-screened, sturdy wood cabins while the senior village beds down in large wall-type tents, erected over tent platforms. The food at camp is plentiful, wholesome, nourishing, and

Program activities at camp include swimming instruction, archery, tennis, boating, fishing, movies, campcraft, sports, and many more.

Camp is operated for two four-week periods beginning June 29. Boys between the ages of eight and sixteen are eligible to apply and Dr. Sylvester suggests that parents call for Brochures which are on hand at the Newton YMCA.

Information may be obtained by calling the Newton YMCA at 244-6050.

Carol Lane, Travel Dir., Guest of Women's Club

The Waban Woman's Club will enjoy a program entitled "Discover America by Car" by Miss Carol Lane, Woman's Travel director for Shell Oil Co., on Monday (Mar. 3), at 2 o'clock.

Miss Lane is an expert in travel by car and has many excellent ideas for the motorizing vacationer on any size budget. She will demonstrate how to pack the maximum wardrobe in the minimum of space—all wrinkle free. How to make traveling by car pleasant for young or old, will be discussed as the result of Miss Lane's research and testing during 60,000 miles of yearly driving, with suggestions for fun filled touring. She is a frequent guest on radio and television.

The business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, club president, prior to the program. The tea hour hostess which follows, will be Mrs. R. Lanning Humphrey, and the flower arrangements in the Neighborhood Clubhouse are in the care of Mrs. John W. Dacey.

Tuesday, March 18, a tour has been arranged for club members to "The New England Spring Garden and Flower Show" by Mrs. Joseph V. Morog and her "American Home and Heritage" committee.

Mrs. Walton C. Galinet, chairman of the Veteran's Service Committee, will deliver one of the keynote addresses at the 2-day meeting of the New England Regional Conference of the Associations for Children with Learning Disabilities.

Former Superintendent of the Newton Public Schools, Dr. Charles E. Brown, Program Officer for the Ford Foundation, will deliver one of the keynote addresses at the 2-day meeting of the New England Regional Conference of the Associations for Children with Learning Disabilities, inclusive.

Dr. Brown will be the topic of the Dr. Brown's address at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel at this first annual meeting to be held Friday and Saturday (March 21 and 22).

Dr. M. Sam Rabinovitch, Director of the Learning Center, Montreal Children's Hospital, Montreal, Canada, will open the conference with an address on "Specific Learning Disability — Whose Bag Is It?"

Among the featured speakers is Dr. Richard Weber, a former jazz musician with a doctorate in music education and Professor at Trenton State College, New Jersey. Dr. Weber has developed a method for teaching the perceptually handicapped through sight, sound, and symbol.

The program has been designed to present unique approaches to the child with learning disabilities and through a panel, which will react to the presentations, encourage a "Dialogue Between the Disciplines".

Detailed conference information is available locally from Mrs. Gordon F. Vawter, 37 Albian Road, Newton.

The first meeting of the leadership council for the year is scheduled at Temple Emanuel of Newton Centre on March 13 at 5:30 p.m.

Witness: Joseph W. Monahan, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of February 1969. JOHN V. HARVEY, (G) fe.27, mar.6,13 Register.

Arboretum Is Bird Sanctuary While Snow Covers the Ground

By ALFRED J. FORDHAM ARBORETUM PROPAGATOR

In nature's scheme of things, many remarkable methods have been evolved for dispersal of seeds. Study of these methods is fascinating indeed, and sometimes essential to those involved in collecting seeds for propagation.

To understand these methods allows one to collect seeds after they are properly developed for propagational purposes, but before they are lost through natural agencies of dispersal. For the past eight years, notes have been made concerning birds and animals that gather fruits and seeds in the Arnold Arboretum. This has not been a concentrated study, but more a matter of jotting down notes in passing, and it deals only with woody plants.

The Arnold Arboretum provides a sanctuary for birds and other small wildlife — it is a garden of fruit-producing woody plants surrounded by a highly urbanized area. Birds that come in autumn find few enemies and stay to feed on the continuous progression of ripening fruits.

They move about the grounds devouring all that is edible. The starling, an introduced alien, is the most abundant bird found in the Arboretum. It collects in flocks whose numbers far surpass those of all other birds combined, presenting a serious nuisance.

Starlings are largely responsible for the disappearance of ornamental fruits before they can be enjoyed by visitors or their seeds collected for propagation, research work, or distribution to other botanical institutions. (In the past 10 years 619 shipments of seeds comprising 1,965 species have been collected to satisfy requests from individuals and organizations in 39 countries).

Although the seeds of some woody plants are dispersed in late spring and throughout the summer, most do not ripen until autumn, rightly considered the time of nature in fulfillment — a season of natural abundance. As ripening occurs, thorough that large trees bear changes come about in the aping countless thousands of

In late summer, when the nesting season has passed and birds have reared their young, some species congregate in multitudes. These flocks roam the countryside, feeding on fruits and seeds as they ripen. In the Arboretum, trees and shrubs that are heavily laden with fruit can be virtually stripped clean after one visit from such flocks.

Removal is often so it is interesting that in the suburbs such plants as mountain ash and pyracantha often hang heavy with fruit into winter, while those in the Arboretum are usually stripped by October.

During a field trip to Long Island (October 11-14, 1967), countless flowering dogwoods (Cornus florida) were seen bearing crops of untouched fruits while that year's crop at the arboretum was gone by mid-September.

Plants of Asiatic Sweetleaf (Symplocos paniculata) were seen hanging heavily with soft ripe fruits — a condition never seen in the arboretum, for here these are taken by birds before they are fully ripened.

The crabapple collection in the Arnold Arboretum unquestionably provides more food for birds, over a longer period of time, than any other genus.

This extensive collection includes 96 species and 191 cultivars. Fruits of some crabapples are soft and ready to be taken by birds in mid-September, e.g., tea crabapple (Malus hupehensis), midget crabapple (M. micro-malus) and Sargent crabapple (M. sargentii). Others go on into winter in a firm condition and are not soft enough until they have been modified by freezing.

Still others for some reason pass through the winter and spring without being taken, and remain on the trees as mummified fruits after the new leaves have unfurled. Those ready in autumn have been taken by cedar waxwings, cowbirds, robins, flickers, bluejays, and starlings.

Starling flocks sometimes comprise hundreds of birds. Chipmunks that have inhabited the Arboretum in ever-increasing numbers during the last few years also work the autumn crabapples.

During the cold winter months, when snow covers the ground and there is a dearth of food for birds, the crabapple collection really comes to the fore. Flocks of robins, sometimes comprising 40 or 50 birds, are not an uncommon sight.

Some authorities suggest that these birds nest further north and have migrated only this far south for the winter.

Large flocks of cedar waxwings also take advantage of the winter crabapples.

Other birds noted in winter are starlings and purple finches, and in years when evening and pine grosbeaks visit they can be found in the Arboretum's crabapple collection.

Many winter birds peck through the pulp of crabapples and eat the seeds. In the process, pulp falls to the ground and is eaten by pigeons, pheasants and rabbits.

Americans spent 10 cents out of every health dollar for dental care in 1966, says the Public Health Service.

Pequosette Power Squad. Boat Class

Newton boating enthusiasts may join a free boating class this Spring to be conducted by the Pequosette Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadrons. The class will be held at the Phillips School in Watertown beginning this coming Monday evening, (March 3) at 7:30 p.m.

Everyone is invited to attend, whether or not they own a boat. Bring only a sharp pencil, some paper and a desire for further knowledge about boating and boating safety. Any questions about the class may be made to William F. Kline at 444-4247 or Gerald H. Rothstein at 969-6470.

Fruits one day can be denuded by the next — to an extent where it becomes a task to locate one or two fruits.

Fleshy fruits of cherries (Prunus species), spice bush (Lindera benzoin), viburnums, and the like must often be collected just prior to their final color changes. At this point the seeds will have developed enough to be viable but the fruits will not have reached a stage where they appeal to their carriers.

Apartment Complex To Be Considered on March 10

The Land Use Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen held hearings at Newton City Hall on Monday night despite the storm, but voted to accept the written views of those interested in the petitions until 10 a.m. on March 10 in order to allow those who were unable to be present to express themselves.

Fifty people and seven of the eight aldermen on the Committee braved the heavy snowfall to attend the hearing. Of concern to the greatest number of citizens was a petition by Donato D. Capasso for permission to erect 118 apartment units in four buildings on 17 lots from 77 through 205 Lexington street, Auburndale.

Capasso is seeking a change of zone from residence C to residence D which permits construction of garden apartments. He is also asking site plan approval for the project.

Attorney Ernest G. Angevine, who represented Capasso, explained that one part of the petition would be withdrawn. The petitioner, he said, was withdrawing a request for 30 of the 118 apartment units that he had sought for five residents in favor of the present approval for such a change.

The petitioner Angevine said he had acquired an adjacent lot and will present a better plan at a later date. As a result, the present petition was being reduced from the request for the permission to erect 118 apartments to permission to construct 88 units.

The apartments would consist of studio, one and two bedroom units which would rent from $160 to $200 a month. The project would cost an estimated $1 million. Angevine declared, it would result in $48,000 annual revenue to the city in taxes, far exceeding the yield based on the present assessment of $3100.

Since the land is located near a dump, the project would upgrade the area Angevine declared.

Those present who opposed the petition claimed the neighborhood would be down-graded and the project would present parking and traffic problems.

Present at the hearing were five residents in favor of the petition and seven in opposition.

Newton Youth To Work With Harvard Great

Peter A. Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Roy of 38 Fairmont Avenue, Newton, and a senior at Mount Hermon School, has been granted special permission by the school's executive council to pursue a special off-campus project.

He will assist Bobby Leo, former Harvard football great, in the College Horizons Program from now until graduation in June.

In order to qualify for such permission, the student must be on the honor roll and must have demonstrated sufficient maturity and initiative to handle such an independent program.

He is one of only four students in a class of 200 to be so chosen.

College Horizons, initiated and directed by Leo, is currently recruiting qualified high school student-athletes, especially football players, for two one-month sessions to be conducted this summer at the Brooks School in North Andover.

The purpose of the program is to help students to upgrade their college board scores by means of intensive reading and math courses with special counseling.

ing opened up rapidly. Most reports from residents city-wide was that the plowing job was well done.

Newton police swung into action against illegally parked cars and towed more than fifty of them thus removing one of the major handicaps of snow-fighting after the first storm — cars parked in areas which prevented the effective use of snow removal equipment.

However, still "thinking snow" the big storm slipped back on Tuesday night and slipped six more inches of snow on the city and practically the entire New England area. It thus earned the title of one of the worst storms in this state since grandpa greased his boots back in 1893. Snow flurries were still occurring Wednesday.

A scattering of accidents were storm features in this city. Newton-Wellesley hospital treatment was required by Robert Harding, operator of a city snow-plow. Harding struck his head and received skull lacerations when his plow hit a manhole at Beacon and Union streets, Newton Centre, on Monday night.

Emergency power crews were on stand-by alert throughout the storm but not a single report of a wire down or power failure was received. It was figured that any weakened wires had succumbed to the first storm and had been repaired prior to the second big fall.

There were several minor accidents reported mostly due to skidding or sliding vehicles. No serious mishaps were added to the storm statistics.

A number of cars were pretty well socked in at the MBTA parking lot but these bore all the snow-marks of having been located there since the first big storm.

Newton elementary schools closed at noon on Monday sending reluctant scholars home. All local schools were closed on Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Is There a Jewish Role in the Urban Crisis?" will be the subject of a round table discussion by the congregation of Temple Beth Avodah following Sabbath Services tomorrow night (Feb. 28) at 8:30.

Mr. Jules Bernstein, Regional Director of the Jewish Labor Committee, will address the congregation and lead the discussion on this topic.

Members, friends and students attending local colleges and high schools are invited to attend and participate. The temple is located on Puddingstone lane.

Kanter Joins Bresnick Co.

Richard T. Kanter, of Newton, has been named an Account Executive with the Bresnick Company of Boston. Prior to Bresnick, he was an Associate Product Manager at General Foods for the Maxwell House Division.

Kanter received his B.A. degree from the University of Pennsylvania and then his masters degree in Marketing and Communications at the Warton School of Business and The Annenberg School of Communications. He is married and father of a two-year old son.

Police reported that they had answered 30 calls for emergency transportation.

City-wise Newton took the two winter block-busters in stride with most people using common sense and having an appreciation of the problems involved in attempting to keep some semblance of day to day normalcy.

However, city officials point out that there always is a heedless fringe which by becoming unprepared physically and mentally toss serious roadblocks in the path of those who are trying to keep the community open and functioning.

List Of Patrons Growing For Democratic Benefit

Newton Democratic City indicated they will attend the play and post-theatre party. Chairman Robert K. Kraft and Vice Chairman Gordon Martin yesterday announced the second list of patrons who are supporting the March 20 benefit production of "The Italian Straw Hat" at Spin-gold Theatre at Brandeis University.

They are: Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Medaille, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Soloway, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Hinney, Dr. and Mrs. Lester Havens and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kaplan.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weltman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Band, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Silberstein, Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Asher.

In the rivalry which has developed to see which ward provided the most sponsors, Ward Six (Paul King, chairman) and Ward Seven (Mrs. Constance Kantar, chairman) are in the lead.

They have provided more than half the total of patrons between them.

Returns from the ticket selling are incomplete, but about one-third of the total of 700 tickets have been sold.

One development of the promotion is that a number of Democrats are organizing parties to precede the presentation or are inviting groups to attend together.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry H. Crossby are inviting all members of the Ward Seven Committee to have dessert with them before going to the theatre. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gordon are taking guests to the theatre and the reception afterwards, as are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold R. Metzler.

After the show, the party will move to the Rose Arts Museum for a champagne and wine party and a chance to view an outstanding exhibit of Cubist art, including work by Cezanne,

Newton Health Dept. To Certify All Food Outlets

The Newton Health Department will be starting a certification program soon of all retail food establishments in the city in compliance with recent regulations passed by the Food and Drug Division of the State Health Department.

The regulations, although quite comprehensive, are minimum standards and should not be too difficult for store owners to meet. They cover such items as food sources, processing and handling of food, construction and cleanliness of equipment, water supply, sewage disposal, toilets and handwashing, garbage and rubbish disposal, vermin control, lighting, ventilation, housekeeping and others.

Although these regulations were passed by the state and apply uniformly throughout the Commonwealth, the issuance of the certificate and most of the enforcement and inspection will be done by local health departments. However, if the local department fails, the Division of Food and Drug can step in and assume this responsibility.

The purpose of these regulations is to bring some control over those food places which do not come under the category of "Food Service Establishments", which are already governed under Article 114.

Elks Sponsor Co-educational Explorer Ship

Newton Lodge number 1327, B.P.O.E. has voted to become the new sponsor of Sea Explorer Ship 13, B.S.A. of Newton, according to word from Charles B. Burgess, Secretary of the Newton Lodge. Charles S. Tower, Jr. of Auburndale was appointed to represent the Elks in the "new" Ship 13.

Ship 13 was chartered on Nov. 6, 1925 and met in their own building in West Newton. The Newton Lions Club sponsored the ship from May 1944 until November 1968.

A committee composed of Dr. John T. Evans, Chairman (formerly the Skipper of the Ship for 12 years), Erwin W. Beal, Jr. (also a former Skipper), Daniel Weiner (a former Mate), A. Stewart Johnson (a former Mate) and Mrs. Phyllis Brandon (Girl Scout Troop Leader) have been meeting to organize the "new" Ship.

The program will be co-educational with both High School boys and girls meeting twice a month. The program will be developed by the young people through elected officers and committees.

While the program will be basically oriented to sailing and canoeing, the opportunity is available to bring in consultants in other areas of concern within the limits of "character development, citizenship training, mental and physical fitness."

The Ship's Committee is now considering men for Skipper and Mates, and looking for new meeting place.

The date for the opening meeting, which will be an open meeting for all interested high school boys and girls, will be made public as soon as plans are confirmed.

Final Movies By Bowen PTA On March 1, 15

Mrs. Joanne Holland, Ways and Means Chairman of the Bowen School P.T.A. of Newton Centre announces that the final movies to be shown at the school will be on Sat., March 1 and Sat., March 15th.

They will be shown at 2:00 P.M. and the tickets are 75c each.

On March 1st the showing is: The Runaway Railway, a children's Film Foundation release; Horse with a Flying Tail, the true story of a Palomino colt; and The Frowning Prince, a charming fairy tale.

On March 15th we will have The Littlest Warrior, a Japanese fairy tale, and the Salt Gang, a Children's Film Foundation release, which takes place in London.

President Nixon's task force on education has urged him to spend at least $1 billion more on education.
